

Administration has come within less than a million of its ten million goal for signed pledge cards. The total pledges designed by American housewives stood early today at $1,119,417, an increase of more than 226,000 over the last report. On this basis, even if every woman in the country signed a pledge card, the goal would be reached in less than a month.

EXPULSION DECISION TO BE RENDERED SOON

Given Nov. 26 by Senate
Sub-Committee.

Special Dispatch from Milton Brommer, of Our Washington Bureau.

Washington, Nov. 9.—A sub-committee of the United States senate committee on privileges and elections, will convene to hear testimony and decide whether to recommend that Senator R. M. LaFollette shall be expelled from the senate for disloyal utterances.

The original trouble for LaFollette started as a result of a speech he made at St. Paul, Minn., September 30. The Minnesota commission of public safety passed resolutions condemning him and demanding his expulsion from the senate as "a teacher of disloyalty and sedition." This was based upon his speech in which he was charged with discussing the grievances the nation had, with insinuating that munition makers got American citizens to ride on munitions ships, and with making certain statements about the Lusitania.

The senate committee appointed a sub-committee to investigate the accuracy of the report of the speech delivered by LaFollette. The sub-committee consisted of Senators Pomeren, James, Walsh, Dillingham and Fall.

This sub-committee wrote to LaFollette inquiring whether the speech was correctly reported. On the same day LaFollette responded the copy was not correct and that he would soon furnish an accurate version.

October 11 he wrote he was enclosing an accurate copy of his speech as taken down by an official reporter.

He was there were two interruptions from the audience not shown in the transcript. One was in response to a query about the Lusitania case. LaFollette said all he spoke on this subject was because of the interruption. The second expression not appearing in the transcript was his comment upon a cry for "some one in the audience: 'Shame on congress.'"

LaFollette said there were many differences between his copy of the speech and the senate copy. If any of these differences were considered significant and his attention called thereto, he would be glad to give it consideration.

He demanded the right of cross-examining witnesses and to be heard in person and by counsel.

On October 13 the sub-committee replied it would like to have LaFollette appear and inform the committee as to the accuracy of the various statements in his speech.

On the same day LaFollette replied that the committee's method of procedure was extraordinary and unprecedented and demanded to know:

First—What statements, if any, in his speech were challenged as to their accuracy.

Second—In what respect was the accuracy of any statement challenged.

Third—An inspection of the testimony and his right to cross-examine his accusers.

He said if his requests were complied with, he would offer evidence in reply to any the committee might have.

The committee stated that the best way to proceed was to have him appear and if, after hearing his explanation of the speech, it was deemed wise to proceed further with the inquiry it could be done.

October 16 LaFollette reiterated his previous demand for specific statements as to what in his speech was attacked.

The committee then adjourned until November 26, in the meantime giving directions that testimony and documents be secured from the state department and other sources.

The fur-bearing animals of the Pacific coast are estimated to bring a return of $1,000,000 each year. This is interest at 5 per cent. on $20,000,000. It is worth while to protect this invested capital and to increase it if possible. It is on this account that at the last session of the California legislature a law was passed protecting California's share of this vast amount during the time of the year that the furs are of no value and establishing other restrictions that will aid in conserving the fur industry.

war work have resulted in great pressure from certain quarters for conscription of labor. The government, some people think, ought to force workmen to work on government tasks. Parts of the war program, like ship construction and the building of airplanes, is halting because labor is lacking.

In the lumbering regions of the northwest an effort is being made to have soldiers employed in place of striking lumberjacks to get out spruce for airplanes. Government requirements call for 10,000 square feet a day, and less than 2,000 square feet are being produced.

The administration has up to this time refused to authorize any step looking to conscription of labor.

"The time may come," said Assistant Secretary of Labor Louis Post, "when it will be necessary to conscript labor, but when that time comes, it will be necessary also to take over the industry in which the labor is conscripted."

The attitude of the government has been very clearly stated by Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson, who has said repeatedly that under no circumstances will labor be conscripted in a private profit employment. Such conscription would be slavery. There can be no conscription of labor, no use of soldiers for labor purposes, in any industry controlled by private parties or used for private profit. If the lumber industry cannot get on without conscripting labor, the forests and mills must be taken over by the government. And the secretary has made clear his position that when these industries are taken over and conscripted labor is applied to them, the former owners will not be paid a profit. The best they can hope for will be the return of their properties in a condition no worse than when they were taken.

The government ownership of important public utilities is fast approaching as indicated by the fact that the president is considering a report from the labor department recommending that the government take over the telephone system of the Pacific coast. President Wilson's attitude toward labor is a subject of interest to all.

the government's conciliation board. The agent sent by this board recommended that the government take over the system and commandeer the employees. This recommendation is now being considered.

Girls! Use Lemon Juice! Make This Beauty Cream

The lemon juice massage indulged in once or twice each day means a little time and trouble, girls, but what of the splendid results? A skin bleached beautifully white, a complexion with the bloom of a peach, a softening of the lines of care, in fact, a skin close to nature's purity and hands soft, smooth and full of charm.

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove tan, freckles and sallowness; to bleach the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white for a few cents and the grocer, the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quart of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When massaged daily into the face, neck, arms and hands it should naturally help to whiten, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any druggist or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents and the grocer, the juice of two fresh lemons into a

RUSSIA'S NEW UPHEAVAL.

It would be a consoling thought that the fresh internal trouble of Russia were merely a local riot and only disturbing the peace of Petrograd. Unhappily there is too much reason to think differently. The uprising of the radicals and anarchists may yet be put down. The extremist elements may be vastly in a minority everywhere save in and about the capital. The bulk of the army may not be infected by the crazy zeal of the Maximalists to get out of the war, make peace with Germany, cut up the land, divide other property among the peasants and convert the nation at once into Utopia.

It should be kept in mind, however, that the counter-revolutionists have possession of the capital; that they have the Petrograd garrison and probably the bulk of the Cossack naval forces with them; that Premier Kerensky has fled the city and that a number of his ministers have been imprisoned; that the larger part of the Russian army has been for months refusing to fight and that no one knows or can say to what extent the German poison has gone through the Bolsheviks into the minds of the soldiers still at the front. All these and other disturbing facts enter into composition of the picture that Russia presents today. They should be considered.

It may be that Premier Kerensky can command the support of the bulk of the army and keep the great majority of the Russian mass sane enough to understand that the country has come upon the greatest peril that has threatened the new democracy. It may be that he can rally common sense and rational spirit to his side and save the revolution for the people. It may be that the whole matter is an opera bouffe politico-military affair staged for diversion. But the evidence is quite the contrary. There has been nothing in the past six months in the internal situation of Russia that does not fit nicely into a general confirmation of about the worst that can be imagined of the posture of Russian affairs at the present moment. Russians in the mass are tired of the war, which is not unreasonable. They have got rid of their throne and their dynasty and their aristocracy and their despotism and their secret police and Siberia and much else that has made the proletariat in Russia hate government. Now they want to enter into enjoyment of the fruits of their long waiting and much striving. Germany tells them they are silly to fight when they may as well have peace, and they believe it. Anarchists out of pure love and enjoyment of the deviltry of their doctrines, German mercenaries, royalists who expect to see the throne again set up and the dynasty restored, misguided zealots and ignorant and credulous masses of people all are elements in this situation that bodes great ill for the allies but utter destruction of all that Russia had been thought to gain from the revolution.

Rational leaders like Kerensky—themselves radical enough—know that there must be government with authority and a regulated order if the democracy of Russia is to be erected into anything that can be called a state. They know also that any such state as they may erect will not be worth the pains of building unless the menace of German autocracy be put down. But they have moved with more idealism than wisdom. They have sought to deal gently where there should have been the stern repressions without which no country engaged in war can make headway. The thing they now have to deal with has been growing under their eyes for months. If it has not mastered them, the situation in Russia exaggerates itself to the understanding and the imagination.

The ascendancy of the Bolsheviks, the retreat of the Russian army from the front, the raucous cry for peace and the overthrow of the Kerensky government constitute the greatest victory Germany has achieved in the war. It will stand as the high water mark of the triumph of intrigue, trickery and corruption and in history will be unique and spectacular as the example that a people in the mass had been corrupted by the most deadly and unscrupulous of their foes.

INCREASES THE STRAIN.

To Americans the situation in Russia has vastly more than the interest of a spectacular chaos. It means a heavier drain on their resources, a severer test of their strength, the necessity for harder fighting, the pains of a longer war, the menace of a foe whose arm grows stronger just in the proportion that Russia's arm grows weaker.

The defection of Russia does not spell defeat for America and her allies, but it does terribly increase the difficulties of a victory. Upon this nation falls the burden of making up what is lost by the collapse of Russia as a factor in the war. That the American people are equal to the strain is not to be doubted and that they will show spirit and fortitude for the trial is not to be questioned. But it will be well for us all to understand and appreciate the magnitude of the task in hand.

There has not yet come upon the people of this country a complete realization of the fact of war. Recent events on the other side of the water have done something to sharpen with pain the common understanding among us that we are engaged in something more than making on our own soil a demonstration of our material resources and our strength in men. The sinking of a warship or two by German submarines and a few casualties in the trenches have served that purpose. It will be no great length of days before casualties in the trenches will be reported with greater frequency and in large volume. Our soldiers are there and are actually fighting. Soon enough there will be complete participation in the bloody business on the front line. Then we shall all of us understand.

If the insane developments of the past two or three days in Russia will answer the question of America's part in the war it will serve us to some purpose. Before the thing is over America's part is going to be the greater part. If the war is to be won Americans must win it. Our money must go into it, our food must go into it, our men must go into it. The strain upon us is going to be great. Already it is increasing. Russia has decreed that the greatest of democracies must save all the democracies—her own not excepted—if the Muscovite is to know anything like an enduring freedom.

The war is going to wrench and wreck this republic as it never has been and the people will indulge a costly fatuousness if they fail to get the understanding of that at once. The government has no delusions. It is preparing for the test.

THE SOCIALIST VOTE.

The socialist party adherents in the country are quite likely to be misled in their interpretations of the results of the recent elections. In New York, Chicago, and in some Indiana cities—including Fort Wayne—the vote given socialist candidates was abnormally heavy. This is not to be taken to mean a rapid rise in the tide of that party. The socialist party this year became the refuge, the catch-all for political driftwood of all sorts.

By thousands extreme pacifists, anti-war persons and pro-Germans flocked under the socialist banners. In some cases this was natural for the socialist party has fallen greatly under the domination of anti-American and pro-German influences and leadership. Its great leaders—like Benson, Spargo, Russell and others—have denounced it and deserted it because it has made itself largely an annex and instrument of enemy propaganda in this country. Thousands cast socialist ballots this fall who will perhaps never do so again.

The public will do well to get an understanding of what the heavy socialist vote means. It does not by any token indicate that the drift of the people is to the doctrines of that party. It means that there are a good many people who are not for their country in this war.

Without bloodshed Germany gains a greater victory in Russia than her armies under Hindenburg or Mackensen were ever able to wrench from the Slavs. It is a cheap and notable triumph that Russians themselves will one day pay for when the despotism comes back and the Cossacks again carry the knout.

Almost ten millions of American housewives have signed the food pledge cards. That is a fine showing, but it is less than half of the number who should soon be joined in the great war against waste. Be one of that army if you have not enlisted.

The women who in a New York suffragist meeting hissed the name of Woodrow Wilson are mere spiteful, catty creatures too sorely wanting in human intelligence to deserve the ballot.

What Russia seems to need most is a czar of the kind that made the czars famous as a class.

THE TRANSFER CORNER

By R E M

"Fare, please! All the glad ones, and the sad ones; all the good ones, and the bad ones—get on here!"

PROSPICE.

The ancient and the lovely land
Is sown with death; across the plain
Unharmed now the orchards stand.
The maxims nestle in the grain.
The shrapnel spreads a stinging fall
Where flows a richer, redder wine;
The air-ship spills her laden hail,
But—after all the battles—God.

Athwart the vineyards' ordered banks,
Silent the red-rent forms recline,
And from their stark and speechless ranks
There flows a richer, redder wine;
While down the lane and through the wall
The victors writhe upon the sod,
Nor heed the onward bugle-call;
But—after all the bugles—God.

By night the blazing cities flare
Like mushroom torches in the sky;
The rocking ramparts tremble ere
The sullen cannon boom reply,
And shattered is the temple spire,
The vestment trampled on the clod,
And every altar black with fire;
But—after all the altars—God.

And all the prizes we have won
Are buried in a deadly dust;
The things we set our hearts upon
Beneath the stricken earth are thrust;
Again the savage greets the sun,
Again his feet with fury shod,
Across the world in anguish run,
But—after all the anguish—God.

The grim campaign, the gun, the sword,
The quick volcano from the sea,
The honor that reveres the word,
The sacrifice, the agony,
These be our heritage and pride,
Till the last despot kiss the rod,
And, with man's freedom purified,
We mark—behind our triumph—God.

LOOK WHAT THE CAT BROUGHT IN

Mankind Has Had Enough of Them

By REM. A. JOHNSTON.

Yes, the expense account is running a trifle high. The war is costing the world $145,000,000 a day. That is—in dollars. Just what it is costing the world in blood, agony, woe, tears, loss of comfort, loss of faith, loss of spirituality, is hard to say!

When an American lady presented the German Crown Prince with a copy of Norman Angell's book, explaining that in it the author showed that war was impossible because it would be so utterly ruinous and unprofitable, the Crown Prince replied that whether it was unprofitable or not, he would make war just for the fun of the thing when he came to the throne if his father did not do it sooner.

This incident is related in Ambassador Gerard's book, "My Four Years in Germany." He quotes the words of the conversation as written out for him by the lady who took part in it.

Of course, the incident is true. Yet you cannot make people of pro-German tendencies believe that such things are so. They will not even believe the camera that shows the mutilated bodies of the little French and Belgian girls. But the truth is the truth, and the more slowly it penetrates into the minds of the prejudiced Prussian nature the longer will it be until victory perches on the banners of the White Forces in the war for Right—that is, Righteousness in Evolution.

War, to such hideous caricatures of humankind as the Crown Prince and his father, Emperor William, is merely a great means whereby the world can splash his bloody name across the pages of history. As Mr. Gerard well reminds us, that ancestor of the Kaiser-idea who called himself Frederick the Great, left the statement in his letters that, finding himself on the death of his father in possession of a fine army and a full treasury, he determined to go to war just "to get talked about."

INSURING SOLDIERS

By MILTON BRONNER.

Uncle Sam who has celebrated his entrance into the war by making the biggest war appropriations in history and floating the biggest of all bond issues, is today gearing up his machinery for handling the biggest insurance business the world has ever known. This involves some things starting to the ordinary insurance man.

First—A possible handling of risks totaling $20,000,000,000 if our army and navy go up to the 2,000,000 point. Thus within two years, the government will write almost as much insurance as all the companies in the country now have in force after all their years of business. Their total is $25,000,000,000.

Second—The policies will be granted to the men in the armed service of the nation at a figure never before known. The general average for a policy of $10,000 will be a premium of about $80 annually.

Third—The policies will not be self-supporting. In other words, if every man in the armed service for the first year of the war, approximately 1,000,000 men, took a $10,000 policy, the total premiums paid the government would be only $80,000,000. This, it is figured, will take care of all normal losses due to ordinary sickness and accident, but will not take care of battle mortality. For this purpose the government has appropriated $175,250,000 for the first year. It is estimated that very close to $400,000,000 will have to be appropriated for the second year. Even at that, treasury officials are convinced it is both cheaper and more just to the men than to have them depend upon a pension system voted by congress, or have their families depend upon charity.

After the war, the men insured by the government can continue their policies in force without physical examination, by paying net insurance premiums computed according to the American experience table of mortality, and interest at 3 1/2 per cent. This is expected to open up the whole question of insurance premiums, and only

HYLAN MAY NOT BE SO BAD.

(Indianapolis Star.)

It seems not a violent assumption that the New York newspapers have exaggerated the disloyal element in Hyland's candidacy. It is at least significant that President Wilson refrained from taking Mr. Mitchell's cause, as he has been doing, if he had really felt the Tammany campaign represented hostility to himself or toward the war. All the avowedly and implacably anti-war forces were obviously lined up with Hyland.

Municipal campaigns in New York are always distinguished by lack of perspective. They get so excited down there, in the solemn conviction that Manhattan is considerably larger than the United States, that they are prone to invest the majority issue with international proportions. Maybe Hyland is not so black as he is painted. At least he has gone very far, both before election and since, to disavow any national purpose. After all, the mayor of New York doesn't participate to any alarming extent in the formulation of national policies.

The result in New York emphasizes anew the power of organization. Perhaps there is nothing like Tammany organization in the world. It is everywhere at once, alert, experienced, resourceful, determined, uncanny in its knowledge of human nature, relentless in discipline of its agents. The New York police force itself, with all its physical excellence and traditions of efficiency, promptness and courtesy, is a monument to the Tammany genius for direction of large bodies of men with strict discipline and co-ordinated effort.

Then there is strong protest in New York against the strict enforcement of law under Mayor Mitchell. The best mayor New York ever had, he has made foes as well as friends through his wonderful achievements along the lines of municipal reform. Earnestly as we may commend heroic and conscientious labor of this sort, we must reckon practically with the antagonisms it creates. The masses in every large city, and especially the foreign elements, resent interference with their so-called "personal liberty."

All these aspects of the New York election have to be taken into consideration in estimating its significance for the high-minded citizens and newspapers that fought so earnestly for Mayor Mitchell's election will be inconceivable and will be slow to see any relief from the somberness of the outlook. But it seems possible that they have been carried away to some extent by the intensity of their feelings and that they attach far more importance to the result in a national way than it deserves. Tammany is chiefly concerned with local affairs. It does not care for national issues or understand them. It is clearly permitted to hope that the new mayor will be wiser enough not to interpret his victory as authorization for apathy or hostility toward the nation's duty and necessities in winning the war.

The Lutherans are thinking of erecting a fine school building in Bloomington.

Edward Morrison has received word that his son, Dan, a brakeman in the employ of the Wabash railway, had been badly hurt on the eastern part of the road.

Attorneys Charles Worden and E. V. Emerick addressed a large gathering of democrats in Hoagland Saturday evening. Dr. J. L. Smith was present with a band of twelve pieces.

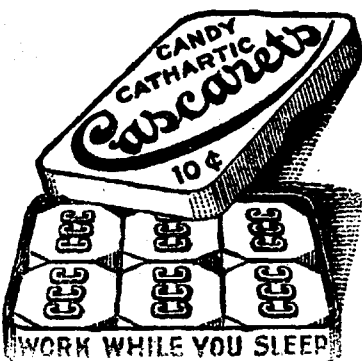

Yesterday morning between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock, John H. Young, an employee of the Electric Light company, met with a frightful accident over in Nebraska. It is Young's duty to replace the burned carbons on the electric light towers. He had just completed this task at the tower on the corner of Main and Center streets and was descending the mast. When within about fifty feet of the ground he accidentally caught hold of a live light wire, which runs into the Peters saw mill. The light is seldom charged during the day, but this morning was dark and the lights being turned on there was a strong current. Young received a fearful shock which caused him to lose his hold on the mast. He was thrown backward and fell to the hard ground below. He was rendered unconscious. His right leg was fractured near the ankle, a number of small bones were broken in the left foot, his hip was badly hurt and his head bruised. It is also thought he may have internal injuries.

PRICES OF HAM AND BACON TO COME DOWN

Illinois Food Boss Finds

Profits of Retailers Are Too High.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Prices of ham and bacon to the consumer were cut 5 to 10 cents by the Illinois food administrator today. The government's complete control of the packing industry lends prominence to the announcement. While the cut applies only to Chicago and suburbs, prices set here eventually will serve as the standard for the whole country.

The price of lard will be announced in a day or two and in a week all standard cuts of pork, beef and mutton will be on the list.

The ham and bacon prices are for the whole piece. For the best ham a fair price to the retailer is set at 30 to 31 cents a pound, while a fair price to the consumer is placed at 32 to 36 cents, the lower price being for cash-and-carry-home, the higher for charged and delivered. The consumer should pay for the medium grades of ham 30 to 34 cents. The price list places the best bacon at 45 to 49 1/2 cents. Chicago has been paying the butcher from 55 to 60 cents a pound for best bacon sliced. A leading grocery and market was asked the price of bacon a few minutes after announcement of the government price.

"Sixty cents," came the prompt reply, "but there will be a Friday special at 54 cents."

This sixty cents represented a retail gross profit of at least 15 cents a pound based upon the wholesale price as unaffected by the government standard.

RETAIL COAL PRICES MAY HAVE TO DESCEND

Washington, Nov. 9.—Possible reduction of retail coal prices was indicated by the fuel administration today in explanations to state fuel administrators empowering them to change methods of fixing retail margins. Investigation has disclosed that the margin now allowed, which is the same as that taken in 1915, in many instances is too high.

London, Nov. 9.—Henry Fielding Dickens, sixth son of Charles Dickens, the novelist, has just been appointed to the lucrative post of "common sergeant" as the chief usher of the London city courts is officially called. His youngest son, Major Charles Dickens, was killed in action last year.

COUNTRY CLUB GARDENS HIGHLY INDORSED

The size, quality and number of the vegetables raised this season in Country club gardens tell a convincing story of the richness of the soil. F. W. Gray, Fort Wayne city garden supervisor, says: "It would be a very poor gardener who could not get a profit of at least $300 from an acre of this ground planted in vegetables." He further says, there is no comparison between this soil and the soil throughout the city of Fort Wayne. Such endorsements show that Country club gardens are highly productive as well as being artistic. George P. Lotz, a restaurant man, has just purchased a lot in the gardens for an investment. The sale was made for the City & Suburban Building company by H. Goldstein.

For Bridge Game or Afternoon Use

The afternoon gown of dark, heavy silk or satin is the friend of the well-dressed woman. This semi-tailored frock of supple satin in navy blue is a delightful case in point and has many items of smartness to recommend it. Soutache braiding is the high light of the gown and that the soutache is applied to the fetching little apron only adds to its charm.

The long, close sleeves and the close-fitting bodice so trimly held in place by the satin sash, complete the tailored effect—and then, as if fearing over severity the frock reverts into a becoming collar of soft white satin, with tiny cuffs to match.

HERE IS A WINTER VEIL THAT TAKES SHELTER BENEATH THE HAT BRIM

BY BETTY BROWN.

The veil, always a friend of lovely woman's complexion and curls, is showing new adaptability to midday's needs when winter winds blow.

The veil was a bit discouraged this season when it considered the tremendous size of the season's fashionable hats, and thought them a real problem which it would be difficult to evade. So instead of going around the hat it crept under the brim and clung closely to a wire halo adjusted an inch outward from the crown.

And now when midday goes to walk there is no frenzied hunting for the elusive veil, no tense and trying moments of effort for proper adjustment—the veil is conveniently and becomingly in place. In covering the face and hair it precedes the hat—and is protected from destroying dampness by the hat's broad brim.

"THE ARMY AND NAVY" SHOW IS BIG SUCCESS

Most Stupendous Effort in Local Theatrical Way Ever Put on Here.

The amateur performance, "The Army and Navy," put on by local people at the Majestic theater last night was so huge a success in every way that the three remaining performances are bound to attract equally large audiences. The performance is called by its producers and directors, W. Mills Davis and Mrs. Maude George Wyllie, a "patriotic musical burrah," and by the University club of Fort Wayne, under whose auspices the performance is staged here, a great patriotic effort to increase the war fund.

Each description is right, but it is no exaggeration to add that it is the most stupendous effort in a local theatrical way ever put on and an entirely beautiful entertainment for which everyone who takes part comes in for a share of praise from the principals to the tiniest dancer or the smallest member of the chorus. There are two acts, one representing the campus of Thurston college with a football game, the feature of the act and the exciting thing in the action of the play. All the enthusiasm of real football, the yells of college students, the many charms of pretty girls and jolly young men, the grace of children and their singing, all come together with the art of more cultivated adult singers contributed to the pleasure of the patrons and audience in general.

It was astonishing to see the between four and five hundred young people come on the stage and do their parts so easily and so accurately. The principals of the cast did splendidly, the dancing throughout was really lovely and when in the last part there was a gathering of choruses with flags of allied nations and the singing of the Star Spangled Banner, it was thrilling in effect. The costumes were very effective and picturesque and the music well chosen. The orchestra helped every one along and the dancing was a credit to the excellent instruction of teachers of that art in the city as well as to those who had charge of the work in getting up this magnificent entertainment. Naturally there were glimpses of natural gifts in theatricals or in music or other forms of art to be seen and a number have appeared on the stage often enough to do with great ease, yet with the "first appearance" of many it was amazing to note the unconscious ease and grace of their work.

Musically the principals were Miss Helen Loos, Miss Ruth Gumpfer, Miss Luella Fierag, Mrs. Eliza Hanna Elliott, Earl Thompson and Chester Hosier, each of whom was an important one of the principals of the cast. Dramatically funny either in line or song were B. J. Griswold, Dr. George Gillie, Paul Guild, Paul Bachelor, Charles Pask, Miss Maribel Olds and Lawrence Eberhart, while more sedate, but none the less interesting roles, were carried by E. G. Hoffman and Frank M. Hogan.

Then there were the policemen, as funny as professionals, disguised so no one ever suspected they were L. P. Eberbach, Maurice Lehman, Herbert L. Miller, Herbert Fox and Victor Miller. And the football squad and their yell leader were so enthusiastic it seemed like a real game. These screamers were Harold Movlan, Walter Helmke, Joseph Underhill and William Moellering, leader. Besides these men there was a male quintette that appeared every now and then and sang well. They were Everett Myers, Edward Cranston, Thomas Price, Earl Seibold and Fred Bloemker, and the audience expressed appreciation of their contributions to the program. The dancing specialties were lovely all the way through and the principals in this were Miss Grace Romary, Miss Margaret Day, Miss Lorene Travers, Miss Violet Fowler, Miss Margery Postel and Paul Bachelor.

Several who had semi-solo work were Misses Evelyn Plumadore and Helen Billman and two children that were very sweet were Marion Woebeking and Alice Reall.

A professional "bit" was the singing of Mrs. Betty Wells Fowler, who stirred the audience to a fine height of patriotic expression by her delightful singing.

Attention Is Due to Crowning Glory

BY BETTY BROWN.

Recently a fashion writer and designer was asked what she considered the most important detail of the well-dressed woman's appearance and she replied "carefully dressed hair."

Thoughtful observers will agree that the coiffing of "woman's crowning glory" has a remarkable effect upon her appearance. Poorly groomed locks will destroy the charm of the richest and most tasteful costume—but women of good taste are never careless of their hair. One's own energy governs the amount of charm one may acquire by careful grooming and dressing of one's hair.

The coiffure shown today above the collar of an evening wrap is designed for the most formal social functions. The hair is softly knotted near the crown of the head and pulled rather free over the brows where it is confined by a narrow band of beads and pearls.

THE EVENING SENTINEL FILLS WOMEN'S NEEDS

Just now, in addition to the many reasons prevailing in ordinary times, there are numerous special reasons why the women who buy food and other supplies for the family should not let a day pass without a careful reading of every page of the Evening Sentinel.

Skip nothing. Read the news columns, editorials, selected women's features, the market page, store news of Fort Wayne merchants, want-ads—everything—as all hold money-saving suggestions.

Jumper Blouse Liked By British Cousins

Whatever schemes for economy in clothes may be forthcoming, it is quite certain that the blouse is one of the garments that will emerge triumphant from the modest jumble. This will apply to the blouse in its three stages—the practical everyday kind, the softer chignon and afternoon varieties, and last, but not least, the daintily and theatrically ones for evening wear.

We can be practical or daintily feminine, just as we choose, and as occasion demands. But let every woman remember that the blouse is emphatically one of those garments that should be worn with discretion, and, above all, should be well cut and properly put on.

There is no doubt that it is essentially a compromise between the smart and the comfortable—that is why it fulfills the want of our present social life. For instance, when rushing down to visit relatives at a camp and dining in the local inn, one often receives some form of change, yet it would be extremely bad taste to wear regulation evening dress.

Of late we have inclined to the jumper blouse, and now that it has formed a sort of coat of arms it will certainly be generally adapted for the more dressy occasions. For this purpose, therefore, georgette, linen and crepe de chine will be the most popular, as they can now be had in such a wonderful variety of colorings that is often denied to other fabrics. Quite elaborate, too, will be some of the new blouses in fine jersey cloth of simple coloring, prettily embroidered in Oriental tones of wool work. Then, jersey cloth will be used for many purposes during the coming winter; it is seen patterned as well as plain.—London Daily Telegraph.

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 11

LESSON TEXT—Nehemiah 1.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Whatsoever we ask,
we receive of him, because we keep his commandments, and do those things that are pleasing in his sight."—1 John 3:22.

Some twelve or fourteen years after the revival of the worship of Jehovah under the administration of Ezra, Nehemiah led a company to Jerusalem to restore the city walls and civil authority. The walls and gates of the city had lain in ruins ever since they were broken down by Nebuchadnezzar. In this condition the remnant of the Jews who had gone back to Jerusalem were exposed to the dangers of assaults from the surrounding enemies. Not only was this exposure detrimental to the peace and comfort of the people, but it was a matter of severe reproach to them (v. 3). Nehemiah was a man of strong character. Though occupying a position of high honor and responsibility in the very center of the great heathen capitol, the desire to honor God was uppermost in his heart. He is an example to all young men, demonstrating to them that it is possible to be true to God regardless of the environment in which he may be compelled to live. In order for a man to thus stand, his life must be rooted in Christ, and these roots—our faith—must be watered and kept alive through vital communion with God in prayer and study of His Holy Word.

1. Nehemiah Learning of the Affliction and Reproach of the Returned Remnant in Jerusalem (vv. 1-4).

1. The time (v. 1). It was in a winter month, November or December, in the 20th year of Artaxerxes. He was engaged in the performance of his accustomed duties as cup-bearer to the king, when the news came to him of the deplorable condition of Jerusalem and the remnant who had gone there.

2. The occasion of (vv. 2, 3). The visit of Nehemiah's brother and certain men of Judah made it possible for him to inquire concerning the state of the remnant and the conditions of Jerusalem. They informed him that they were in great affliction and reproach.

3. The effect upon Nehemiah (v. 4). He was greatly moved by the story of the distress of his brethren. Though occupying a position of honor, and enjoying all that heart could desire, he keenly took the misfortune of his brethren to heart. He not only shed tears of sympathy, but took these burdens in prayer to God. This is the proper way to sympathize with the unfortunate. It is manly to weep with those in distress, and to pray for those who have need. Jesus wept over Jerusalem and prayed for his own. Nehemiah exhibited the spirit of true patriotism. The affliction and shame of his own people went close to his own heart. National and racial solidarity constitutes the real basis of patriotism. The reproach and affliction of a nation is the reproach and affliction of every member thereof.

11. Nehemiah's Prayer for Israel (vv. 5-11). We are taught that in the midst of affliction, we should pray. Nehemiah in this early time practiced this New Testament direction. A study of his prayer is most helpful.

1. It was earnest (v. 4). He fasted and prayed for several days. When men are willing to desist from food and turn aside from their occupations to pray to God, they are unmistakably in earnest. This is true fasting.

2. The ground of (v. 5). He pleaded covenant relationship and the faithfulness of God in keeping his covenant. It is a good thing always in our praying to plead thus with God. He is delighted when we come as children pleading for the things we need on the basis of our relationship to him.

3. Unselfish (v. 6). He has as his supreme object the welfare of Israel. His personal interests were not affected, either for better or for worse, by the condition of the Jews in Jerusalem. Many prayers do not count with God because they are self-centered.

4. Penitent (vv. 6, 7). He acknowledges that the state of Israel was due to disobedience to God's commandments and their corrupt dealings with God. So completely had he identified himself with his people that he included himself with Israel as having sinned.

5. The prayer of faith (vv. 8, 9). He believed the word which God had spoken to Moses touching his willingness to restore and bless his people, though he was obliged to severely judge them. In our praying, we should be able to point to some definite promise in God's word, as we plead with him. Faith takes God at his word, and holds him to it.

6. Definite (vv. 10, 11).
a. He pointed to the specific people, as those redeemed by God's powerful hand.

b. He asked that God would prosper his way and grant him mercy in the sight of the king. This was a part of wisdom on Nehemiah's part. Before going before men for consideration of important interests, we should ask God to prepare their hearts, so that they will listen sympathetically to our plea. This we should do in all things, and we can do it, when our own hearts are right, and we see the good of others and not that of ourselves.

Certain Cure for Croup.
Mrs. Rose Middleton, of Greenville, Ill., had had experience in the treatment of this disease. She says, "When my children were small my son had croup frequently. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy always broke up these attacks immediately, and I was never without it in the house. I have taken it myself for coughs and colds with good results."—Advertisement.

The Greatest Tribute Ever Paid to the Credit System

The United States Government Liberty Bond Sale, to which the people of this country subscribed so generously, was the greatest tribute ever paid to the Credit System. Ten million people in an incredibly short time extended credit to the United States Government to the extent of five billion dollars that we might give to our soldiers and sailors, fighting this war for democracy, the munitions and material of war.

If this great nation sees fit to operate this mighty government on credit certainly there can be no argument against the principle of credit business. The credit furniture business of today is as dignified and substantial as any other, and more so than many. If you are one of those who think that only cheap furniture of poor design and construction is sold on credit, then you should investigate the furniture credit system.

London, Oct. 18.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The occupation of Ramadiah has carried the British mesopotamian army some thirty miles upstream from its previous outpost at Esluja. This is the distance measured as the crow flies, but it is nearly double that distance by the

The British troops showed themselves in excellent condition, after their long march, being put through a two-days' maneuver battle after a night march. The heat, however, was no longer oppressive. The nights are now fresh and cold and the health of the force is excellent.

When the British forces entered Ramadiah, they found many signs of the confusion and surprise of the Turkish forces. The British eye witnesses, writing from Ramadiah, say:

MANY DEALERS REFUSE TO ADVANCE THE PRICE

Situation Serious for Those Who Have Nothing to Sell But Tobacco.

Fort Wayne tobacco dealers are finding it difficult to put into effect the advanced prices in order that they may be able to meet the added cost, as well as the government war tax.

The trouble lies with many of the drug stores and saloons, where the old prices prevail. Many of them positively refuse to raise, not that the advance prices are not justified, but they are willing to sell tobacco and cigars without much profit with the hope of selling such customers their other wares.

However, the dealer who has nothing else to sell but tobacco and cigars is hard hit. He is unable to cope with such competition. Wholesale dealers are also helpless to remedy the situation. Even if they refuse to sell their tobacco and cigars to dealers who refuse to increase the price, it is very easy for them to get their goods through an out of town dealer, which in a number of cases is being done.

CORRESPONDENT LYON ENTERS HOLE IN GROUND AT VERDUN WHERE GERMAN'S HOPE IS BURIED

Editor's Note.—C. C. Lyon, staff correspondent of the Daily Sentinel is now spending some time with the French army, through the courtesy of the French authorities. After observing operations in and about Verdun, he has been promised the chance to go into the first line French trenches. "If I come out with a whole skin I ought to have something very interesting to write about," says Lyon, in a letter to the editor of the Daily Sentinel.

C. C. LYON.

With the French Troops at Verdun, Oct. 15.—I have just come from spending a wonderful evening in the impregnable citadel of Verdun, a guest of Colonel (—), its commander.

All day long a violent artillery duel had been on between the French and Germans, and every time our small party of American observers had tried to get near enough to the German lines beyond Forts Vaux and Douaumont to watch infantry operations a German shell would playfully fall in our vicinity and scare us all stiff.

Even the safety of Fort Souville hardly re-assured us. There we had taken turns sitting in a chair that had been occupied a few days before by the king of Italy and signing our names in the "guest book."

Incidentally, Victor Emanuel gave his occupation as "king of Italy." I wrote "newspaper reporter" after my name. They're both on the same page.

Shortly before the dinner hour we reached the Verdun citadel. Outside, the night was inky black and, adding to a dismal exterior picture, a cold, drizzling rain was falling, chilling to the marrow the gray-overcoated sentinels who silently trudged their posts along the river Meuse.

But inside the fortress everything was warm and bright and cheerful.

The long, narrow, concrete-built corridors that stretched for hundreds of yards were studded with a thousand electric bulbs; and every room and compartment opening off them held a group of laughing, chatting, potlous, enjoying their evening meal and talking over events of the day.

In a little dining room in the heart of the fortress, a hundred feet below the earth's surface, Colonel (—), arose and, with uplifted glass, faced his American guests.

For a long time, around a table that had contained many good things to eat, he had been discussing the war situation and America's part.

As he stood there leaning upon the cane (one of his legs had been frozen as he personally led his troops in a mid-winter assault on German positions outside Verdun) ready to propose a toast to the great and powerful ally he was a noble figure.

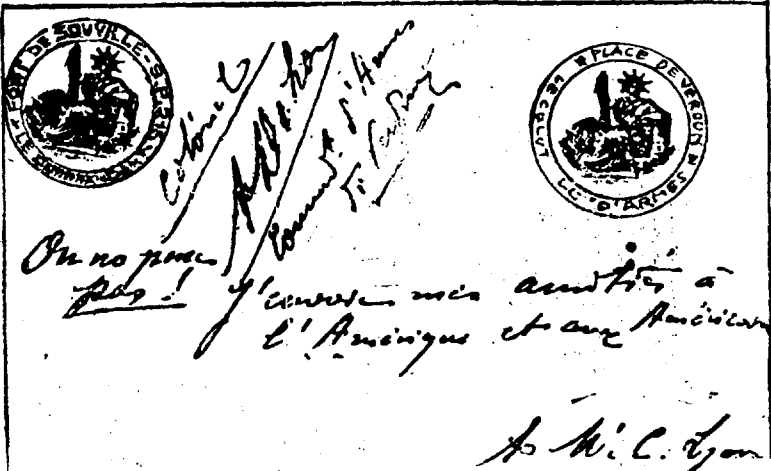

A large, powerfully-built man of about 60; snow white hair; ruddy complexion; a jovial, kindly face with blue eyes that twinkled with merriment; a "something about him" that would inspire all men to deeds of valor.

On the wall behind him was hung a large bronze tablet—the imperishable motto of Verdun:

"On Ne Passe Pas!"

"They Shall Not Pass!"

There was a hushed silence.

Facsimile of the Message of Colonel (—), Commander of Verdun, to the American People Through Staff Correspondent Lyon and, (Below), Colonel (—), at the Left, and the Still Sturdier Figure and the Stern, Bearded Profile of Former Premier Ribot of France.

"My dear friends from beyond the seas," he said, "I lift my glass to toast the nation that has always been the unfailing friend and ally of our beloved France.

"The bonds of love and sympathy that have always existed between our two countries will become still stronger, now that we are brothers in arms in the cause of world democracy.

"France has given unsparingly of its blood in making good the motto of Verdun. But the brave men who have died will not have died in vain, because, with rich, powerful resources, and determined American on our side, it is now impossible to conceive of anything but a complete victory for the allied cause."

"I drink to America and all Americans. France loves them all!"

The toast was drunk with deep emotion on both sides and appropriate responses from the Americans followed.

Through it all, however, my reporter instincts had not deserted me. At Fort Souville, during the afternoon, the fort commander had given me, for a souvenir, one of his envelopes with the official stamp of Fort Souville in the upper left-hand corner.

When the commander of Verdun sat down, after his toast, I handed him this envelope and my fountain pen.

"I am sure, Colonel, the American people would appreciate a written greeting from you."

"It will be a great pleasure." And on the envelope he wrote under his name, Colonel (—), commandant of the army of Verdun, "They Shall Not Pass." "I send my kindest regards to America and the American people," "To Mr. C. Lyon."

"I'd better put the official stamp of Verdun on this or somebody might say it was not genuine," he laughed.

We were about to take leave when the Colonel had a happy thought. "I'd love to hear you sing the 'Star Spangled Banner,'" he said.

In another room was a little old piano that had weathered all the bloody storm.

But not one of us Americans could play a note!

We got through the first verse in fine style, but there was a good deal of humming and "la, la's" toward the end of the second.

The way the Frenchmen then sang their own national hymn made us Americans ashamed of ourselves.

When he went out into the night we hardly noticed that it was still drizzling.

MAY HOLD THE NEXT CONVENTION HERE

State Officers Are Elected by Osteopaths at Closing Session.

At the final meeting of the Indiana Osteopath association Thursday afternoon an election of officers was held. Dr. Ella McNichols, of Frankfort, was elected president; Dr. C. J. Crane, Union City, vice-president; Dr. H. L. Landis, Elkhart, secretary; Dr. Kate Williams, Indianapolis, treasurer, and Dr. R. C. McCaughn, Kokomo, chairman of the program committee.

No convention site for next year's meeting was decided upon and the matter will be referred to a special committee. An attempt will be made to make next year's convention a tri-state affair, that is Indiana, Ohio and Michigan. In case this is accomplished, Fort Wayne will be chosen as the site. Association members voted the affair a success in every way. About fifty practicing osteopaths attended the meeting.

GERMAN SAILOR IS TAKEN AT LIGONIERJ. Rauchbauer Narrates Wild
Tales of Coming to U. S. in a Submarine.

Ligonier, Ind., Nov. 9.—A German sailor who claims to have escaped from a military prison camp at London, Ontario, is now locked in the county jail at Goshen, awaiting action of federal authorities. He was arrested at Ligonier and gave his name as Joseph Rauchbauer.

Rauchbauer arrived in Ligonier several days ago giving the name of Joe Bowers and sought work here. Because of wild tales of war adventure which he told, he was arrested. A New York Central switch key and signal code were found on his person, when he confessed his real name and told a long and interesting story of his career, although it is said it sounded like a fairy tale.

He was returning to Germany, he said, as a sailor on a German ship, when war was declared. After arrival he was put into naval service and later came across the Atlantic in a submarine at the same time the Deutschland arrived. The submarine, however, was caught in a net off the coast of Newfoundland, says the prisoner, and the crew taken prisoners. He was then placed in a Canadian prison camp from which he escaped last January. Since then he has been in America working at various trades.

NO NEW TRIAL ASKED.

Hartford City, Ind., Nov. 9.—Samuel Minsky, Montpelier junk dealer who was convicted here in the last special term of the circuit court by a jury upon two counts—conspiracy to commit burglary and conspiracy to commit larceny—will be arraigned Monday morning before Special Judge Nichols, of Winchester, who presided at the time of the trial, and his petition, which has been circulated by his wife and which contains 95 signatures, will be given consideration. In all probability sentence will be passed upon the defendant, the sentence for such a conviction being from two to twenty-one years in the state prison. Some time ago it was stated that the defendant, through his attorneys, would ask for a new trial, but later on it was stated that Minsky had concluded to accept the sentence of the court, if his petition was ignored.

COURT APPROVES SALE.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 9.—A report of the sale of the Bluffton, Geneva & Celina traction line property by Receiver W. W. Rogers to Thomas Flynn was approved by Judge W. B. Judge Eichhorn giving his approval and confirmation of the sale, ordered a deed executed and delivered to Mr. Flynn, and the deed has been prepared and approved and is ready for Mr. Flynn. Judge C. E. Sturgis said yesterday afternoon that further confirmation of the sale, by entry at the regular term of court probably was not necessary, but it would be secured in order to be absolutely sure of the complete legality of the procedure.

Old Looks?

(BY DR. L. E. SMITH)

Persons suffering from too much uric acid in the system frequently look older than they should. They age faster and the appearance of gray hair or baldhead in early years is, indeed, often a sign of uric acid. The face appears lean and haggard, lines and wrinkles appearing in young men or women.

The best way to combat this premature age and the obstruction to the arteries and faulty circulation is of the simplest. Drink copiously of pure water between meals. This will make you fat, as it is only the water taken with the meals that fattens. Obtain at any drug store a package of Anuric (double strength), which is to be taken before meals, in order to expel the uric acid from the system. The painful effects of backache, lumbago, "rheumatism," gout, due to uric acid in the blood should quickly disappear after treatment with Anuric.

PERFECT HEALTH IS EVERY WOMAN'S BIRTHRIGHT.

South Bend, Ind.—"Some few years ago I began to go down in health, caused by having woman's weakness. I saw Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription advertised and I got it at once. It was just a short space of time until this medicine completely cured me. Then, about two years ago I had severe pains in both kidneys and my limbs were swollen. It was almost impossible for me to rise in the morning. I took medicine but therefor I got no relief. Some time later I learned of Anuric and got it at once. I soon began to feel better. I kept up its use until I was completely cured of this ailment. I have not had any more backaches and my kidneys are in fine condition. I feel safe in recommending Dr. Pierce's remedy for I know they are good."—MRS. MARY E. FOWLER, 714 Columbia St.

TAKE THE LEADThey Have Nerves of Iron and Real Red Fighting Blood

Vital force is the material from which leaders in all walks of life are made. It is well worth getting and holding.

The health and nerve of the athlete is what Nature intended every man and woman to have. The blood of an athlete is pure and red, a strong heart pumps and drives it through his body. No wonder that every inch of his system is filled with energy and health, his nerves like iron, spirits high, hard tasks a pleasure and life one song of joy. A healthy man, Dr. Doan says, "Everyone should feel this way. That if you are not red blooded, are nervous, all run down and on your last legs, for you to build up your blood and nerves with exercise, fresh air, nourishing food and Nature's great prescription, Phosphated Iron, a real blood and nerve builder. Then you will be there with vim and push to easily do the work that you now do on your nerves alone.

He also says, "Phosphated Iron feeds the blood cells with iron and Nerve force, and that leading specialists are now using it successfully all over the country, that it has sprung into almost instant popularity with the better class of doctors as one of the few remedies they can depend on to produce results."

Special Notice—To insure physicians and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we put up in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to substitute any pills or tablets. For sale in Fort Wayne by Meyer Bros., four stores, also D. & N. Pharmacy.

SAYS HOT WATER
WASHES POISONS
FROM THE LIVER

Everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it, before breakfast.

To feel as fine as the proverbial fiddle, we must keep the liver washed clean, almost every morning, to prevent its sponge-like pores from clogging with indigestible material, sour bile and poisonous toxins, says a noted physician.

If you get headaches, it's your liver. If you catch cold easily, it's your liver. If you wake up with a bad taste, furred tongue, nasty breath or stomach becomes rancid, it's your liver. Sallow skin, moody complexion, watery eyes all denote liver uncleanness. Your liver is the most important, also the most abused and neglected organ of the body. Few know its function or how to release the dammed-up body waste, bile and toxins. Most folks resort to violent calomel, which is a dangerous, salivating chemical which can only be used occasionally because it accumulates in the tissues, also attacks the bones.

Every man and woman, sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, to wash from the liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, the poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Limestone phosphate does not restrict the diet like calomel, because it can not salivate, for it is harmless and you can eat anything afterwards. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, and any pharmacist will sell you a quarter pound, which is sufficient for a demonstration of how hot water and limestone phosphate cleans, stimulates and freshens the liver, keeping you feeling fit day in and day out.—Advertisement.

TURKISH ARMY IN FULL ROUT

British Are Driving the Crescent Flag From Palestine.

DISASTER HITS SULTAN'S FORCES

Hindenburg Order to Retake Passchendaele is Still in Abeyance.

London, Nov. 9.—The entire Turkish army in Palestine is retreating towards the north. British airplanes are following up the retreating Turks and bombing them.

ON THE WEST FRONT.

London, Nov. 9.—An official statement issued today by the British war office regarding military operations in France and Belgium, said:

HINDENBURG ORDER IGNORED.

Canadian Headquarters in France, via London, Nov. 8.—(By the Canadian Press, Ltd.)—Hindenburg's orders to his troops to retake Passchendaele at all costs has not yet resulted in any enemy infantry activity before Passchendaele. Both yesterday and today have been extremely quiet, except for our artillery, which has been maintaining a harassing fire on all the routes of approaches to the centers of activity in the enemy area.

Reports of an eastward movement of enemy batteries possibly indicate that he may be preparing new gun positions to support an attack upon the ridge, but in the meantime the Canadians are strengthening their new positions and preparing for all emergencies.

Two battalion commanders with their staffs were taken prisoner in the last engagement, a striking indication of the rapidity with which our troops maintained their attack.

"With such men I could go anywhere, doing anything," is one captured officer's comment on the Canadians. Indeed, the officers are loud in admiration of our troops, especially their physique. They are loud also in amazed comments on the treatment they are receiving. The prisoners state that they received special attention on the part of the British troops, being told to take no prisoners.

Recent captures confirm the reports of heavy enemy losses. Our troops went over so rapidly and followed the barrage so closely that numerous cases are reported where the enemy had no chance to fire his machine guns before our infantry was on top of him. Our counter battery work and artillery concentrations have also been so effective recently that enemy battery positions have been constantly changed.

IN THE CHURCHES

Will Entertain the Juniors. The Misses Lutz, Bittner and Bertha Weikert, who have charge of the Junior Endeavor society of Grace Reformed church, have planned a party for the entertainment of the young people, to be held in the Sunday school rooms on Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock. All of the boys and girls of the church and Sunday school, whether members of the Juniors or not, are urged to attend. Special features for the entertainment of the guests have been planned and a good time is anticipated.

Business Girls' League.

Much interest is being manifested in the Red Cross work recently undertaken by the Business Girls' League. A class was organized last Friday day evening at the Y. W. C. A., under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Harbinger, at which time at least a score of girls offered their services. The class will meet again this evening at 8:15, and all Business Girls who desire to help in this work are urged to be present.

Bible study class will meet at 7:30 with Miss Cole as leader. Class discussions are growing more and more interesting, and those unable to be present will miss a rare treat. Study period will be limited so as to not interfere in any way with the Red Cross work immediately following.

FINE SKILL IN RETREAT

Retirement of Italians Conducted With Much Brilliancy.

REAR GUARDS SHOW SUPERB GALLANTRY

Heroic Examples of Self-Sacrifice and Personal Bravery.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Official cablegrams received here today from the Italian battle front say the retreat is being conducted with skill. It is characterized by many brilliant examples of self-sacrifice and personal bravery and that the new lines, which it is hoped will be permanent, have been rear guard carefully prepared. The statement follows:

"The retirement of the Italian armies to the Livorno was conducted in strict conformity with the plans already laid and has been successfully accomplished. While the Tagliamento river, which line was abandoned, formed a considerable obstacle to the enemy advance, this is true only in time of floodwater. When the rains stopped and the waters of the river receded the river was no longer any considerable natural obstacle to the enemy's advance.

"The army corps commanded by Gen. Di Giorgio and some parts of the third army corps retreated on the extreme left to the hills above Pinzano and by a wonderful maneuver succeeded in greatly retarding the enemy's crossing of the Tagliamento river, presenting a serious menace to the Austro-German right wing and threatening his communications in the direction of Codroipo. Meanwhile the retirement of the main body of the Italian army to the Livorno was greatly aided by the configuration of the ground and the streams which delayed the pursuit of the Austro-Germans.

"The Livorno river is deep and swift with a number of bridges and the Italian general staff regards it as only a temporary line capable of favoring the rear guard actions and delaying the enemy's advance while the Italian army is finding a stronger position in the rear. In these rear guard engagements the territorial forces have given an admirable example of themselves in machine gun work. The Bersaglieri and mounted bicycle troops, the Third division cavalry, the Fourth brigade of grenadiers and other contingents have distinguished themselves in furious counter attacks, showing high courage.

"Great valor also was displayed above all by the army corps under General Di Giorgio, which sustained the heaviest enemy onslaughts and succeeded in checking them, thereby giving time to the remainder of the Italian army to straighten its lines. Most important also were the operations of the corps of the Alpine troops, which, while retreating, never ceased to counter attack the enemy."

DESPONDENT WOMAN COMMITTS SUICIDE

Mrs. Sadie L. Sloman Ends Life After Suffering From Several Years' Illness.

Mrs. Sadie L. Sloman, aged 37, wife of Samuel Sloman, made good her threat to end her own life when she fired a bullet from a 38-caliber revolver into her breast. Ill health of the past few years was the cause. She had become very despondent and had frequently deplored her fate.

The affair occurred Thursday afternoon shortly after 5 o'clock in the room above her husband's saloon at the corner of Harrison and Pearl streets. Shortly before the fatal shooting Mrs. Sloman called her husband from his place of business, but she did not tell him anything about her intended plans. On his way downstairs he heard the shot that caused her death. The revolver had been about the house for some time. Wednesday the deceased had told the doctor that she had nothing to live for and wanted to die. She had told her husband the same thing and had asked to have an auto funeral when she died.

Surviving besides the husband is a step-mother, Mrs. Henry Barnhart, of Butler. Mrs. Sloman was born on October 20, 1880.

NEW HEADS OF ITALIAN ARMY

General Diaz Succeeds Cadorna as First in Command.

WARRIORS NAMED TO LOWER PLACES

General Foch, France and General Wilson, England, to Aid.

Italian Headquarters, Nov. 8.—New heads of the Italian army have been named. General Diaz has been appointed first in command, with General Badoglio, second, and General Grandino, third.

General Foch, chief of staff of the French war ministry and, General Wilson, sub-chief of the British general staff, will serve on the inter-allied committee with General Cadorna. Among military officers the decision of the allies to create a permanent military committee has caused great satisfaction. It is accepted as evidence that the allies have awakened to the necessity of the closest union of the whole length of the western front for the political and military conduct of the war.

Gen. Diaz is rated as one of the ablest Italian military leaders. For years he was connected with the general staff. He took part in the Libyan war, serving as a colonel and was wounded so severely that he asked to be wrapped in a flag, feeling that death was at hand. He has rendered distinguished service in the present campaign. He is from southern Italy. Gen. Badoglio is a northerner. In the war he has been in command of a brigade of bersaglieri, whose heroic deeds have done much to decrease the gravity of the disaster.

Gen. Grandino was minister of war in the cabinet of Premier Boselli. He is one of the leading generals of the second army.

VERY LITTLE BLOODSHED

Battle of Winter Palace in Petrograd Was Not Sanguinary.

CASUALTIES ARE NOT YET REPORTED

All Art Objects Had Been Removed from Historic Building.

Petrograd, Nov. 9.—It is impossible at this hour to ascertain what the casualties were in the winter palace battle, although they are reported not to have been many. The fighting proceeded with the rival forces alternately in possession of the huge piles of wood stored in the plaza, a part of the city's winter fuel supply. The glare of an are light illuminated the positions of the forces in the plaza while the rest of the city was in almost total darkness, this condition increasing the visibility of the flashes from the guns of the cruisers on the horizon, which gave warning of the speedy bursting of shells. The palace, which already had been stripped of most of its historic art objects, was completely denuded this afternoon of its tapestries and paintings. This was when the provisional government was still in control of the palace. The art treasures were taken to places of its selection.

The correspondent who was with a party of reserve soldiers and workmen's forces a short distance from the battle, reported that the fighting was not very hot. The women's committee did not see any of the shells take effect upon the palace. In it, as also in the admiralty and foreign office buildings on the other side of the square, lights were still shining from the windows at midnight. Occasional crashes as if falling walls indicated that serious damage had been done. The populace for the most part remained indoors. A few of the curious peered around the corners, while thousands of the Maximist troops and sailors from Kronstadt gathered around the fuel piles at advantageous spots awaiting their turn in the battle.

BOYS ARRESTED FOR STEALING FROM AUTO

Fort Wayne Lads Take Casing Tube and Tools from Machine at Nine Mile.

Five Fort Wayne youngsters ranging in age from 17 to 29 years were given the fright of their young lives when arrested Wednesday at Huntington, Ind., for stealing a casing, casing inner tube and tools from the automobile of John Bufkin at Nine Mile. They were released on their own recognizance and Friday morning were taken before Justice of the Peace Henry J. Grabner.

The fact that the boys have never been in trouble before and their promise never to do anything of the kind again caused the court to be lenient with the result that after paying for the damage done, amounting to $15, they were released.

The youngsters were Bernard Hoff, Second street; Howard Bostick, 1413 Wall street; Herman Smith, 621 Hoffman street; Joe Schmidt, 1622 Short street, and Frank Maley.

On the evening of November 6 the young men started to Huntington in Hoff's automobile. They had a blow-out. Bufkin's car was standing in front of the grocery store at Nine Mile and the boys proceeded to take the casing, inner tube and a number of tools and after repairing their own car continued their trip to Huntington.

On the following evening they made another trip to Huntington and as they passed through Nine Mile they were recognized. The Huntington police were notified and upon their arrival in that city were placed under arrest. They were later turned over to Sheriff Gillie, who permitted them to go home on their own recognizance, to go home on their own recognizance.

Members of the various teams working in the interest of food conservation will participate at a meatless and wheatless dinner at the Elks' temple this evening at 6 o'clock. The public is invited. The above menu will be served and is recommended by the food committee for other dinners on wheatless and meatless days.

The purpose of the food pledge drive that has been conducted by the various teams of patriotic women. While opposition has been encountered, progress has been made and as a result of the campaign there will be greater conservation of food in Fort Wayne than ever before in the history of the city.

One of the features of the meeting following the dinner will be an address by Prof. Mary Mathews, of Purdue university. Carlton Morrell also will sing.

An Important Work. It is a very serious and important work that these women have been doing for food conservation and will do much toward helping the United States win the war. Frank Hilgemann, chairman of the food conservation committee, was very enthusiastic in his praise of the splendid work that the women have done.

"We are not asking people to starve," said Mrs. Franklin E. Meade, general chairman of the women's committee and director of the teams of women workers. "All we ask is that they help in the nation's movement to conserve the food supply."

Members of the various teams that have been canvassing the city for the distribution of food conservation cards in some instances have been victims of unjust accusations, when, as a matter of fact, they are engaged in a most patriotic movement. The members know that in many homes the housewives are already protecting the interests of the nation by saving food, and the saving of food. They are already doing their bit to keep hunger away. All that they are asked to do is to sign the food pledge card which indicates their official enrollment in the work they are already carrying out, and to place one of the food card slogans in the window of their home to encourage someone else to do likewise."

THEATERS MAY PAY WAR TAX.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Moving picture theaters and other amusement places may pay the war tax of one cent for each ten cents admission charged without collecting it from patrons, Internal Revenue Commissioner Roper rules today. The ruling was in response to queries whether it was legal for a theater to advertise "Admission still ten cents. We pay your war tax."

Fun and Money trapping muskrats

FUR is getting more and more valuable. Yet some farmers are content to have lots of fur walking around the farm loose on the backs of skunks and muskrats.

Follow the example of those farmers and their boys who set a dozen Victor traps in likely spots every evening through Fall and Winter and collect two or three hundred dollars in cash for the fur before Spring. And it's a spare time job at that!

The Victor grabs the animals by the leg and holds them tight. Start with a half dozen Victors. (We make a specialty of Victor traps.) They will pay for themselves—and a good profit besides in your first week of trapping.

WHAT SHALL SOLDIERS DO OUTSIDE THE CAMPS?
EFFORT UNDER WAY TO ANSWER THAT QUESTION

"WHY, FRED! IT'S JUST LIKE HOME!" SAMMIES FROM U. S. CAMP RENEWING THEIR CONTACT WITH THE WORLD OF HOME AND GIRLS AT A COMMUNITY DANCE.

(Special Dispatch from Harry B. Hunt, Washington, Nov. 9.)—The spirit of the American army, even more than its numerical strength or its skill, is counted upon to smash through the German lines to victory.

To develop this spirit a nation wide campaign is being launched to enlist the support of every man and woman in war camps. They played ball at home facilities in cities and towns near cantonments may help personally. Those farther away may help with their dollars.

Upon this volunteer community service the government must depend, principally for the wholesome recreation necessary for the soldiers when outside the camps. The vast majority of them came from healthy home and community environment, which must be replaced by one equally wholesome. If they were church members at home, they must have opportunity to attend church near the camps. If they played ball at home, ball facilities must be provided for continuing their games. If they sing or dance or write or speak, outlets must be provided for these natural interests.

The churches, clubs, places of amusements and the social and home life of the camp communities cannot of themselves meet the overwhelming demands. There must be help from the nation at large. Enough already has been done to prove the efficacy of the plans worked out by the camp community committee.

But about $4,000,000 will be necessary to provide for a million and a quarter men. This is sought by voluntary contribution. Three dollars will provide for one man.

Of the necessity for this work Secretary of War Baker says:

"If we can do for the American boy in the training camp what the American college has done for the boy in college, and what the American high school has done for the boy in high school; that is to say, if we can work his mind and body, and surround his recreation with such wholesome opportunities as will keep him from being turned to unwholesome things, we will have solved the social problem of our army."

"The soldiers on their days and hours off are going to scatter through all the cities and towns nearby. In all these we must make the inducements to wholesome thinking and living as numerous as we can."

"And to do that, we must organize every social activity in those towns. We must have the Y. M. C. A.'s, the Y. W. C. A.'s, the Masonic orders, the Elks, the Eagles, the churches and even our homes. Invite in the boys occasionally and give them contact with a normal domestic life."

"These boys are going to France. They are going to heroic enterprises. I want them adequately armed and clothed by their government; but I want them also to take with them an invisible armor made up of a set of social habits for their protection overseas."

"If they go with this esprit de corps, the more quickly and more surely will they come back to us. And the rest of us will have gotten a greater start toward a realization of the community's responsibility for the lives of the people who live in it."

Among the things the $4,000,000 community fund will do are:

Build clubhouses outside the camps with facilities for athletic contests, pool and billiard playing, reading and writing, etc.

Provide the services of trained workers who will organize the social forces of the communities for the benefit of the men in camp.

Provide moving picture and theatrical entertainments.

Arrange entertainments by volunteer artists, at which the men from camp may also do their bit.

Dances, socials and appropriate holiday parties.

Arrange sightseeing and recreation trips.

Organize for outdoor and indoor athletic sports of all sorts, including baseball, tennis and skating.

Organize home hospitality, with its Sunday dinners, music, pleasant friendships.

This work should not be confused with recreation and entertainment inside the camps. This is provided so far as possible by the army itself and by the Y. M. C. A. and K. of C.

WANT ENROLLMENTS AS RADIO OPERATORS

Local School Gets Urgent Appeal for Help by Government.

The Fort Wayne vocational school has received an appeal from the federal board for vocational education at Washington in regard to radio operators. The letter is directed to Walter E. Gordon and is as follows:

"My Dear Sir: The federal board of vocational education appeals to you to come to the assistance of the United States government in a grave emergency. The emergency is this: Fifteen thousand radio or buzzer operators must be secured at the earliest possible date for service in the army. The federal board is making this appeal at the request of the United States signal corps, which is confronted with a serious shortage of men equipped to perform this essential service on the battlefield. These operators must come from the ranks of conscripted men of the second and following drafts, whose instruction should begin before they are called to cantonments. For their training the government must largely depend on the schools of the nation."

"Enclosed with this letter is a memorandum giving information with regard to the work we are asking you to undertake. When you have read this, your attention is called to the blank which is also enclosed. This we urge that you fill out and send to the federal board at Washington as quickly as possible, saying that you will do your part in the program which we are launching."

There was never a better opportunity for schools giving practical education of all grades to demonstrate the value of this kind of education and to show their capacity to respond to an actual emergency in a time of national crisis.

Charles Ray, "Ince's Wonder Boy," appears in his first Paramount photoplay in a very interesting character. He is seen as the son of a New York railroad magnate, who, with five thousand dollars, sets out to prove to his father that he possesses enough inherent business ability to make a hundred thousand dollars in six months. It is a role very much to his liking, and he brings to it the pleasing personality the boyish enthusiasm and recognized genius for screen acting that has made him a favorite everywhere.

TO DRIVE IMMORALITY FROM WAR-CAMP TOWNS

Object of Nation-Wide Movement—Fort Wayne Rotarians Busy.

The Y. M. C. A. fund which is about to be gathered as a result of the drive to begin next week is to be supplemented by another fund which shall be used to clean up immoral conditions in war-camp towns just as the Y. M. C. A. fund is to be used within the camps themselves. The Fort Wayne Rotary club, joining with others throughout the country, is undertaking to do its share to create this fund. It is made clear that the Y. M. C. A. will care for the men within the camp. Rotary is back of Secretary Baker's appeal to clean out the bell-holes in the towns, beyond the reach of the camp Y. M. C. A. which has its hands full taking care of conditions within the camp. The saloon and the prostitute are not within the camp. They're outside. And that's the cleanup field in which the Rotary fund now being gathered is to be used.

Robert Koerber, president of the Fort Wayne club, wishes it distinctly understood that the work in these two fields goes hand in hand and that there is absolutely no duplication of effort or expense. Rotarians are working hard to make both funds a success. Disease, the result of yielding to temptation amidst new surroundings, will prove more deadly than bullets to thousands of the youths of America unless the towns are cleaned up as well as conditions within the camps. ### SYMPATHY FOR PARENTS OF DEAD SAILOR BOY

Patriotic Council of Fort Wayne Acts on Death of Joseph Schultz.

The first fatality of the war that has come to Fort Wayne moves the Patriotic Council of this city to take appropriate action in recognition of it and the following memorial has been adopted:

To the Parents and Kinsmen of Joseph Schultz:
The Fort Wayne Council for Patriotic Service has learned of the death while in the service of his country of Joseph Schultz, who lost his life on October 30th, 1917, while on picket duty upon the Atlantic ocean, and who was one of Fort Wayne's citizens.
Fort Wayne has for the past months been making one sacrifice after another in our country's cause, and the cause of civilization, and is preparing to make still further sacrifices, but it remained for you to make for this community the first supreme sacrifice of the war in this common cause.

The cause is worthy, the country that demanded the service supreme among the worth-while nations of earth, the flag he followed rich in the memories of hallowed deeds and of the noble men which it has shrouded; still, notwithstanding all the glory that attends and the honor due you for having made such a noble sacrifice, sadness needs must come and bitterness attend the loss.

This council perhaps can do little to make the way easy and the burden light to you, but it can not do less than to express to you the sympathy of every citizen worthy of the name in this community and to have you know that they are with you in kindly thought in this supreme sorrow.

May the God of Heaven who has power to comfort and who is an ever present help in time of trouble be with you and sustain you.
(Signed)

JOSEPH KICKLEY,
MRS. EDWARD WHITE,
WILLIAM N. BALLOU,
Committee.

HERMAN H. MEYERS.

Herman H. Meyers, one of Fort Wayne's drafted soldier boys, is also making good in the army, as he was recently transferred to the engineering corps. Hammy, as he was best known by his many friends, was formerly employed as foreman of the Fort Wayne House Wrecking company. He is the son of Mrs. Emil Subkowski, of 813 Buchanan street. In a letter to her he states that he likes the duties of a soldier and that he is anxious to get to France.

THERE IS PLENTY OF MUD OVER IN FRANCE

Ray Schutt, of Kendallville, Fears He Will Have Web Feet.

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 9.—Friends here are in receipt of an interesting letter from Ray Schutt, who is with the United States expeditionary forces in France. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Schutt, of Defiance, Ohio. Mrs. Schutt will be remembered here as Miss Agnes Sawyer, and was a former Kendallville girl, while Mr. Schutt was a former resident of Avilla.

Excerpts from the young man's letter follow:
"I am somewhere in France. It is some wet country and no joke. Plenty of mud. If it lasts six months longer I fear I will have web feet and be a duck instead of a man."

"You might be interested in knowing what kind of a bed I sleep in. It is a work of art and is made like this: Four rough posts are set upright and a frame of poles, on these some thin boards covered with card board are placed; then a layer of evergreen boughs, and on top of this a tick full of hay."

"One Y. M. C. A. is a great help, and adds wonderfully to our comfort. On Sunday we have a morning service, which answers to our church in the States. It does a fellow good, and I always picture the old church at home and the kindly faces of old. In connection with the Y. M. C. A. reading room we have books and magazines as well as American newspapers that are several months old.

"Wednesday night is stunt night here and each fellow has to entertain the others in the line in which he is best adapted, clog dancing, singing, story telling, etc. We also have boxing and wrestling matches."

LOCAL OFFICER ON ILL-FATED ALCEDO

Thought That Com. Frederick M. Freeman Was Saved if He Was Aboard Ship.

The Alcedo, which torpedoed by a German U-boat and was sunk, while on duty in European water, on Nov. 6, was used as the flag boat of a small squadron of submarine chasers.

FREDERICK M. FREEMAN.

Commanded by Commander Frederick M. Freeman, U. S. N., brother of Henry R. Freeman, and Mrs. William Hahn, of Fort Wayne. In the casualty list, which consisted of twenty-one names, one officer and twenty sailors losing their lives, the name of the local officer did not appear. The duties of the commanding officer were such the he might have been on shore duty. Friends are anxiously awaiting news of his safety.

Frederick M. Freeman, the Fort

Wayne officer of the ill-fated ship was born in this city in 1878 and was educated in the Fort Wayne schools. He entered the United States navy academy at Annapolis in 1891 and graduated four years later. During the Spanish-American war he saw active duty aboard the U. S. S. Connecticut. Promotion came quickly to the young officer and last summer he was made a commander and was assigned to service in foreign waters during the great world war. He is rated as a first-class officer and on his visit to Fort Wayne last July hinted at his dangerous duties aboard his fleet of "sub chasers."

FORMER FORT WAYNE ATTORNEY MAKES GOOD

Ira Snouffer May be Transferred to Judge Advocate's Department.

Ira M. Snouffer, one of Fort Wayne's successful young attorneys who entered the second officers' training camp is making good.

Reports from Fort Harrison are to the effect that Attorney Snouffer has been recommended for a commission in the judge advocate's department. This is taken to mean that

IRA M. SNOUFFER.

Mr. Snouffer will not enter active service at once, but will be held in reserve to fill vacancies that may occur by the enlargement of that department which will be required as the army is enlarged.

While in this city on a thirty-six-hour furlough, he stated to his many friends that he likes army life first rate and that the treatment received at the camp was of the best.

WITH CAVALRY POLICE PATROL.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 9.—Lee Plattner, son of Jacob Plattner of this city, is now with the United States cavalry police patrol at Fort Sill, Okla. He says: "We feel at home here, even though we are in tents. We've installed floors and the tents are boarded up five feet high, with the tent over that, and a stove in the center. It is sure warm and cozy. Eight men occupy each tent, which measures 20x20 feet. My first duty was to keep order among the soldiers from camp, who attended a picture show in town. About 10,000 soldiers go to town every evening." Mr. Plattner was formerly on the ranch of his brother, Irvin Plattner, of Ford, Kan.

FIRST CLASS GUNNERS.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 9.—Ward Merriam writes from Fort Dupont that he has passed his first and second examinations and has now attained the rank of first-class gunner with an accompanying raise in pay. He writes that he expects to be at Fort Dupont all winter—Miss Jessie Sark received a letter from her brother, Donald, who is in the army at Fort Mott, saying that he has passed his first and second class gunner's examination and he thought that all the rest of the Bluffton boys had passed also.

OBTAIN A CLUE IN CLEVELAND CRIME

Authorities Believe They Are on Trail of Dr. Chapin's Slayer.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 9.—Torn bits of an express receipt, pieced together and found to relate to an express package shipped to Cleveland from Chicago, today set the police on the trail of the slayer of Dr. Harry L. Chapin, Cleveland physician, author and world wide traveler, who was found dying from a fractured skull in a downtown hotel late yesterday afternoon. Dr. Chapin died soon after being found. Coroner Byrne declares Chapin was murdered by being struck with a heavy weapon, probably a piece of pipe or a paper weight wrapped in a handkerchief. The suspect is a former Cleveland man with whom the murdered physician had business dealings for more than two years, the history of which has been given the police by the widow. The arrest of the suspect, who is believed to have arrived here from Chicago yesterday, is expected soon.

The express receipt, when pieced together by the police, showed the name of a former Cleveland druggist, revealed the existence of an illicit trade in narcotics in which he was engaged, and a probable motive for the killing. The name of the suspect is being kept secret by the police, who say he has been arrested several times on illicit drug selling charges, but never convicted. The discovery of the illicit drug traffic brought the admission from Mrs. Chapin that her husband was addicted to the use of narcotic drugs and that the suspect kept him supplied.

The motive for the killing, police assert, may lie in Dr. Chapin's efforts to break with the drug runner in response to the pleadings of Mrs. Chapin who, a short time before the killing, says she begged her husband to see the man no more.

HUNGER STRIKE FAKE ASSERT AUTHORITIES

Jailers Say Miss Paul is Taking Food Willingly, Not Forcibly.

Washington, Nov. 9.—The hunger strike of woman's party militants in the jail here has resolved itself into a dispute over whether the women were fed forcibly or whether they took food willingly. Today woman's party headquarters announced that Alice Paul, the leader, had been forcibly fed three times and Rose Winslow, her companion, had been forcibly fed twice. Feeding Miss Paul three times in a little more than twelve hours, the jailers said, was unnecessary and inhuman. Superintendent Zinkham, of the jail, freely admitted that Miss Paul had been fed three times, but denied that it had been done forcibly. "There was no force in the feeding," said Dr. J. A. Conner, jail physician. "These women took the food without resistance and merely want to advertise themselves by saying they have been fed forcibly. Miss Paul's condition is not critical; it is not even serious. She is doing well."

Woman's party headquarters declared, however, that Miss Paul will die if the jail authorities continue to feed her forcibly.

WESTERN LEAGUE TO FIGHT THIRD MAJOR

President Ed Dickerson is Against It If It Means an Invasion.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 9.—The Western league of baseball clubs will fight any movement for a third major league which provides for the American association taking over any Western league territory, according to E. W. Dickerson, president of the Western league, who was here today on his way to Louisville to attend the meeting next week of the National association, the governing body of minor league baseball. The Western league will meet in Louisville Sunday and President Dickerson said the president of every club in the league will be in attendance.

"Stories regarding the redistricting territory that have been going the rounds are very amusing for the reason that the leagues that are supposed to be affected have not been so much as consulted. One of the most ridiculous among the stories is that the American association is alleged to be planning on raiding the Western league for cities to take the place of those which will be lost to third major league. The fact that the Western league has the same rights in the protection

DR. BARNARD ACTS TO KEEP PROFITS FAIR

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 9.—An executive order establishing the retailer's relation to the new food control law stipulating profits at a "fair margin above actual cost," was issued today by Dr. H. E. Barnard, state food administrator. Interpreted the order says the retailer will not be permitted to take advantage of an artificially stimulated market to realize a margin of profit larger than would maintain when the market remains stable. A long list of articles is mentioned in the order as subject to the price control.

PROBING FAKE COAL SELLING AGENCIES

Indianapolis, Nov. 9.—Coal prices charged at some of the Indiana mines and alleged fake coal selling agencies are being investigated by the federal authorities. L. E. Ert, United States district attorney, admitted today that such an inquiry is under way, but declined to mention names or definite details. Complaints about charges in some instances have been made to the federal authorities and those are under investigation. According to some of the complaints bogus selling agencies have been organized and the prices increased above the prices fixed by the government to prevail at the mines have been charged.

PECK EXPLAINS THE COAL SITUATION

Lake Ports Must Have Three Million Tons More Says Pennsy Officials.

George L. Peck, fourth vice president of the Pennsylvania, and chairman of the committee on lake coal and ore transportation, writes Fairfax Harrison, of the railroad war board as follows:

"For the week ended at 5:00 a. m., Sunday, November 4, the railroads report a total of $22,617 tons of coal delivered to boats at Lake Erie ports, and 788,971 tons of ore moved from these ports for the interior furnaces.

"The tonnage of coal loaded was an increase of 8,500 tons, or 1.04 per cent, over the preceding week. Of the total estimate of 29,000,000 tons of coal to be delivered to boats this season, there has been loaded to date 24,170,713 tons, which is an increase of 110,127 tons, or 3.93 per cent, as compared with the same date last year, and leaves for loading in the four weeks, more or less, remaining of lake navigation, 4,829,287 tons of coal if the original estimates are to be met.

"The ore moved from lake ports this week shows an increase of 23,111 tons, or 2.98 per cent, over the preceding week. Of the 24,000,000 tons of ore which it was estimated would have to be taken from these lower lake ports in cars during the season of navigation, 24,544,917 tons have been moved since the opening of navigation, leaving 3,455,933 tons to be moved during the probable remaining four weeks of navigation. Warmer weather in the northwest has thawed the frozen ore, and loading has resumed.

"Most of the furnaces are now pretty well supplied with ore, and some of the largest plants have already received their full allotment for the season. Shipments for these concerns have been stopped at the head of the lakes, and it will now be possible to concentrate on those having an insufficient supply to run them through the winter.

"Through the operation of the voluntary pool arranged by the ore shippers and furnace people, it has become possible to utilize much needed facilities for the transportation of essentials, while under normal circumstances these facilities could have been absorbed by the continuance of shipments to all furnaces to the close of navigation.

"The pooling of lake coal has also proven very efficacious, the saving in car detention having amounted thus far to about 25,000 car days.

"The greatest benefit of all, though, has resulted from the harmonious working of all interests to a common end, and one of the most hopeful signs for the future is the growing disposition among local men of all classes to cooperate and stick their differences in the common cause. This is growing more apparent among the employees every day.

"The last circular of the commission on car service, on enlargements, explaining their use and purpose and advising their prompt adoption wherever necessary, is most timely. A good shillie is the traffic policeman at the corner. It has been the experience of the roads in the industrial district that special emergency measures tend to retard the general flow of traffic and thus restrict the capacity of the plant. Better results can be accomplished with the existing facilities by utilizing them and the forces in the manner designed for handling the traffic in normal times, and leaving to the judgment of the men on the ground the question of changing routes or co-ordinating facilities when emergency demands, always assuming that everyone will be informed as to the necessity for priority. The Pittsburgh sub-committee has this matter well in hand, and, with the cooperation now assured, will be able to at least get out of the existing facilities the maximum movement possible under present conditions.

"The local steel committee has not yet reported on the situation as to government orders, but leading authorities in the steel trade say that no one is at present in a position to say what the total requirements of the government for steel will amount to. It would seem reasonable to say, however, that if any considerable portion of the productive capacity of the industry is now employed on non-essentials, that this capacity should be directed toward the relief of the railroads, who are badly in need of steel for equipment and new work absolutely essential to the winning of the war. Normally the railroads are supposed to take more than half the output of steel, while during the past year they have taken hardly any."

METER DEPARTMENT ORGANIZED

Ben O'Brien is chairman and E. S. Gerig, secretary.

P. C. Morgenstern, manufacturing engineer of the meter department, delivered the opening address last night to the employees of the meter department, this being the first of a series of twelve lectures to be given by various official members of the department. Considerable interest was manifested which was evidenced by the large number in attendance, several of the girls being present. As this was the opening meeting, the address devolved on general principles of the department, emphasizing especially, co-operation, conservation of material, and cleanliness. J. L. Bireley will deliver the next address on meters and instruments, November 22.

Steps were taken to make this a permanent organization, and broaden out in various fields of welfare work. With this end in view, Ben O'Brien, foreman of the testing department, was elected chairman, and E. S. Gerig, of the engineering department, secretary. A committee has been appointed to draw up a set of by-laws, those appointed being William Niemcewicz, Fred C. Owen and J. Bireley. The next meeting will be held at the next meeting.

X. J. DIVENS THE RECIPIENT OF HONORS

Receives President's Cup as Best Marksman at Rifle and Revolver Contest.

In the presence of the judges, the executive officers, the captains of the teams of the Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver club, in the office of President E. A. Wagner, at 11 o'clock this morning, President Wagner formally presented the president's trophy, a handsome silver cup, to X. J. Divens, the winner of the contest for that trophy several weeks ago. Addressing the assemblage and Mr. Divens, Mr. Wagner said:

"Gentlemen: At the present time, the most important subject in the minds of American people is the question of the successful prosecution of the war. Among numerous other things it requires that a great many of our men know how to properly handle and use the service rifle. Anything which can be done to encourage better performance in the use of the service rifle in any way, shape or manner, either by encouraging greater efforts on the part of other men by demonstration of personal prowess, or teaching others to attain this prowess, is of benefit to our own people and our own government.

"We have recently had a competition for a silver cup which was presented for the purpose of encouraging the club members to strive for better performance. One among several of the members who have been exceptionally industrious in perfecting themselves in the use of the service rifle demonstrated in an actual competition that he is capable, by making a better record than the other men who entered this contest. It would be a great pleasure to have each and every one of you to attain the distinction of winning such a prize. However, there being only one winner in this contest, it is with great pleasure that I present this cup to Mr. X. J. Divens, the winner of this contest, and I trust he will consider it of greater value than represented intrinsically, because it shows he is encouraging, by deeds of his own, one of those things which all of our citizens, young and old, should learn to do thoroughly and successfully."

Mr. Divens responded appropriately, expressing thanks for the trophy and a determination to keep up his interest in the rifle club, and following his remarks came a general discussion of the rifle club question. President Wagner remarked that every conscriptive man should be able to shoot well and that a member of the Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver club who had participated in any of the target practices was better fitted for service in the army than one who had not that experience. This sentiment seemed to be held by all present and acting upon it the men present decided to at once inaugurate a membership campaign which would not be allowed to end until the roll of the club had reached the 1,000 mark.

The presentation of the president's cup this morning was the third event of the kind since the organization of the Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver club. The first was presented by Dr. C. M. Leslie, the second by Supt. E. A. Wagner, and the third by E. A. Wagner. The next event of this character will be the presentation to H. A. Hartman by Mr. Wood of the James J. Wood trophy, also a silver cup, which will take place either this afternoon or tomorrow.

Winter, who during the latter's absence in the Russian railway service, is now employed on non-essentials, that this capacity should be directed toward the relief of the railroads, who are badly in need of steel for equipment and new work absolutely essential to the winning of the war. Normally the railroads are supposed to take more than half the output of steel, while during the past year they have taken hardly any."

SMALLPOX EPIDEMIC IS GREATLY LESSENED

But One New Case is Reported at Board of Health Office Friday.

For the first time since the starting of the smallpox epidemic two weeks ago does the health board feel confident that it has the spreading of the disease in check. Practically all of the people subject to exposure have been vaccinated and with the exception of a few of the big firms of the city have agreed to give them the board feels confident that no more cases will be heard from within a short time.

But one case was reported up to late Friday, that of Glen Potts, 1707 Grant avenue. Another case of diphtheria, however, was reported in the Kruse home, 1249 Summit street.

The taking up of vaccination work by the factories of Fort Wayne will prove a big factor in stamping out the epidemic. The Wash-shops have already vaccinated a number of their employees and the General Electric works is considering taking up the project.

The resolutions for the widening of Dayton avenue, the paving of Woodview avenue, the excavation of an alley and the laying of a sewer were all adopted. The Wayne Oil Tank and Pump works presented a petition to improve Cochran street and to vacate that part of Canal street north of the New York, Chicago & St. Louis railroad. The petition was filed.

BELGIUM'S BLOODIEST RIVAL AS "COCKPIT OF EUROPE" IS FRIULI REGION IN NORTHERN ITALY

Piazza Vittorio Emanuele, at Udine, Italy, showing some of the beautiful buildings that have fallen into von Mackensen's hands and may be pillaged and destroyed by the German invaders. At the left is the town hall, built in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. The statue beneath the clocktower is that of Victor Emmanuel I., the first king of reunited Italy.

"The cockpit," Belgium, has but one rival as a battlefield of the nations. This unfortunate belongs to Friuli, or their province of Udine, in northern Italy, where the Italian and Teutonic armies are now operating.

Friuli, like Flanders, is a great frontier plain, which has been soaked with human blood from the beginning of history. Cividale, burned by the Germans October 28, was founded by Julius Caesar as an outpost for Rome, and with all the other towns of Friuli it has been put to the torch by successive hordes of barbarians and would-be world conquerors as they swept through the Alpine passes toward Rome.

Alaric and the Visigoths ravaged the plain, 403 A. D.

Attila and his Huns followed in 452. What he did then has come down through the centuries as a synonym for war at its worst—but it was doubtless child's sport compared to what the modern Hun does.

Theodorico, the Ostrogoth, came next, and won one of the decisive bat-ties of the world. Charlemagne, Barbarossa, Napoleon, have camped on this field of Mars. Franks and Lombards, Patriarchs and Doges have ruled over Friuli, and two or three times in every century the Isouzo and the Tagliamento have run red.

In 1797 Friuli was divided by the fortunes of war, between Venice and Austria, and in 1866 the Venetian territory was handed over to Italy.

Friuli, like Belgium, has beautiful historic architectural monuments. The Palazzo Comunale, or town hall of Udine, erected in 1457, is in the style of the famous ducal palace in Venice. Built of red and white marble, it is one of the loveliest things in all Italy. It will hardly escape the tragic fate of the art treasures of northern France and Flanders.

Udine is but 10 miles from the wall of the Alps, the Austrian frontier, and 84 miles by rail northeast of Venice. Until the present disaster, it has been the base of Italian military operations. It is important strategically because it is backed by the mountains and is situated at the junction of two railways, one leading to Trieste, one to Venice.

The Tagliamento rises with extraordinary rapidity in floodtime. Formerly it spread itself out over the plain, but modern engineers have confined it between mighty dikes. The river brings down tons of sand and stones in its short swift run from the mountains to the sea, and since it can no longer spread them in a thin layer over a large area, it fills up its bed with deep deposits every year. The walls of its dikes have therefore to be raised at regular intervals, so that now the town of Cividale, on the left bank of the river, lies some 30 feet below the stream. In the season of the great spring floods watchmen are stationed day and night, upon the Tagliamento's dikes.

The Piave, where Cadorna must establish his defense, used to cover a mile wide, in olden days it checked many an invading host of barbarians. Now its old bed is a stony stretch of sand, bordering the stone walls which confine its waters.

If your offer SHOULD interest a possible buyer of real estate, and you make the "why" plain, you'll be signing a deed of conveyance shortly.

GOOD OPENING MEETS

Stock Markets Recoil Under Discouraging News from Abroad.

New York, Nov. 9.—Investment shares were in demand at the opening of today's stock market, although the list as a whole showed further hesitation. United States Steel opened at a slight gain which was soon increased to 1 1/2 points and Bethlehem steel rose 2 points. Ralls were irregular, Pacifics and coals showing underlying firmness. Inactive specialties and utilities were again reactionary.

Further discouraging advices from abroad and new minimums for British, French and Russian bonds, also Russian and Italian exchange, caused a general setback in the first hour. United States steel reacted to 90 1/4 and other stocks fell 1 to 2 points under their best. Ralls in marines, rails and steels hardened prices again at noon. Liberty 4s held at par, but the 3 1/2s made a new low record on the decline from 99.38 to 99.23.

Business Interests Help.

Announcement received today from the headquarters of the S. S. Kresge stores, at Detroit, by F. H. Lewis, manager of the Fort Wayne store, shows the deep interest in the Y. M. C. A. campaign on the part of the largest business interests. One-half of the gross receipts of each store next Tuesday, November 13, will be given to the local campaign committee. In order to increase the sales, the following arrangement is made: To the store showing the greatest percentage of increase Tuesday over the previous Tuesday, the company will give each saleslady in that store during the week an extra dollar. If the same store has the greatest percentage of increase for the week, the amount will be doubled. Mr. Lewis states that the arrangement will be entered into here with enthusiasm and the entire sales force is looking forward to a record-breaking sales day, with the hope of making the campaign contribution an immense one.

Employees of the Fort Wayne store will hold a meeting Monday morning to prepare for the work here.

More Enthusiastic Words.

B. J. Griswold, at publicity headquarters, reports many new statements of endorsement of next week's campaign.

In a statement concerning the Y. M. C. A. campaign, William E. Mossman says: "I am heartily in favor of the Y. M. C. A. war work campaign. I believe this Y. M. C. A. work to be an absolute necessity among our soldiers, and next to the Red Cross and the regular demands of the government, they should have our most hearty support. The boys abroad are sure to get lonesome and discouraged at times, and that is where the Y. M. C. A. comes in to make them feel at home; to give them a little something of the United States on foreign soil. If those boys are willing to sacrifice their time and the comforts of home, and even their lives, we who stay at home should certainly support them with our dollars."

Says W. H. Shambaugh: "From the evidence at hand we are justified in concluding that the war will continue for at least a year or more. That the allies will win is a foregone conclusion, but to do it men and money must be provided. The men who are called upon to risk their lives and endure the hardships of war are entitled not alone to the sympathy and admiration of the stay-at-home, but to all the necessities and comforts that money can provide and opportunity will permit. The Young Men's Christian association is an organization that can furnish and efficiently distribute these essentials if money is provided. The cause is a righteous one and deserving of the moral and financial support of every one. Therefore, the campaign for the purposes announced by the association should be enthusiastically supported. Those that cannot give should at least encourage those that can."

William H. Scheiman says: "The American Y. M. C. A. will be the most important institution in the European battlefields. Ministering as it does, to the spiritual, mental and bodily welfare of the soldier, its presence is bound to improve the morals of our own and our allies' armies."

D. W. McMillan, president of the McMillan company, says: "One of the greatest forces at work in the great world war, both at home and abroad, is the Y. M. C. A. No man doubts this who is informed. Every man owes it to his country and his God to be informed. Men with 'ice shush' trickling through their veins must fail to respond. Men with red blood must and will pay. May the God of our fathers witness the unselfish service of thousands in Fort Wayne, in this great campaign."

Says E. A. Crane: "On my return from South Bend a few days ago I had the opportunity to talk to three officers of the United States army who were on their way from Fort Funston to report at New York and from there they did not know where they would go; and I asked them about the Y. M. C. A. work in the cantonments. I told them we were going to put on a campaign in the near future. These officers told me it meant a great deal to the private in the armies, and that the buildings at Fort Funston were crowded every night. They said that if the American people who did not have to serve in the army realized what it meant to these men they would make sacrifices to raise the money necessary to carry on the work. One of these men was a major, and he explained to me that he thought it was important that the men be made strong in mind and body and that it was to train them in war tactics. It seems to me the smallest thing that we can do is to be liberal with our money and try to make the soldiers' lives as pleasant as possible when he is willing to give up his life so that those who remain at home may enjoy the privileges and comforts this country affords."

Says Frank E. Bohn: "There are very grave and serious problems before us just now, but that gravity and seriousness is nothing, to my mind, with what we may expect if the war continues, and in the best judgment of many who are in a position to predict with some degree of accuracy, it will of necessity continue for several years. Let us, therefore, awaken to our responsibilities. Let us discard all semblance of apathy and insensibility to the seriousness of our present and future situation. Let us realize today our weighty responsibilities. Let us set forth to discharge them as Americans. The work of the Y. M. C. A. in the camps and at the front is surely of utmost importance and it should not be necessary to go into detail as to the good to be accomplished. Let us, therefore, give to this cause gladly and liberally, considering it a duty as well as a pleasure. There are not and will not be any American slackers at the front. The boys have offered their lives to protect us here at home and it seems that we are doing but little by contributing to their welfare through the Y. M. C. A. Red Cross, Liberty Loan, Camp Community fund, etc. Who is the 'slacker'? The man of military age who hesitates about offering his very life to the cause or the dyspeptic 'tightwad,' exempt from service, who keeps his hand on his pocketbook in these days. Think it over! Let's not only do our bit, but let's give freely in these things. Let's give freely and gladly, and rejoice that we can give and make it possible to win this war in the least possible time."

Says E. W. Puckett: "I am certainly in hearty accord with the Y. M. C. A. war-work campaign. Will be glad to do anything I can to further this great work and feel that everyone should support it to the limit."

Says E. J. Little: "It is my honest opinion that if the men and women of Fort Wayne could really know the good that is being done by the Y. M. C. A. war department and the great necessity for it, they could rather than see that work stop, give every dollar they possess and then mortgage their earnings for the rest of their lives. Fortunately, this is not necessary. Just a few thousand dollars from this beloved and wealthy community is all that is needed at this time. How thankful we should be for our safety and for the privilege of taking part in this ennobling work!"

Dr. Drayer's Statement.

Dr. L. P. Drayer thus states his views: "The demand for every possible force to be enlisted against the contraction and spread of venereal disease in the United States and every other army, is so apparent that it needs no further comment. The Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus, in their fight for the comfort and entertainment of the men in camps and at the front, should be supported as heartily as the Red Cross and the Liberty Loan movements. To have a boy leave home in perfect health and to return with a disease to be transmitted through two or three generations is worse than death a thousand times. With all my might I will support your efforts."

B. Paul Mossman gives this expression of his views: "I believe the needs of the Y. M. C. A. work both in the cantonments at home and in the camps abroad for our soldiers, is most urgent. In fact, I have agreed with myself, to limit my contributions during this war to three objects, all of which are under the control of the government. First, the government itself, in the way of Liberty Bonds, and taxes, and second, to the Red Cross, for its work among the sick and wounded in the hospitals. Third, the Y. M. C. A. work which cares for the morale of the soldiers, providing them with home comforts, amusement in the way of moving pictures, victrolas, music, entertainments, athletic sports, etc. It seems to me that these three objects ought to cover all of the necessities for the soldiers both at home and abroad. There certainly is no more important work than this work of the Y. M. C. A., which cares for the spiritual and physical welfare of our boys abroad. The government recognizes the necessity of this work and has asked for the soldiers' people in America, not only for this work among our soldiers, but also urged the work of the Y. M. C. A. among the French, the Italian and Russian armies. These appeals for this Y. M. C. A. work have come direct from the French, Italian and Russian governments. I sincerely hope this campaign in Fort Wayne and Allen county for our share in this great work, will be most successful."

SUMMARY OF THE

Petrograd is under control of the Maximists, while Premier has fled the Russian capital.

The downfall of the provisional government's authority, in Petrograd at least, came suddenly and without great bloodshed and several ministers of Kerensky's cabinet are in prison.

Unofficial opinion in allied capitals seems to be that the Maximist attempt to guide the destinies of troubled Russia will be short lived. Civil war with the more conservative elements of Russia opposed to the extremists of Petrograd is not unlooked for, and in some quarters, it is thought that even now Kerensky at the head of loyal troops may be marching against the Bolsheviks.

Dispatches received from Petrograd are subject to the censorship of the Maximists and probably portray only one side of the situation, but the present outbreak of the radicals appears to have been more successful than the abortive effort of last July. Nicolai, who fled from Petrograd after the July failure, is again leading the Maximists, who were aided by most of the Petrograd garrison and sailors from the Baltic fleet.

The action of the Maximists had been approved by the all-Russian congress of workmen and soldiers' council.

A proclamation has been issued by the revolutionary government declaring that its purposes to negotiate an "immediate democratic peace." It also plans to turn over all the land to the peasantry and to summon the constituent assembly.

Little serious fighting attended the revolt, the most important being the bombardment of the winter palace, the seat of the provisional government by the warship Aurora and the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul.

The palace held out for four hours, answering the bigger guns of the warship and fortress with machine guns and rifles before its defenders surrendered.

In northern Italy the Austro-Germans have forced a crossing of the Livenza river and the Italians are retreating toward the Piave, the last strong natural line before Venice. General Cadorna's troops are making a more spirited resistance to the forward movement of the invaders, especially on the upper Tagliamento and the upper Livenza.

The larger units of the Italian army are retreating without molestation from the Austro-Germans but strong rear guards are giving the Teutons battle at several points. An Italian attempt to hold out on the middle Tagliamento resulted in the force being cut off and 17,000 Italians, including a general, being taken by the Austro-Germans, increasing their captures, according to Berlin, to 250,000.

Along the Livenza General Cadorna's soldiers apparently were more successful. The invaders crossed the Livenza only after a vicious attack and the signal for their downfall and annihilation of the revolution in a national and a patriotic sense which is

Our Big Busy Blouse Shop Has a Word to Say

Our buyer of Waists came to us while our ad man was busy writing our big Coat ad and told him she had made a big waist purchase of over 1,000 Georgette and Crepe de Chine Waists, which she had just unpacked, and could have them all ready and marked for this sale by this morning. She begged so hard that we finally consented. After the ad man looked over the waists in question he was amazed at the splendid values. Suffice it to say we are going to have the entire lot of 1,000 (one thousand) waists on sale today and Saturday. Just to give you a faint idea of the big values in store for you we are going to sell $5.95, $7.95 and $8.95 Georgette and Crepe de Chine Waists in all the new suit shades, blacks, whites, and flesh, during this two days' sale today and Saturday, Nov. 9 and 10, special. $3.98 of extraordinary animation. There is a perpetual coming and going of representatives from the provinces participating in the congress, delegates on the way to convey orders to the soldiers, sailors and militia and the red guard. A strong armed guard occupied the interior and surrounded the building while several armored motor cars bearing anti-aircraft guns are stationed in adjacent streets to insure the protection to the headquarters.

"The gardens around the institute are filled with motor cars with which to carry the delegates around town. Nicolai Lenin, accompanied by his lieutenant, Zinovieff, received an enthusiastic reception on his arrival. They were scarcely recognized, Lenin having shaved off his mustache and Zinovieff having grown a beard.

"From the institute the revolutionary committee is issuing orders for the occupation of the railroad stations and governing toward the Plave, the last strong natural line before Venice. General Cadorna's troops are making a more spirited resistance to the forward movement of the invaders, especially on the upper Tagliamento and the upper Livenza.

The larger units of the Italian army are retreating without molestation from the Austro-Germans but strong rear guards are giving the Teutons battle at several points. An Italian attempt to hold out on the middle Tagliamento resulted in the force being cut off and 17,000 Italians, including a general, being taken by the Austro-Germans, increasing their captures, according to Berlin, to 250,000.

Along the Livenza General Cadorna's soldiers apparently were more successful. The invaders crossed the Livenza only after a vicious attack and the signal for their downfall and annihilation of the revolution in a national and a patriotic sense which is bound to assure unity against enemies within and without. Russia as a whole is about to rally around a national government and form for it a rampart of flesh and blood. A radical surgical operation was perhaps necessary after the misunderstanding caused by General Korniloff's move, in order to assure the salvation of immortal Russia."

To a representative of another newspaper M. Maklakoff said he had received no news concerning the claim of the Bolsheviks to have succeeded in a coup d'etat and that he discredited the news.

"While it is possible they have had a momentary success," the ambassador said, "it is unlikely that the statement concerning peace proposals is true. It is too soon, however, for the result of the movement to be known."

This represents the view generally held here. It is pointed out in the press that according to their own statement the Maximists seized the Central Telegraph office as one of their first steps so that all news from Petrograd should be received with reserve until more impartial information received. Nevertheless the extreme gravity of the situation both from the viewpoint of Russia and of the effect on the war as a whole is emphasized, and fears are expressed that, in the words of Gustave Herve in La Victoire "these unfortunate creatures may sign an armistice with Germany and dishonor their country by abandoning the allies in the midst of the struggle."

WOMEN DID NOT FIGHT.

Petrograd, Nov. 8.—The women's battalion which was among the defenders of the winter palace surrendered yesterday before the battle began.

A despatch received from Petrograd last night said the women's battalion and the other government forces holding the palace were compelled to capitulate under the fire of the cruiser Aurora and the cannon of the St. Peter and St. Paul fortress. The Maximist account of the uprising said there had been no bloodshed.

Leaders of the prohibition forces are making open accusations of fraud. These accusations are directed toward Cincinnati, where the anti-prohibition men rolled up a majority of 57,032 by the unofficial count. This figure, however shows a decrease in the wet vote in Hamilton county of more than 10,000 as compared with the vote of 1915.

Dry leaders have already given warning that in case they lose the question will be brought up again next year, a proceeding permitted under the state law.

A majority of the larger counties undoubtedly will report their official totals today.

WOULD BE MURDERER IN BEST OF SPIRITS

Will Be Held in Allen County Jail Until Chicago Men Arrive.

Louis Pfeiffer, held at the police station on a charge of shooting his wife, is in the same good spirits that he has been since his arrest. He appeared in police court Friday morning and was ordered held. Officers from Chicago are expected to arrive the first of next week to take the man back to city where the shooting occurred, for a hearing.

Pfeiffer still insists that he is glad that he shot his wife, but that he hopes she will recover. In the meanwhile the victim of the affair is in a critical condition in a Chicago hospital. Pfeiffer states that his wife refused to go back to their home in Houston, Texas, with him, but insisted in living in a disreputable house with her daughter in Chicago. This and the refusal to talk to him led to the shooting.

Mrs. Pfeiffer's former husband, John Heffelfinger, talked with Pfeiffer a short time before he shot the woman. Pfeiffer told him his troubles and threatened to kill his wife. Up to this time the accused man has made no plans for defense and it is probable that he will not see an attorney before returning to Chicago.

GERMAN ADMIRALTY STATES EXCEPTION

Doesn't Agree With British Summary of Tonnage Loss by Submarines.

Amsterdam, Nov. 9.—The German admiralty has issued a lengthy statement to the speech made recently in the house of commons by Sir Eric Geddes, first lord of the admiralty. In reference to the losses of British ships, the statement says why Sir Eric omitted sinkings in the Mediterranean and contends that allowing for this omission and for the assumable fact that Sir Eric gave net tonnage, while German figures nearly correspond.

In regard to the losses of submarines the statement says:

"Sir Eric Geddes attempted with inadequate means to reduce the German success by half and correspondingly increase submarine losses. With occasional fluctuations, which are inevitable in connection with this new method of warfare, the submarine war goes unswervingly forward and becomes more effective every day. Despite all British official attempts at denial, it assuredly will attain the goal aimed at."

The statement refers at length to Sir Eric's explanation of why the British fleet did not enter the Baltic. It taunts the British with remaining safely behind mine and net defenses and says it was fear of being beaten by the German high seas fleet when it emerged from the great belt that induced the British grand fleet not to go to Russia's aid.

In his address in the house on Nov. 8, Sir Eric stated the five main figures on British or allied merchant losses. He said, however, that the net reduction of British tonnage since the beginning of the war in ships of more than 1,600 tons was under 2,500,000 tons gross, of 14 per cent. Sir Eric declared that between 40 and 50 per cent of the German submarines operating in the North sea, the Arctic and the Atlantic since the beginning of the war had been sunk.

IS A GOOD THIEF WHEN HE IS DRUNK

James Martin Claims He Did Not Know That He Was Stealing.

The stealing while drunk plea did not work in police court Friday morning. James Martin, an employee of the Gas company, made this excuse when charged with larceny. It developed, however, that Martin planned his theft with more skill than usually accredited to a drunken man. He obtained a lot of supplies from the National Mill Supply company, stating that it was for the Gas company. What happened to the der he used the telephone and then gave the clerk a requisition number. The goods amounted to almost $24. Judge Kerr assessed a fine of $10 and costs and sixty days on the county roads.

EARNED FIFTY CENTS.

Frank Knapp, a Lansing, Mich., product, stole a bicycle and tried to sell it for three dollars at a pawn shop. In court he testified that he stole because he did not have any money, earning but fifty cents per day at a local lunch room. The court decided that this was no excuse with the present number of good jobs open and gave him $10 and costs and thirty days on Allen county roads.

THREE TRAIN CLIMBERS.

John Murphy, James Hayes and Ed Jordan, three vagrants arrested for train climbing, were on the docket Friday morning. Hayes and Jordan were let go, while Murphy was sent into the custody of the sheriff to be handed over to the federal authorities. He gave his age as 20 years but looks decidedly of draft age.

GET CONTINUANCE.

But two drunks appeared in court and both drew continuances. Jim Henly's case was continued to November 12 while George Weber will appear again on November 13.

LOCAL MARKETS

LIGHT DAY ON LOCAL MARKETS FRIDAY

Fine Weather Expected to Bring in New Corn.—Oats Continues Scarce.

In spite of the fact that the continued bright weather of the last few days was expected to hurry farmers in bringing an abundant supply of new corn to city markets but little was in evidence Friday. One load of new corn brought $1.15 and one load of old found ready market at $1.75. Saturday will no doubt prove a big day for corn as farmers have been busy all week husking the grain.

The amount of hay received in the past few days has not been up to the usual standard of quantity. Nine loads were received Friday and brought $29 a ton. Oats have been scarce all season and only two loads were brought to the market. The top price raised to 61c a bushel while the bottom price dropped 1c to 57c a bushel.

STORE FARM WATER AND PREVENT WASTE

Reservoirs Properly Built Conserve Supply for Irrigation and Stock.

Washington, Nov. 9.—If the water which goes to waste on the farm in time of plenty were conserved for times of drought, gardens and fields could be saved from failure and live stock from a sacrifice market. Farm reservoirs store water of streams, pumped water or run-off water until it is needed. A widely increased interest in pump irrigation has created a demand for storage facilities to retain the water lifted by the pump overnight and to provide a large irrigation stream for the following day. That farmers who contemplate building reservoirs may be properly guided in the work, a new publication, Farmers' Bulletin 828, "Farm Reservoirs," discussing the various types and details of construction, recently has been published by the United States department of agriculture. The use to which the farm reservoir is to be put should determine the type of construction, according to the writer of the bulletin. It is intended to use any part of the stored water for drinking or even for culinary purposes, the entire supply must be kept free from pollution, while if the supply is intended for irrigation only, the purity of the water need not be considered.

If a reservoir is intended for both irrigation and the watering of farm animals, care should be taken in planning and building so that damage cannot be done by the trampling of stock. Problems of building, how to "puddle" an unlined reservoir, how to build inlets, outlets, waste ways, embankments, and how to protect the reservoir—all are discussed and illustrated in the bulletin.

The most common source of supply for farm reservoir is the well from which water is raised to the necessary height by a windmill, gas engine, or electric motor. The flow from springs, lakes, flowing wells, and small creeks from another source of supply. Also, in that borderland between humidity and aridity known as the Great Plains area, an throughout the arid region, the so-called "dry creeks" carry considerable run-off, the specialist declares, often can be led into a reservoir and stored for watering stock and irrigating land. In the Atlantic and east central states and, in fact, throughout the entire humid region water to fill farm reservoirs generally can be obtained readily at low cost from springs, lakes, streams, and shallow wells. Bogs or muck beds, which bound particularly in the Atlantic coast states, often can be converted at small cost from mosquito-breeding grounds into serviceable reservoirs.

Not a Corn or Callus on Feet

Apply few drops, then lift them off without pain.

A noted Cincinnati authority discovered a new ether compound and called it Freezone and it now can be had in little bottles for a few cents from any drug store.

You simply apply a few drops of Freezone upon a tender corn or painful callus and instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it off with fingers.

No pain, not a bit of soreness, either when applying Freezone or afterwards, and it doesn't even irritate the skin.

Hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes, also toughened calluses, just shrivel up and lift off so easy. It is wonderful! It works like a charm. Try it!

Women should keep Freezone on their dressers and never let a corn ache twice.

MARVELOUS ADVANCE OF SURGERY IN WAR

Situation as to Tetanus is Altered Almost Beyond Recognition.

Behind British Lines in France, Oct. 18.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The American doctors who are now at work in various parts of the British front, find that army surgery has advanced just as rapidly since the beginning of the war as any other branch of war's activities. In the early days of the war, wounds were of an average gravity far beyond that expected from the experience of previous wars, while tetanus, gas-gangrene and severe suppuration, were general and hundreds died of comparatively trivial injuries for lack of early and adequate treatment.

This situation has now been altered almost beyond recognition. Serum treatment has almost done away with tetanus, while earlier and more energetic surgical treatment has largely defeated gas-gangrene. More and more of the major surgical work is being carried out in the casualty clearing stations, and some of the most famous of the American surgeons have spent most of their time since their arrival, in advanced hospitals within sound of the German guns.

The key to the whole improvement in surgical results has been the pushing of the surgeon nearer and nearer to the fighting lines. The enemy has endeavored to counter this by persistent bombing of the advanced hospitals, but the saving of life is more than worth the loss of life, and suitable defensive measures are being taken.

The doctor, as distinguished from the surgeon, has also accomplished wonders in this war. The small mortality from disease in the British and French armies is due to his constant vigilance. His two great weapons have been sanitation and prophylactic inoculation. In a scene of unparalleled confusion and in an area of quite primitive sanitation, his exertions have resulted in an astonishing degree of sanitary efficiency. Refuse is destroyed or deeply buried; battlefields in many cases are cleaned up within a few days; pure water supplies are provided. Everywhere behind the immediate front, order and cleanliness are the rule.

The rule of the army medical officer is not always welcomed by the inhabitants, but it works with magnificent success, until camps and towns, which in previous wars would have been death traps, have a mortality as low as the most approved health resort. The routine work of these medical officers has probably saved more lives than all the other medical work of the war.

IRISH HARVEST SAFE.

Dublin, Nov. 9.—According to the department of agriculture, the Irish harvest is now all safe and has proved very good. Potatoes have been a splendid crop, and oats, wheat and barley show good results. Nearly three-quarters of a million additional acres were brought under tillage during the year. There was no shortage of labor anywhere and Ireland will have plenty of food for herself and for export.

MUCH INTEREST IN OHIO-WISCONSIN GAME

Defeat for the Buckeyes May Mean Elimination from 1917 Race.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 9.—An important contest between Ohio State and Wisconsin, and the intersectional struggle involving Michigan and Cornell top the Western Conference football schedule Saturday (Nov. 10). Neither Chicago nor Illinois, which remain undefeated in the championship race, will go into action, these eleven, as well as Minnesota, Indiana and Purdue, having an "off day."

Interest centers in the Ohio State-Wisconsin game, which is to be decided at Madison, as defeat for Ohio, the present conference champion, may mean its elimination from the 1917 race. Although the Buckeyes rule a slight favorite, critics agree that either eleven has a chance. Wisconsin displayed a reversal of form in triumphing over Minnesota 10 to 7 last Saturday and the victory has instilled in the Badgers a new fighting spirit.

The game probably will furnish an individual battle between "Chick" Harley, All-American halfback of the Buckeyes, and Eber Simpson, the spectacular star back of the Wisconsin eleven. Both throw forward passes and do the kicking for their teams. Simpson demonstrated his ability as a kicker when he booted a drop kick goal from the thirty-yard line that started Wisconsin's victory against Minnesota.

He also accomplished wonders in hurling forward passes. In three periods, Simpson got away with ten out of twenty-five such attempts, for gains totaling 138 yards. Frequently he shot passes for twenty to forty yards.

Preparation for the game has to handle a huge crowd at the Michigan-Cornell game in Ann Arbor. It will be "home-coming" day at the Wolverine institution and thousands of alumni are planning on making the trip. A crowd of 25,000 is anticipated.

Michigan will go into the game the favorite, as Cornell is not regarded as formidable as in former years. The men of Yost have not been defeated nor even seriously threatened this season and the eleven has shown improvement in each game. Reports from the camp of the Wolverines indicate that Coach Yost is confident of victory.

Outside the Ohio State-Wisconsin game and the clash between Michigan and Cornell, few games of importance are on Saturday's schedule. The Michigan Aggies-Northwestern contest at Evanston will be the only attraction for Chicagoans. Iowa will take on South Dakota at Iowa City and Notre Dame will face Morningside at Sioux City. Wabash and DePauw will lock horns at Indianapolis.

Coach Murphy of the Northwestern squad has little fear of the Michigan Aggies, who, in previous years, have out considerable figure in western football. The eleven this season failed to live up to its standard. The Aggies, however, are coming to Evanston determined to make amends for early season reverses. The team will be accompanied by a cadet band and a parade will precede the game. A section of the stands has been reserved for Chicago, Milwaukee and Fort Sheridan alumni of the college.

Although Notre Dame is an overwhelming favorite over morningside, Coach Harper of the Indiana institution, is taking no chances. After returning home from the victory over the Army last Saturday, Harper gave his players one day of rest and then began to drive them through hard scrimmages and signal practice. Pearson, the halfback, who was injured in the South Dakota game three weeks ago is rounding into form and may be in the game.

Iowa, which appears to have one of the weakest teams in the conference this season, hopes to break into the winning side of the column Saturday at the expense of South Dakota. The Hawkeyes made a creditable showing against the Great Lakes Naval Training Station eleven, a team composed of former college stars, last Saturday, although defeat was chalked up against them.

For the third consecutive year Indianapolis will be the battle ground of the annual game between Wabash and DePauw, with a team which lost to Purdue by one point, and which has won three other contests without being scored on, is a slight favorite. Wabash started the season with a team largely composed of fresh material, having lost fourteen members of last year's squad to the military service.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT EXTENDS PRIVILEGES

Indianapolis, Nov. 8.—For the first time in ten years the three local high schools will be permitted to engage in interscholastic athletic contests, other than in a state-wide tournament. The right to play among themselves, however, is withheld as is also the right to engage in interscholastic football contests. The decision was reached by the school board on recommendations made by E. U. Graf, the new superintendent of schools. It is believed the privileges will be extended before long to permit the three local high schools to schedule basketball and base ball games among themselves and will lead later to permission to play football.

Football has been eliminated from many high schools of the state and according to alumni of the various colleges and universities in the state has made it harder for the colleges to obtain proper material for winning athletic teams.

Basketball at present holds the center of the stage and efforts are being made to book full schedules by the three schools.

SEMINOLES VS. BOY SCOUTS.

The Seminole Basketball team will oppose the Boy Scouts at the scouts' gym tonight. Both are putting up an excellent game and a good game is looked for. The Seminoles will line up as follows: Ankenbruck and Kohlschacher, forwards; Haffner, center; Vesser, Johann and Kahler, guards.

WABASH AND DEPAUW READY FOR SATURDAY

Eleven at Greencastle University is Picked a Favorite to Win.

Indianapolis, Nov. 9.—Wabash and DePauw will meet in football at Washington park here Nov. 10 for the third consecutive year. For the first time in several seasons, the eleven of the Greencastle university is picked a favorite to win over the Little Giants from Crawfordsville. Impartial observers, however, regard the edge as small and one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a class between the two institutions is expected to be present. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

The Old Gold has one of the best teams in the state, having been scored on only once in the five games that it has played this season. This was when it was defeated by Purdue 7 to 6, the margin of a goal from touchdown giving the Boilermakers a victory. DePauw has won the other four contests it has played.

With fourteen men of last year's squad in military service and with the declaring ineligible of Fullback Bacon and Stonebraker, center, Wabash has been compelled to build an almost entirely new eleven. The Little Giants, however, have come forward rapidly in the last three weeks and Coach Townsend and his assistants are expected to present a smoothly working machine in the annual clash with their old rivals.

How equally the two institutions have been matched in the gridiron sport since they began meeting more than a quarter of a century ago may be judged from the fact that Wabash has won only two more victories than DePauw. Wabash has won both the contests played in Indianapolis, the score last year being 26 to 13 and in 1915, 34 to 0.

NO DUCKS? THEN TRY MUDHENS—NOT HARD TO SHOOT AND THEY MAKE MIGHTY GOOD MEAL

BY MORRIS ACKERMAN.
Fish and Game Expert.

Mudhens are good to eat! Consequently they are worth getting though they don't offer the sport that is provided in duck hunting.

Like any other line of hunting, either for game animals or game birds, there is always the "poorest sport" of the bunch—in the case of mudhens we have agreed in our own mind that for real "bird shooting" the little slate-colored mudhens ain't much to brag about.

But they are not half bad as food and always offer "something" to the duck hunter who finds conditions of weather so nice that the ducks are conspicuous by being somewhere else.

The mudhen is in reality nothing more than a water chicken, a vegetable feeder, that sticks around on the lakes and ponds until either he comes a fit subject for the hunter's table, or the water freezes up and he wings slowly southward to open water.

Mudhens should be hunted in lakes and ponds from a boat with the stern of the boat going forward and an oarsman (punter) quietly "pushing" you ahead that you may get your shooting as the birds fly out from the little coves and bays along the line of the shore.

They are slow of wing and for that reason you want to aim at them rather than to lead them, as is the case with ducks. Use a light load and a gun that scatters pretty well for best results.

After you get ready to prepare them for the table skin them out, cut off the heads and legs (at first joint), parboil, adding a little vinegar, then fry in butter or bacon grease. Or you can stew them the same as with domestic chickens.

A hunter, who by the way is usually hungry, can devour from three to five mudhens at a crack and from a standpoint of "eats" the muddy makes a pretty fair substitute for a real wild duck.

SPORT CRITICS PICK NEBRASKA TO WIN

Missouri Valley Conference Championship is Still in Great Doubt.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 9.—Entering upon the last lap of the Missouri Valley conference championship contest with the wire at Thanksgiving in sight, the representatives of the Valley schools have changed places in the averages. Ames after a flash of what seemed to be possible championship form in their first conference game against Missouri, lost their chance in the race and gave their place to the Kansas Jayhawkers, when the latter team defeated them by a 7 to 0 count at Lawrence.

The defeat, however, was largely a turn of luck for the Kansas team came in the fourth quarter after the two elevens had battled consistently at a 0 to 0 tie with the ball in the Kansas territory during the greater part of the first three periods. A second game might possibly bring a different score, but regardless of predictions and post-mortems upon the part of the Valley followers, the Jayhawkers jumped into a place of prominence in the contest.

The Kansas Aggies, at the top of the conference averages.

The Kansas team was able to score by means of a long forward pass, Nielsen to Lindsborg, thus breaking up the Valley hopes of the Iowa aggregation, unless there should be a further upset in the Valley averages by the games in November.

Despite the 20 to 0 defeat by Michigan, the Nebraska eleven stands the choice of the sport critics of the conference for the Valley title. The better Michigan team gave the Cornhuskers stage fright by scoring in the first period. However, unless the Cornhuskers are badly battered they will be in fighting trim for Missouri at their Lincoln meeting next Saturday and the possibilities are, according to the followers of the gridiron sport in the conference, that the Missourians will find difficulty in keeping the representatives of Nebraska.

The Kansas Aggies are picked for one of the three high places at the top of the conference final averages with Ames, Missouri, Washington and Duke permanently eliminated as far as a clean slate for the season is concerned. The Kansas farmers are biding their time and undoubtedly have the fastest aggregation they have been able to place on the gridiron in many years despite the general interference of the war with the sport in general.

Drake is fighting a hopeless battle and the victory of the Missourians over them by a 48 to 0 tally only served to enhance that weakness. The school has been making an uphill fight all season with the majority of its veterans in the army and the slowness of its coach also slackening its pace. Equally hopeless is the prospect of the Washington eleven, though apparently it is no fault of Coach Rutherford, but one rather to a dearth of material. The eleven last year under Coach Rutherford played a hair hearted game and experienced many shakeups during the season, an experiment Rutherford is again attempting this year without any apparent results.

We hope Gloucester is as good in football as he was in baseball. Just so he is no better.

Wisconsin and Ohio State will mix up in the biggest conference battle of the year Saturday. This will be the first real test for Ohio, but the Badgers have had several trying battles.

The victory of Wisconsin, last Saturday over the Gophers, makes them look like dangerous rivals for Ohio.

It wasn't so bad when a team had only one Harley to watch but it was real mean of the Buckeye coach to spring another one in Stinchcomb.

Wisconsin will keep Ohio busy watching Simpson, the Badger star.

A local sport writer serves notice that there will be no stopping of the Friars in the future. We give him credit for good judgment and sincere hope he is right.

OWEN M'INTOSH IS PROCLAIMED CHAMPION

ADVANCE SALE SHOWS RECORD ATTENDANCE

Friar-Racine Clash Promises to Be Hard Fought Battle All the Way.

The advance seat sale for the Friar-Racine battle opened Friday morning at the Meyer Bros. Co. drug store, Wayne and Calhoun streets, and as the number of reservations have already surpassed all previous records the largest crowd of the year is expected.

The Friars are expecting the hardest game of the year from all advance "doers," but are still just as confident of victory as ever. A win in this game will give the Friars an undisputed claim to the state championship as Hammond has already fallen before Racine's furious charges. The Racine team cancelled last Sunday's game with the Friars because several of their best men were injured in a previous game and their lineup was weakened. The Racine manager would not meet the local team unless he had his best lineup, which shows the rating the Badger team gives the Friars.

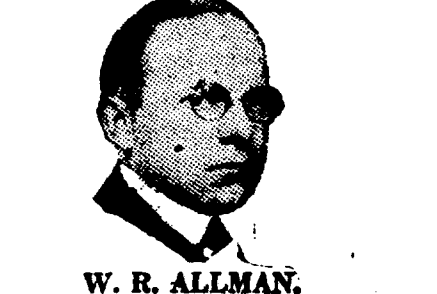

The Wisconsin team is composed of a number of army officers from neighboring training camps and the players are always in the best of condition. Gloucester, the giant right fielder of the Fort Wayne Central leaguers last season, is playing on the Racine eleven and from his showing is playing a whale of a game. Gloucester weighs 205 and is very proficient as a kicker.

The Friars will go in Sunday's game with about the same team that piled up a big score on the Toledo Maroons last Sunday. Helvie, the little end who made such a good showing in his first game, will be back again and Baujan, his teammate, will come along and may get into the fray before the final whistle. It is expected that Speck and Pliska will start at halves with Chambers at full. This is the Friars' most powerful offensive machine, generated by Dorais, one of the best thinkers in the game. Huntington, Ambrose, Smith and Young will be held ready to start at any time and can certainly give a good account of themselves all the way.

RAISES KITCHEN SINK; IS SOLVING HOUSING

First Woman Architect to Graduate From Columbia
Has New Ideas.

Special Dispatch from Frederick M. Kerby, of Our New York Bureau.
New York, Nov. 2.—For the first time in history woman, whose place is said to be in the home, is to have a full and free opportunity to say how the home shall be built.
A woman architect, Miss Marcia Mead, first woman architect to graduate from Columbia university, and whose firm has already achieved fame

In designing model homes, in consultation with government committees studying the big problems of how to house the workers crowding the industrial centers where Uncle Sam's munitions and supplies must be made. Miss Mead believes women will have to take hold of the housing question if houses are ever to be made into "homes."
"If woman's place is in the home, then a house has to be made a home and not a place," she told me.
Miss Mead has already proved she can design houses housewives will bless. She designed the model homes the Bridgeport Housing company is erecting now.
"I went into architecture because I was interested in city planning and community housing. I believe it is the principal business of the world's governments to see that people have comfortable and beautiful places to live—even if they are cheap. I have never found a house without something the matter with it from the woman's point of view. So I decided women ought to take a hand in house planning."
Miss Mead has uprooted the most sacred ideas of men architects and builders in her plans for Bridgeport's

new houses. The sinks in the kitchens are actually 38 inches from the floor, instead of the usual back-breaking 24 inches. There are two washtubs in all these houses, instead of one that the mere man builders insisted was enough.

"From time immemorial men have built kitchen sinks and wash trays too low. In consequence hundreds of thousands of women have bent their backs and shortened their lives needlessly," declared Miss Mead. "I had a terrible time inducing the Bridgeport Housing company to put in high sinks. And imagine a woman trying to do the washing in one tub!"

"The men working with me would not hear of raising the washtubs to the proper height," she said. "I had to take a piece of board to represent a washboard and show how I would have to bend over to do the washing to make my point."

Miss Mead shattered other time-worn man-made institutions. The houses she designed have no inner courts. Every room—even the bathroom, must have an outside window.

Window sills of the second-story windows are much higher than ordinary.

So many children fall out of second-story windows," said Miss Mead. "Women too, fall out and are accused of suicide when the builder really ought to be indicted for manslaughter. All our apartment house sills are too low. A child will climb a low window sill."

"There is another thing every house, even the smallest, should have—a backyard marked off from all the other backyards. Every family should have a piece of ground that is its own. Low fences or hedges will do. I never have known a family who did not want its own front door and its own backyard."

"The federal government will undoubtedly have to go into the business of housing the hundreds of thousands of workers and their families crowding our industrial cities to produce the things the government must have to win the war. But this housing effort—a billion dollars is little enough to start it—shall be carefully carried out. The house that will do for New England is not the kind for the middle west. People, city climate, everything must be studied. "And women, who have to live in houses more than men—ought to be consulted."

SUFFRAGISTS HISS PRESIDENT'S NAME

New York, Nov. 9.—President Wilson was hissed at a meeting held here under the auspices of the National Woman's party in celebration of the suffrage victory Tuesday in New York state. Several of the women who had served as pickets at the white house and who were arrested because of their activities, appeared in workhouse garb. It was when Dudley Field Malone was speaking that the president was hissed and Mr. Malone rebuked the outburst.

"Don't, don't, do that," he said; "you must not blame the president. He is isolated, away from the stream of things, surrounded by groups of advisers, and he hasn't got the truth about suffrage. He will get it."

Miss Mary Garrett-Hay, New York city, chairman of the woman suffrage party, which has attributed its success at the polls to President Wilson's endorsement, announced last night that the party organization would be continued to arouse women to their political responsibilities. One of the tasks to be undertaken will be to induce women whose husbands are not citizens, to become naturalized.

An Old Man's Stomach.
As we grow older and less active, less and less food is required to meet the demands of our bodies. If too much is habitually taken, the stomach will rebel. When a man reaches the advanced age of 55 or 60, you will find that he is a light eater. Be as careful as you will, however, you will occasionally eat more than you should and will feel the need of Chamberlain's Tablets to correct the disorder. These tablets do not contain poison, but strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. They also cause a gentle movement of the bowels.—Advertisement.

AMERICAN HELLFIRE TO OUTBATTLE GAS

New Devices Perfected to Make 'Em Sorry They Tried Flames.

(Special Dispatch from Our Washington Bureau.)

Washington, Nov. 9.—Although approximately 20,300 German patents are now open for exploitation by American business men, no great industrial changes may be looked for. The German patents cover nothing fundamental. Most of them protect minor industries, or details of larger ones.

The most valuable relate to chemical formulas for drugs and dyes; next in order are the patents for oil engines and electrical devices.

While German patents have been taken out right during the war, no patents for military inventions have been applied for.

None of the much-heralded processes for manufacturing substitute cloth out of wood pulp, synthetic rubber, or the other "war inventions" have been protected by patent applications in the United States.

While the patent office records disclose that the Germans were inventing all sorts of war devices before the war, including liquid flame projectors and other devices barred by the Geneva and Hague treaties, none of the patents on record here are of any value now.

As to the gas and flame devices, it is well known that the American army is not copying the German devices, but has perfected a number of secret "hell fire" devices of its own, which will probably make the Germans regret they ever resorted to such things.

The Bureau of Mines for many months has been working on the production of new poison gases, gas projectors, and new kinds of flame and inflammable shells.

Washington's stray dog and cat population has suffered much from the experiments of the bureau's inventors. These things are guarded and not patented.

The bulk of the German patented chemical processes are "jokers" in that they do not reveal, as required by law, enough to enable anyone to copy the processes by reading the patent specifications.

Usually the conditions of temperature and pressure under which certain combinations take place are concealed. It requires long experiments in laboratories to find out how to make a German patented dye or drug, but for two years American chemists have been at work and have unraveled nearly all of them.

Issuing of licenses to manufacture German patented articles by the Trade Commission will be on the basis of public interest. The commission may fix whatever terms it pleases, and may even regulate prices. This will be done in the case of certain medicines.

All American manufacturers who wish to make German patented articles have available to them the records at the patent office, and most of them know already exactly what the Germans have in their line and what they want.

The number of firms to be licensed and all such matters are at the discretion of the Trade Commission, and one of the first requirements of a licensee is that he must be able to manufacture the article in question and have financial and material equipment.

As the licenses are to be issued in the public interest, few exclusive licenses will be granted; but the number will be limited, to prevent wasteful competition and duplication of effort in war-time.

The licenses are issued for the life of the patent, and if peace came tomorrow the licensees would lose nothing.

Each licensee must pay to the Trade Commission a royalty, which will be adjusted, in each case, but which will amount roughly to 5 per cent. of the value of the use of the patent. These funds will be kept by the commission to reimburse the German patentees after the war. If the Germans are dissatisfied, they have a right, after the war, to bring suit in the federal courts for more money, and if they can prove higher values for the use of their patents, the licensees will have to reimburse them.

One of the most important German patented drugs, salvarsan, used for the cure of syphilis, will be made under licenses issued by the Trade Commission.

The patent on aspirin has expired, and is now free to any manufacturer.

To Get Rid of Wrinkles and Bad Complexions

It is more important now than during the period of profuse perspiration, to keep the pores clean and all cosmetics clog the pores. In cool weather this interferes greatly with elimination of waste material, leading instead to the formation of pimples. Ordinary mercurized wax serves all the purposes of creams, powders and rouges, giving far better results. It actually peels off an offensive skin, at the same time unclogging the pores. Minute particles of sebum come off day by day, causing not the least discomfort. Gradually the healthy, younger skin beneath peeps out, and in less than a fortnight you have a lovelier complexion than you ever dreamed of acquiring. Mercurized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is spread on nightly like cold cream and washed off mornings. One ounce usually suffices.

For removing wrinkles, without stopping the pores with heavy stuff, here's a new, failing formula. One ounce powdered safflower, dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel, rubbed on the face daily for awhile; every line will vanish completely. Even the first application gives surprising results. Advantages.

AMERICA TO FEED WORLD.

Among the obligations now laid on farmers none is more inexorable than that to increase the supply of fats and meats. Grain supply abroad is merely a matter of shipping. If the ocean were freed of menace we could not supply the required quantity of fats and meats. It means breeding and feeding. The opening of the seas would flood markets with grain. Only the persistence and skill of farm breeders of meat stocks will feed the starving world with the essentials of subsistence. It can not come in a day, in a year, but wide-spread, determined, united effort must be immediately set in motion. The food administration has designated the International Live

Stock exposition a "food training camp."

It is well named. The farmer can there study breeding and feeding. Never was it so useful to feed high-priced grain to ill-bred stock. Lessons of breed improvement, of grading up common stock, and of economical feeding can be learned at the "International" as in no other place. The American farmer has heard the call of the nation, of the world. He will heed. The instinct for live stock embraces sympathy for humanity. The significance of the food administration as an educational agency should sink deep into the mind of the farmer. It should bring him to Chicago the next week in December to study meat production.

AN ENGLISH SOLDIER SHEDS BIT OF LIGHT

Tommy's Inside View of War, Right from the Ranks, Uncensored.

Special Dispatch from L. Harper
Leech, of Our Washington Bureau.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—We have all heard a good deal about what visiting French and British experts and officers think of the war. However, what the British or French enlisted man—the private or non-com—has to say about it is another matter. As a rule they are not interviewed in this country, and when they are interviewed in France little of the woolen khaki colored uniform was seen.

Here, however, is an uncensored and informal bit of war gossip from a British corporal now in this country as an instructor at an American camp.

I met Corporal Smith—which isn't his name—on a Georgetown car in Washington five days after he had landed here. He was already at work with 200 of his fellow English non-coms instructing American sergeants and corporals of future liquid fame companies at Ft. Meyer.

Smith was a new type. His woolen khaki colored uniform was nothing unusual, but the British army shoe—a replica of the old-time "brogan" of the American farmer boy of a generation back—was distinctive, and led to the opening of a street car conversation entirely uncensored.

There was nothing of the "Tommy" in the corporal, and as for accent or dialect less difference between us than between a Texan and a down Eater.

If he had stepped out of a mid-western high school a few years back, and then worked as a bank clerk for a few years, the result would have been about the same sort of young fellow.

"Of course you hear more about the Colonials in the dispatches," he said, "because the censorship forbids mentioning the English county regiments. This may have started in sheer stupidity, but has probably been kept up because of a foolish fear of taking the people into confidence. Many of these regiments get cut up so badly and so often, they don't feel like mentioning them."

"Anyhow, the casualty lists show that whether the English do anything else or not they manage to die at the rate of 77 per cent. of the total killed."

"We are over here for instruction purposes. We are still under British orders and can be recalled at any time and are still drawing British pay—25 cents a day—a gain. "The French officers and men sent over here are entirely at the disposal of your government and draw your pay."

"The American army? Well I would like to break a way into it, or buy a way into it if I had the tin. You say some of the men kick at the feed. They ought to be put to extra fatigue duty until they learn some sense. You would have a hard time buying as good meals as we get at Ft. Meyer at the swiftest hotels in London. Nothing like it in the British army. Plenty of everything where we are skimped. Coal, all you want. Over there, a bucket now and then and you've got to make it last."

"Finest material for an army I ever saw in that camp. Yes, the show will last plenty long for them to get some of the men kick at the feed. They ought to be put to extra fatigue duty until they learn some sense. You would have a hard time buying as good meals as we get at Ft. Meyer at the swiftest hotels in London. Nothing like it in the British army. Plenty of everything where we are skimped. Coal, all you want. Over there, a bucket now and then and you've got to make it last."

"The main thing that strikes a man over here is the men he sees everywhere at work. In England you simply don't see them except in uniform; the women are doing the work."

"We are taking men for service now of the Class C-3, which practically means any fellow who can stand on two legs and could have held an office job in peace times."

"Of course there go for back of the lines work. Our total in France? Well, the Germans know it over 2,000,000."

"The last German prisoners I saw were a mixed lot. Some divisions still yield fine men, well kept; others gave up nothing but boys, mostly runts. Certainly they have lost millions, but they were good breeders in peace times, and in the first part of the war we lost more than they did because we had to match guns and barrage fire with bare bodies and rifles."

"Now it's the other way and we send over fourteen shells to their one, but they are still desperate and still clever; they make out no cleverer."

"They had the start, but we and the French have used all our brains and have put some good tricks over on them, too. But they are not out yet. If Russia had stayed, it would be winding up now, but nobody can call the end at this time."

"General Haig is the best general that ever led an army, and all the men think so."

All of which we have heard more or less from the scribbles and the experts, but I know that Corporal Smith knows what he is talking about and means what he says.

ADMIRAL KNIGHT IS HONORED IN PEKING

Peking, Sept. 28.—Admiral Austin M. Knight, the new commander-in-chief of the American Asiatic fleet, was extensively entertained by Chinese officials and the American colony on the occasion of his recent visit here. President Feng Kuo-Chang, who is still in mourning for his wife, received the admiral and Mr. Reinsch, in private audience, and discussed the war situation with them. Admiral Liu Kuan-Hsiung, the minister of navy, entertained at a tiffin for Admiral Knight and escorted him through the national museum. The minister for foreign affairs, Wang Ta-Hieh, gave a dinner at the foreign office for the American admiral which was attended by all the cabinet members and many representatives of the diplomatic corps.

GREAT BRITAIN AND FRANCE JOIN ITALY IN NEW WAR EFFORT

New Leadership for Italian Army Is Provided by Permanent Inter-Allies Military Committee.

AUSTRO-GERMAN FORCES HELD BACK

Italian Army Headquarters, Thursday, Nov. 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—The conference of British, French and Italian representatives has resulted in the creation of a permanent inter-allies military committee. New leadership for the Italian army has been provided.

General Cadorna, who has been in supreme command of the Italian army since the beginning of the war, has been given a place upon the new committee.

HOLDING GERMAN BACK.

Rome, Nov. 9.—The Italians are still holding back the Austrians and Germans by rear action, while the main body of the troops is establishing itself on the positions chosen for the resistance, says today's official statement.

ARMED ARMIES TO THE FRONT.

Italian Military Zone, Thursday, Nov. 8.—Both British and French troops are going toward the front.

The French and British representatives who have come to Italy had a conference of two hours today with King Victor Emmanuel.

The military measures called for the present situation were decided in active and cordial collaboration. On leaving the king, the party visited French and British troops going toward the front.

In the party are the British premier, David Lloyd-George; the French premier, Paul Painlevé; the Italian premier, Vittorio Orlando; Lieut. Gen. Sir Wm. Robertson, chief of the imperial staff at British army headquarters; Maj. Gen. Wilson, sub-chief of the British general staff; Gen. Smuts, formerly the British commander in South Africa; the Italian foreign minister, Baron Sonnino; the French minister of missions abroad, Henri Franklin Bouillon; Gen. Foch, chief of staff of the French war ministry, and their staffs.

GERMANS ADVANCING.

Berlin, Nov. 9.—(British Admiralty per wireless.)—The Austro-German forces in northern Italy, overcoming the resistance of the Italian rear guards, are advancing toward the Piave river, the war office announces.

BRIDGES BLOWN UP.

Italian Army Headquarters, Wednesday, Nov. 7.—A dozen bridges have been blown up on the Livenza river to arrest and delay as much as possible the advance of the Austro-Germans toward the Piave river. The Livenza is a smaller stream than the Tagliamento and offers fewer places for the enemy to cross it. The Italian army is now better organized than it was on the banks of Tagliamento.

GENERAL KORNILOFF IS TO BE TRIED BY A COURT OF RADICALS

Petrograd, Nov. 9.—The military revolutionary committee has decided to bring Gen. Korniloff, leader of the recent revolt, and his supporters, to Petrograd and imprison them in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul. They will be brought to trial before a military revolutionary tribunal.

Lieut. Gen. L. G. Korniloff was commander-in-chief of the Russian armies when early last September several detachments of troops under his command marched on Petrograd. He was removed from office. Some of his troops reached a point thirty miles from Petrograd when they deserted to the provisional government. The movement collapsed on Sept. 16 and Gen. Korniloff surrendered. A board of war inquiry inquired into the revolt, but Gen. Korniloff has never been brought to trial.

PORT OF RIO IS CLOSED.
Rio De Janeiro, Nov. 9.—The government has issued a decree ordering the closing of the port of Rio De Janeiro.

GOOD RECORD MADE HERE

Much Credit Due to Business Management of City Controllers.

FINANCES ARE IN SPLENDID SHAPE

State Accountant's Report Shows Balance of $480,- 712.17 in Treasury.

"Through the good business management of the city controllers in re-investing the pre-payments on the Barrett law improvements in bonds, Fort Wayne had at the close of the year 1916 a surplus of $12,844.46 in this part of the city government, something very few, if any, city in Indiana can boast of," declared James P. Haefling, of Decatur, a state accountant, who has just completed a thorough and exhaustive auditing of the city's financial record for 1916.

Mr. Haefling and C. A. Ramsey, of Muncie, began the auditing of the city books two months and a half ago, but soon after beginning work Mr. Ramsey was called to Washington, Ind., to assist on some work there, leaving Mr. Haefling to complete the job alone.

The report is one of the most complete, most accurate and at the same time the nearest that has ever been made here, and will be of inestimable value to city officials as well as to any citizen desirous of knowing how the city affairs are conducted.

"The average citizen has no idea of the tremendous volume of business that is transacted by their city officials," Mr. Haefling declared. "Fort Wayne is certainly the second city in the state when it comes to doing business."

Balance of $480,712.17.
At the beginning of 1916 there was a total of $420,332.25 in the city treasury. Receipts for the year amounted to $1,398,520.37; disbursements, $1,336,146.45, leaving a balance of $480,712.17.

The receipts were derived from the following sources: General city fund, $604,135.63; water, $142,843.50; lights, $280,021.07; police and firemen's pensions, $23,131.06; and Barrett law improvements, $365,793.61.

Mr. Haefling's report consists of one hundred pages of solid typewritten copy. The same will be forwarded to the chief state accountant at once.

NEW AMERICANS GIVEN AMERICAN NAMES IN COURT

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Americanism permeated the court room of Circuit Judge Oscar E. Hurd, who came here yesterday from Freeport, to aid the Cook county bench in clearing away a docket crowded with applications for citizenship. The judge did not find the multiplicity of foreign names to his liking so before admitting some two score of applicants to citizenship he re-christened a number of them and curtailed the names of several.

"If you are going to be American citizens, you must have American names," Judge Hurd said. The changes were accepted with good grace in most instances but at least two of the applicants protested and announced they would lay the matter before the federal authorities.

CANCEL ENGAGEMENT OF GERMAN SONGBIRD

Youngstown, O., Nov. 9.—The concert engagement in Youngstown of Frieda Hempel, noted soprano of the Metropolitan grand opera company of New York, scheduled for next April, has been cancelled because of the alleged pro-German sentiments of Miss Hempel. It was announced here today by the organization under the auspices of which she was to appear. Steps also have been taken, it was announced, toward canceling the engagement of Fritz Kreisler, violinist, and Austrian army officer, for similar reasons.

MARANVILLE WILL ENLIST.
Boston, Nov. 9.—Walter Maranville, short stop of the Boston National league baseball team visited the navy yard yesterday and announced he would enlist in the service. He will take his examination next week.

TOWNSHIPS ORGANIZING

Work Fund.

MANY CITY TEAMS READY TO START

Will Make Short Work of len County.

Outside townships will share fully with the city the honors of providing a fund of $45,000 as Allen county's share of the Y. M. C. A. war work fund, and as rapidly as possible the townships are being organized for a systematic canvass simultaneously with the big drive in the city next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. In many townships preliminary meetings have already been arranged, and others will follow rapidly. Those for which plans are practically complete are as follows:

Madison Township—Hoag and church; D. Emehiser, chairman; A. G. Burry, president; Fort Wayne Box company, speaker; Saturday evening, 7:30.

Adams Township, New Haven, Town Hall—Allen Hartzell, chairman; A. J. Folsom, speaker. Monday evening. Cedar Creek Township—Speaker announced later. Monday evening.

Center Township, Bel River School House—W. A. Johnson, chairman; speaker announced later. Tuesday evening.

Jackson Township, Townley M. E. Church—Jasper W. Jones, chairman; speaker announced later. Monday evening.

Monroe Township, Monroeville School—Rev. S. I. Zechel, chairman; Rev. A. J. Folsom, speaker. Tuesday evening.

Springfield Township, Harlan, Odd Fellows Hall—L. V. Likens, chairman; Rev. A. J. Folsom, speaker. Wednesday night.

St. Joseph Township, Center School House—Charles Ashley, chairman; speaker announced later. Tuesday evening.

Washington Township, Lincoln School—Leonard Stoltz, chairman; speaker announced later. Tuesday evening, 7:30.

Wayne Township, No. 5 or Fox School House, on Sand Point Road—Allan Hamilton, chairman; speaker announced later. Tuesday evening, 7:30.

Not Going to Fall.
"Fort Wayne and Allen county are not going to fall in this call for financial assistance to keep our soldier boys amid clean and wholesome surroundings," said one of the leaders in the campaign today. "We are interested in their moral and spiritual welfare as well as in their physical well-being, and the war work of the Y. M. C. A. gives occasion for countless thousands of American soldier boys, far from home, to be grateful for this manifestation of the interest of the folks back home."

Summary of the Day's War News

Reports from German sources today furnished virtually the only fresh news regarding the situation in Russia, where the maximalists are in control of Petrograd and are appealing to the army to support it "against imperialist attempts" until it has obtained "a democratic peace."

One of these reports, which was entirely without confirmation, was that Premier Kerensky, who left the capital before the extremists gained the ascendancy, had been arrested.

The other report, also of German origin and slightly unconfirmed, declared the Russian army in northern front had joined the maximalist movement and was marching on Petrograd. The great majority of the members of the Kerensky cabinet was made prisoner by the maximalists when the Alexander palace in which they had taken refuge, was bombarded by cruisers and its defenders compelled to surrender. They are in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul and are to be tried for complicity in the Korniloff revolt, the maximalists announced. Gen. Korniloff, himself, is also to be brought to the fortress for trial by a military tribunal, they declared.

In Palestine the British operations around Gaza and Beersheba have resulted in the entire Turkish Palestine army beginning to retreat toward the north. It is being harassed by airplane bombardment in its retirement and its communication along the coast are under fire from French and British warships. Forty Turkish guns have been captured by the British, whose advance is rapidly bringing them nearer to Jerusalem.

CHARGING FRAUDS

Will Stage Another Battle
Year Hence if Beaten

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 9.—Differences between the official returns furnished by the county seats and those officially turned into the secretary of state caused the pendulum to swing toward the dry side today in the prohibition election. The indicated wet majority shrank through this process to 1,407, with 71 county seats reporting official figures and seventeen including the large cities, reporting unofficially. Forty counties have reported officially to the secretary of state and these figures have been substituted for the previous county seat reports in the tabulation. The totals on this basis of compilation, including 1,832 votes gained by the wets in Hamilton county yesterday, which were officially acknowledged by the board of elections, are: For prohibition, 520,533. Against prohibition, 321,940.

Much in Doubt.
The wet and dry situation in Ohio early today remained virtually unchanged with the state in doubt as to whether prohibition had carried or not in the election last Tuesday.

This doubt had dissolved in the minds of the wets who based their assumption of certain victory on the lead of more than 3,800 for the last twelve hours, according to tabulated returns. The tabulation included official reports from 68 counties and unofficial but complete reports from the remaining twenty. The wet leaders further bolstered their contention by pointing out that the densely popu-

BRITISH REPORT ON AERIAL WORK CLAIMS SUCCESS

London, Thursday, Nov. 8.—The war office tonight issued the following statement on aerial operations:

"During Wednesday morning low clouds and rain considerably hampered the artillery work. In the afternoon conditions improved and some successful artillery and photographic work was carried out by our airplanes. Our low-flying machine fired many rounds at hostile troops and transports and a number of bombs were dropped on enemy trenches and billets."

"During the night more than three tons of bombs were dropped on enemy airfields at Grotto and St. Denis-Western and on airfields in the valley of the river Lys. Railroad communications were also bombed and satisfactory results were observed. Few hostile airplanes were encountered, but one was driven down out of control. An enemy observation balloon on the ground was destroyed by one of our low-flying machines. One of our airplanes failed to return."

FUEL RELIEF IS SEEN IN ORDER TO GIVE PROFIT

Washington, Nov. 9.—Temporary relief from the coal shortage existing in many sections was seen today in a new order of the fuel administration granting permission to jobbers to take a small profit margin on coal they had purchased at high prices prior to the fixing of government rates.

Under direction of the state fuel administrators, the coal will be allotted to communities where the shortage is most marked. Jobbers will be allowed a margin of 15 per cent profit above the cost at which they made contracts with the mines. Until today thousands of tons had been held by wholesalers because loss was inevitable if sales were made at the small margin allowed over government fixed prices.

Petrograd Radicals Appeal to Soldiers to Stand Firm While New Government Attempts to Get Peace.

ARREST OF KERENSKY IS REPORTED

Petrograd, Nov. 9.—The congress of soldiers' and workmen's delegates today appealed to the Russian army to stand firm and to protect the revolution against imperialistic attempts until the new government had obtained a democratic peace.

The general congress of the soldiers' and workmen's delegates in its proclamation announcing that it has taken over governmental authority says:

"We appeal to the soldiers in the trenches to be vigilant and firm. The congress expects the revolutionary army will protect the revolution against all imperialistic attempts until the new government has obtained a democratic peace which it will propose directly to all the peoples."

"The new government will take adequate measures to assure the army all necessities and by energetic requisitions from the upper classes it will also ameliorate the economic situation of soldiers' families."

The proclamation concludes by urging soldiers to prevent any attempt by Kerensky or others to oppose the new government.

KERENSKY'S ARREST REPORTED

Amsterdam, Nov. 9.—The Resinche Westfalech Zeitung of Essen, Germany, publishes a Stockholm telegram saying Premier Kerensky has been arrested.

MARCHING ON PETROGRAD.

London, Nov. 9.—A telegram reaching Amsterdam from German sources, and forwarded by the Central News, says the Russian army on the northern front has joined the Maximalists and is marching on Petrograd.

The political parties to which the socialist ministers belong have decided to turn over all the ministers, socialists as well as others, for trial. In the meanwhile they are being held under domiciliary arrest.

The cabinet ministers placed under arrest were A. I. Konovatsky, minister of trade and industry; M. Kiekin, minister of public welfare; M. I. Terestchenko, minister of foreign affairs; M. Malyonovitch, minister of justice, and M. Nikitin, minister of the interior.

KERENSKY MINISTERS HELD.

Petrograd, Thursday, Nov. 8.—Confirmation was obtained tonight that the former ministers of the provisional government who were arrested by the military revolutionary committee have been incarcerated in the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul.

Leon Trotsky, president of the executive committee of the Petrograd council of soldiers' and workmen's delegates explained that the arrest of certain members of the Kerensky government was not an act of vengeance or political repression. He said all the members of the late government would

FOOD PLEDGE IS UNDER MILLION SHORT OF GOAL

Washington, Nov. 9.—The food administration has come within less than a million of its ten million goal for food pledges cards. The total pledges signed by American housewives stood early today at 9,119,417, an increase of more than 280,000 over the last report given out by the campaign headquarters here.

Pennsylvania reported today 265,244 new signatures, which brings her total up to 750,000. This puts Pennsylvania into the lead in the total number of pledge cards signed in any one state. On this basis Iowa is second with 517,000 pledges and Missouri third with 500,000.

EXPULSION DECISION

TO BE RENDERED SOON

LaFollette Verdict to be
Given Nov. 26 by Senate
Sub-Committee.

Special Dispatch from Milton Bromer,
of Our Washington Bureau.

Washington, Nov. 9.—A sub-committee of the United States senate committee on privileges and elections, will convene to hear testimony and decide whether to recommend that Senator R. M. LaFollette shall be expelled from the senate for disloyal utterances.

The original trouble for LaFollette started as a result of a speech he made at St. Paul, Minn., September 30. The Minnesota commission of public safety passed resolutions condemning him and demanding his expulsion from the senate as "a teacher of disloyalty and sedition." This was based upon his speech in which he was charged with discussing the grievances the nation had, with insinuating that munition makers got American citizens to ride on munitions ships, and with making certain statements about the Lusitania.

The senate committee appointed a sub-committee to investigate the accuracy of the report of the speech delivered by LaFollette. The sub-committee consisted of Senators Dummer, James, Walsh, Dillingham and Felt.

This sub-committee wrote to LaFollette inquiring whether the speech was correctly reported. On the same day LaFollette responded the copy was not correct and that he would soon furnish an accurate version.

October 11 he wrote he was enclosing an accurate copy of his speech as taken down by an official reporter.

He was there were two interruptions from the audience not shown in the transcript. One was in response to a query about the Lusitania case. LaFollette said all he spoke on this subject was because of the interruption. The second expression not appearing in the transcript was his comment upon a cry for "some one in the audience."

LaFollette said there were many differences between his copy of the speech and the senate copy. If any of these differences were considered significant and his attention called thereto, he would be glad to give it consideration.

He demanded the right of cross-examining witnesses and to be heard in person and by counsel.

On October 13 the sub-committee replied it would like to have LaFollette appear and inform the committee as to the accuracy of the various statements in his speech.

On the same day LaFollette replied that the committee's method of procedure was extraordinary and unprecedented and demanded to know:

First—What statements, if any, in his speech were challenged as to their accuracy.

Second—In what respect was the accuracy of any statement challenged.

Third—An inspection of the testimony and his right to cross-examine his accusers.

He said if his requests were complied with, he would offer evidence in reply to any the committee might have.

The committee stated that the best way to proceed was to have him appear and if, after hearing his explanation of the speech, it was deemed wise to proceed further with the inquiry it could be done.

October 16 LaFollette reiterated his previous demands for specific statements as to what in his speech was attacked.

The committee then adjourned until November 26, in the meantime giving objections that testimony and documents be secured from the state department and other sources.

The fur-bearing animals of the Pacific coast are estimated to bring a return of $1,000,000 each year. This is interest at 5 per cent. on $20,000,000. It is worth while to protect this invested capital and to increase it if possible. It is on this account that at the last session of the California legislature a law was passed protecting California's share of this vast amount during the time of the year that the furs are of no value and establishing other restrictions that will aid in conserving the fur industry.

Girls! Use Lemon Juice! Make This Beauty Cream

The lemon juice massage indulged in once or twice each day means a little time and trouble, girls, but what of the splendid results? A skin bleached beautifully white, a complexion with the bloom of a peach, a softening of those lines of care, in fact, a skin eloquent of nature's purity and hands—soft and full of charm.

What girl or woman hasn't heard of lemon juice to remove tan, freckles and sallowness; to bleach the skin and to bring out the roses, the freshness and the hidden beauty? But lemon juice alone is acid, therefore irritating, and should be mixed with orchard white in this way. Strain through a fine cloth the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing about three ounces of orchard white, then shake well and you have a whole quart pint of skin and complexion lotion at about the cost one usually pays for a small jar of ordinary cold cream. Be sure to strain the lemon juice so no pulp gets into the bottle, then this lotion will remain pure and fresh for months. When massaged daily into the face, neck, arms and hands it should naturally help to whiten, clear, smoothen and beautify the skin.

Any druggist or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents and the grocer the lemons. —Advertisement.

RUSSIA'S NEW UPHEAVAL.

It would be a consoling thought that the fresh internal trouble of Russia were merely a local riot and only disturbing the peace of Petrograd. Unhappily there is too much reason to think differently. The uprising of the radicals and anarchists may yet be put down. The extremist elements may be vastly in a minority everywhere save in and about the capital. The bulk of the army may not be infected by the crazy zeal of the Maximalists to get out of the war, make peace with Germany, cut up the land, divide other property among the peasants and convert the nation at once into Utopia.

It should be kept in mind, however, that the counter-revolutionists have possession of the capital; that they have the Petrograd garrison and probably the bulk of the Cronstadt naval forces with them; that Premier Kerensky has fled the city and that a number of his ministers have been imprisoned; that the larger part of the Russian army has been for months refusing to fight and that no one knows or can say to what extent the German poison has gone through the Bolsheviks into the minds of the soldiers still at the front. All these and other disturbing facts enter into composition of the picture that Russia presents today. They should be considered.

It may be that Premier Kerensky can command the support of the bulk of the army and keep the great majority of the Russian mass sane enough to understand that the country has come upon the greatest peril that has threatened the new democracy. It may be that he can rally common sense and rational spirit to his side and save the revolution for the people. It may be that the whole matter is an opera bouffe politico-military affair staged for diversion. But the evidence is quite the contrary. There has been nothing in the past six months in the internal situation of Russia that does not fit nicely into a general confirmation of about the worst that can be imagined of the posture of Russian affairs at the present moment. Russians in the mass are tired of the war, which is not unreasonable. They have got rid of their throne and their dynasty and their aristocracy and their despotism and their secret police and Siberia and much else that has made the proletariat in Russia hate government. Now they want to enter into enjoyment of the fruits of their long waiting and much striving. Germany tells them they are silly to fight when they may as well have peace, and they believe it. Anarchists out of pure love and enjoyment of the devilry of their doctrines, German mercenaries, royalists who expect to see the throne again set up and the dynasty restored, misguided zealots and ignorant and credulous masses of people all are elements in this situation that bodes great ill for the allies but thought to gain from the revolution.

Rational leaders like Kerensky—themselves radical enough—know that there must be government with authority and a regulated order if the democracy of Russia is to be created into anything that can be called a state. They know also that any such state as they may erect will not be worth the pains of building unless the menace of German autocracy be put down. But they have moved with more idealism than wisdom. They have sought to deal gently where there should have been the stern repressions without which no country engaged in war can make headway. The thing they now have to deal with has been growing under their eyes for months. If it has not mastered them, the situation in Russia exaggerates itself to the understanding and the imagination.

The ascendancy of the Bolsheviks, the retreat of the Russian army from the front, the cry for peace and the overthrow of the Kerensky government constitute the greatest victory Germany has achieved in the war. It will stand as the high water mark of the triumph of intrigue, trickery and corruption and in history will be unique and spectacular as the example that a people in the mass had been corrupted by the most deadly and unscrupulous of their foes.

INCREASES THE STRAIN.

To Americans the situation in Russia has vastly more than the interest of a spectacular chaos. It means a heavier drain on their resources, a severer test of their strength, the necessity for harder fighting, the pains of a longer war, the menace of a foe whose arm grows stronger just in the proportion that Russia's arm grows weaker.

The defection of Russia does not spell defeat for America and her allies, but it does terribly increase the difficulties of a victory. Upon this nation falls the burden of making up what is lost by the collapse of Russia as a factor in the war. That the American people are equal to the strain is not to be doubted and that they will show spirit and fortitude for the trial is not to be questioned. But it will be well for us all to understand and appreciate the magnitude of the task in hand.

There has not yet come upon the people of this country a complete realization of the fact of war. Recent events on the other side of the water have done something to sharpen with pain the common understanding among us that we are engaged in something more than making on our own soil a demonstration of our material resources and our strength in men. The sinking of a warship or two by German submarines and a few casualties in the trenches have served that purpose. It will be no great length of days before casualties in the trenches will be reported with greater frequency and in large volume. Our soldiers are there and are actually fighting. Soon enough there will be complete participation in the bloody business on the front line. Then we shall all of us understand.

If the insane developments of the past two or three days in Russia will answer the question of America's part in the war it will serve us to some purpose. Before the thing is over America's part is going to be the greater part. If the war is to be won Americans must win it. Our money must go into it, our food must go into it, our men must go into it. The strain upon us is going to be great. Already it is increasing. Russia has decreed that the greatest of democracies must save all the democracies—her own not excepted—if the Muscovites is to know anything like an enduring freedom.

The war is going to wrench and wrack this Republic as it never has been and the people will indulge a costly fatuousness if they fail to get the understanding of that at once. The government has no delusions. It is preparing for the test.

THE SOCIALIST VOTE.

The socialist party adherents in the country are quite likely to be misled in their interpretations of the results of the recent elections. In New York, Chicago, and in some Indiana cities—including Fort Wayne—the vote given socialist candidates was abnormally heavy. This is not to be taken to mean a rapid rise in the tide of that party. The socialist party this year became the refuge, the catch-all for political driftwood of all sorts.

By thousands extreme pacifists, anti-war persons and pro-Germans flocked under the socialist banners. In some cases this was natural for the socialist party has fallen greatly under the domination of anti-American and pro-German influences and leadership. Its great leaders—like Benson, Spargo, Russell and others—have denounced it and deserted it because it has made itself largely an annex and instrument of enemy propaganda in this country. Thousands cast socialist ballots this fall who will perhaps never do so again.

The public will do well to get an understanding of what the heavy socialist vote means. It does not by any token indicate that the drift of the people is to the doctrines of that party. It means that there are a good many people who are not for their country in this war.

Without bloodshed Germany gains a greater victory in Russia than her armies under Hindenburg or Mackensen were ever able to wrench from the Slavs. It is a cheap and notable triumph that Russians themselves will one day pay for when the despotism comes back and the Cossacks again carry the knout.

Almost ten millions of American housewives have signed the food pledge cards. That is a fine showing, but it is less than half of the number who should soon be joined in the great war against waste. Be one of that army if you have not enlisted.

The women who in a New York suffragist meeting hissed the name of Woodrow Wilson are mere spiteful, catty creatures too sorely wanting in human intelligence to deserve the ballot.

What Russia seems to need most is a czar of the kind that made the czars famous as a class.

THE TRANSFER CORNER

By R E M

"Fare, please! All the good ones, and the bad ones; all the good ones, and the bad ones—get on here!"

PROSPICE.

The ancient and the lovely land
Is sown with death; across the plain
Ungarned now the orchards stand,
The maxims nestles in the grain.
The shrapnel spreads a stinging fall
Where pallid nuns the cloister trod,
The air-ship spills her leaden hail;
But—after all the battles—God.

Athwart the vineyards' ordered banks,
Silent the red-vent forms recline,
And from their stark and speechless ranks
There flows a richer, ruddier wine:
White down the lane and through the wall
The victors writhen upon the sod,
Nor heed the onward bugle-call;
But—after all the bugles—God.

By night the blazing cities flare
Like mushroom torches in the sky;
The rocking ramparts tremble ere
The sullen cannon boom reply,
And shattered is the temple spire.
The vestment trampled on the clod,
And every altar black with fire;
But—after all the altars—God.

And all the prizes we have won
Are buried in a deadly dust;
The things we set our hearts upon
Beneath the stricken earth are thrust;
Again the savage greets the sun,
Again his feet with fury shod,
Across a world in anguish run;
But—after all the anguish—God.

The grim campaign, the gun, the sword,
The quick volcano from the sea,
The honor that reverses the word,
The sacrifice, the agony—
These be our heritage and pride.
Till the last despair kisses the red,
And with man's freedom purified,

LOOK WHAT THE CAT BROUGHT IN

Mankind Has Had Enough of Them

By REM. A. JOHNSTON.

Yes, the expense account is running a trifle high. The war is costing the world $145,000,000 a day. That is—in dollars. Just what it is costing the world in blood, loss of faith, loss of spirituality, is hard to say!

When an American lady presented the German Crown Prince with a copy of Norman Angell's book, explaining that in it the author showed that war was impossible because it would be so utterly ruinous and unprofitable, the Crown Prince replied that whether it was unprofitable or not, he would make war just for the fun of the thing when he came to the throne if his father did not do it sooner.

This incident is related in Ambassador Gerard's book, "My Four Years in Germany." He quotes the words of the conversation as written out for him by the lady who took part in it.

Of course, the incident is true. Yet you cannot make people of pro-German tendencies believe that such things are so. They will not even believe the camera that shows the mutilated bodies of the little French and Belgian girls. But the truth is the truth, and the more slowly it penetrates into the minds of the professedly sane the longer will it be until victory perches on the banners of the White Forces who war for Right—that is, Righteousness in Evolution.

War, to such hideous caricatures of humankind as the Crown Prince and his father, Emperor William, is merely a great means whereby the overlord can splash his bloody name across the pages of history. As Mr. Gerard well reminds us, that ancestor of the Kaiser-idea who called himself Frederick the Great, left the statement in his letters that, finding himself on the death of his father in possession of a fine army and a full treasury, he determined to go to war just "to get talked about."

In all the history of Nero, who also burned Christians "for the fun of the thing," or of Atilla who liked to see bloody rivers, has anything passing the easy and non-chalant hellishness of the German Crown Prince been witnessed? The blood of three million dead soldiers and of hundreds of thousands of ravished girls and mutilated children cry to heaven for a violent and just vengeance upon an abhorred dynasty.

As long as Prussia has kings and Germany kaisers, the son of the grandson of Wilhelm will build up armies and misuse finances in order to go to war "just for the fun of the thing," or to "get talked about."

It is obvious that the taint in the Hohenzollern family has spread its fearful energy through the entire world, and by its mastery of the German mind, has made possible a black and terrible disaster to humanity.

The war is costing the world $145,000,000 and blood, and pain, and the loss of comforts and ideals that civilization has held dear. It comes high and terrible disaster to humanity.

An English writer puts the point in this way: "And these Germans profess to be huffed when Woodrow Wilson says the Allies will negotiate peace with the German people and not with these discredited rulers of theirs—they protest against outside interference with their domestic arrangements. The answer is given in the reports of a hundred thousand great guns that deafen Europe. The folly of the Germans in enduring mad misgovernment concerns not themselves alone but all nations which can thus be embroiled in war for the fun of the thing and to get a vain autocrat talked about."

It is believed the American insurance tables are out of date. They compute the risk at too high a figure, whereas the increasing sobriety of the nation and the increasing ability of doctors to combat diseases has given people more chance of longevity.

When it became clear we were going into the war the insurance companies made a preliminary announcement that every man in the armed service going into the scene of actual combat would have to pay not only the ordinary premium due on what ever life insurance he held, but an additional war risk premium of $100 per $1,000 of insurance. Of course, this practically amounted to cancellation, because there were many officers in the army and navy drawing $2,000 to $4,000 salary, who carried $10,000 of insurance. They could not afford to pay $1,000 per annum extra premium.

Then the government took up the matter with the insurance companies, and this was cut the rock bottom extra premium in most cases being $37.50 per $1,000. Even then the companies made clear that they were not keen for this war business, even if the government undertook to pay the premium. In case of years of severe fighting in France, they could see nothing before them but heavy mortality, with resultant heavy payment. They did not deem this fair to their old policyholders. Many insurance men frankly said it was up to Uncle Sam to insure his own men.

Out of this suggestion was born the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, under control of the treasury department.

After the war, this same bureau may, for its insured soldiers and sailors, revise the old American mortality tables. And when the government does so, the old life insurance companies will be bound likewise to do so, with a resultant revision downward of the premiums demanded.

HYLAN MAY NOT BE SO RAD. (Indianapolis Star.) It seems not a violent assumption that the New York newspapers have exaggerated the disloyal element in Hyland's candidacy. It is at least significant that President Wilson refrained from taking up Hyland's cause, as he might easily have done, if he had really felt the Tammany campaign represented hostility to himself or toward the war. All the awfully and implacably anti-war forces were obviously lined up with Hyland.

Municipal campaigns in New York are always distinguished by lack of perspective. They get so excited down there, in the solemn conviction that Manhattan is considerably larger than the United States, that they are prone to invest the mayoralty issue with international proportions. Maybe Hyland is not so black as he is painted. At least he has gone very far, both before election and since, to disavow any disloyal purposes. After all, the mayor of New York doesn't participate to any alarming extent in the formulation of national policies.

The result in New York emphasizes anew the power of organization. Perhaps there is nothing like Tammany organization in the world. It is everywhere at once, alert, experienced, resourceful, determined, uncanny in its knowledge of human nature, relentless in discipline of its agents. The New York police force itself, with all its physical excellence and traditions of efficiency, promptness and courtesy, is a monument to the Tammany genius for direction of large bodies of men with strict discipline and co-ordinated effort.

Then there is strong protest in New York against the strict enforcement of law under Mayor Mitchell. The best mayor New York ever had, he has made foes as well as friends through his wonderful achievements along the lines of municipal reform. Earnestly as we may commend heroic and conscientious labor of this sort, we must reckon practically with the antagonisms it creates. The masses in every large city, and especially the foreign elements, resent interference with what is erroneously called "personal liberty."

All these aspects of the New York election have to be taken into consideration in estimating its significance from a national point of view. Of course the high-minded citizens and newspapers that fought so earnestly for Mayor Mitchell's election will be inconsolable and will be slow to see any relief from the somberness of the outlook. But it seems possible that they have been carried away to some extent by the intensity of their feelings and that they attach far more importance to the result in a national way than it deserves. Tammany is chiefly concerned with local affairs. It does not care for national issues nor understand them. It is clearly permitted to hope that the new mayor will be enough not to interpret his victory as authorization for apathy or hostility toward the nation's duty and necessities in winning the war.

Yesterday morning between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock, John H. Young, an employee of the Electric Light company, met with a frightful accident over in Nebraska. It is Young's duty to replace the burned carbons on the electric light towers. He had just completed this task at the tower on the corner of Main and Center streets and was descending the mast. When within about fifty feet of the ground he accidentally caught hold of a live light wire, which runs into the Peters saw mill. The light is seldom charged during the day, but this morning was dark and the lights being turned on there was a strong current. Young received a fearful shock which caused him to lose his hold on the mast. He was thrown backward and fell to the hard ground below. He was rendered unconscious. His right leg was fractured near the ankle, a number of small bones were broken in the left foot, his hip was badly hurt and his head bruised. It is also thought he was hurt internally.

PRICES OF HAM AND BACON TO COME DOWN

Illinois Food Boss Finds Profits of Retailers Are Too High.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Prices of ham and bacon to the consumer were cut 5 to 10 cents by the Illinois food administrator today. The government's complete control of the packing industry lends prominence to the announcement. While the cut applies only to Chicago and suburbs, prices set here eventually will serve as the standard for the whole country.

The price of ham will be announced in a day or two and in a week all standard cuts of pork, beef and mutton will be on the list. The ham and bacon prices are for the whole piece. For the best ham a fair price to the retailer is set at 30 to 31 cents a pound, while a fair price to the consumer is placed at 32 to 36 cents, the lower price being for cash-and-carry-home, the higher for charged and delivered. The consumer should pay for the medium grades of ham 30 to 34 cents. The price list places the best bacon at 45 to 49 1/2 cents. Chicago has been paying the butcher from 55 to 60 cents a pound for best bacon sliced. A leading grocery and market was asked the price of bacon a few minutes after announcement of the government price. "Sixty cents," came the prompt reply, "but there will be a Friday special at 54 cents."

This sixty cents represented a retail gross profit of at least 15 cents a pound based upon the wholesale price as unaffected by the government standard.

RETAIL COAL PRICES MAY HAVE TO DESCEND

Washington, Nov. 9.—Possible reduction of retail coal prices was indicated by the fuel administration today in explanations to state fuel administrators empowering them to change methods of fixing retail margins. Investigation has disclosed that the margin now allowed, which is the same as that taken in 1915, in many instances is too high.

SON OF DICKENS GETS PLACE.

London, Nov. 9.—Henry Fielding Dickens, sixth son of Charles Dickens the novelist, has just been appointed to the lucrative post of "common sergeant," as the chief justice of the London city courts is officially called. The salary of the post is $15,000 a year. Mr. Dickens is 68 years old, and has been a practicing member of the London bar since 1873. His youngest son, Major Charles Dickens, was killed in action last year.

COUNTRY CLUB GARDENS HIGHLY INDORSED

The size, quality and number of the vegetables raised this season in Country club gardens tell a convincing story of the richness of the soil. F. W. Gray, Fort Wayne city garden supervisor, says: "It would be a very poor gardener who could not show a profit of at least $300 from an acre of this ground planted in vegetables." He further says, "there is no comparison between this soil and the soil throughout the city of Fort Wayne." Such indorsements show that Country club gardens are highly productive as well as being artistic. George P. Lotz, a restaurant man, has just purchased a lot in the gardens for an investment. The sale was made for the City & Suburban Building company by H. Goldstein.

For Bridge Game or Afternoon Use

The afternoon gown of dark, heavy silk or satin is the friend of the well-dressed woman. This semi-tailored frock of supple satin in navy blue is a delightful ease in point and has many items of smartness to recommend it. Boutache braiding is the high light of the gown and that the boutache is applied to the fetching little apron only adds to its charm.

The long, close sleeves and the close-fitting bodice so trimly held in place by the satin sash, complete the tailored effect—and then, as if fearing over severity the frock relents into a becoming collar of soft white satin, with tiny cuffs to match.

HERE IS A WINTER VEIL THAT TAKES SHELTER BENEATH THE HAT BRIM

BY BETTY BROWN.

The veil, always a friend of lovely woman's complexion and curls, is showing new adaptability to milady's needs when winter winds blow.

The veil was a bit discouraged this season when it considered the tremendous size of the season's fashionable hats, and thought, then a real problem which it would be difficult to evade. So instead of going around the hat it crept under the brim and clung closely to a wire halo adjusted an inch outward from the crown.

And now when milady goes to walk there is no frenzied hunting for the elusive veil, no tense and trying moments of effort for proper adjustment—the veil is conveniently and becomingly in place. In covering the face and hair it precedes the hat—and is protected from destroying dampness by the hat's broad brim.

day evening and enjoyed games, music, dancing, refreshments and guessing contests. Prizes were won by Misses Hester Wolf, Ruth Hansen, Helen Fisher, and Al Current and Fred Eigel. Other young friends who took part in this entirely delightful party were: Misses Helen Kiel, Margaret Rippe, Fritz Stueger, Helen Lindeman, Helen Fisher, DeWayne Fisher, Gladys Brouwer, Louise Paulson and Messrs. Gene Hargrave, Ray Davies, Karl Rippe, Louis Jacobs, Harold Brudi, Will Beck, Clarence Robison, Hema Doucens, Carl Roembke, Clarence Wolf and Mr. and Mrs. Milford Vail.

"THE ARMY AND NAVY" SHOW IS BIG SUCCESS

Most Stupendous Effort in Local Theatrical Way Ever Put on Here.

The amateur performance, "The Army and Navy," put on by local people at the Majestic theater last night was so huge a success in every way that the three remaining performances are bound to attract equally large audiences. The performance is called by its producers and directors, W. Mills Davis and Mrs. Claude George Wylie, a "patriotic musical burlesque," and by the University club of Fort Wayne, under whose auspices the performance is staged here, a great patriotic effort to increase the war fund.

Each description is right, but it is no exaggeration to add that it is the most stupendous effort in a local theatrical way ever put on and an entirely beautiful entertainment for which everyone who takes part comes in for a share of praise from the principals to the tiniest dancer or the smallest member of the chorus. There are two acts, one representing the campus of Thurston college with a football game, the feature of the act and the exciting thing in the action of the play. All the enthusiasm of real football, the jells of college students, the many clumps of pretty girls and jolly young men, the grace of children and the singing of young voices together with the art of more cultivated adult singers contributed to the pleasure of the patrons and audience in general.

It was astonishing to see the between four and five hundred young people come on the stage and do their parts so easily and so accurately. The principals of the cast did splendidly, the dancing throughout was really lovely and when in the last part there was a gathering of choruses with flags of allied nations and the singing of the Star Spangled Banner, it was thrilling and picturesque and the music well chosen. The orchestra helped every one along and the dancing was a credit to the excellent instruction of teachers of that art in the city as well as to those who had charge of the work in getting up this entertainment.

Naturally there were glimpses of natural gifts in theatrical or in music or other forms of art to be seen and a number have appeared on the stage often enough to do with great ease, yet with the "first appearance" of many it was amazing to note the unconscious ease and grace of their work.

Musically the principals were Miss Helen Loos, Miss Ruth Gumpier, Miss Lucella Fierst, Mrs. Elsie Hanna Elliott, Earl Thompson and Chester Hosier, each of whom was an important one of the principals of the cast. Dramatically funny either in line or song were B. J. Griswold, Dr. George Gillic, Paul Guild, Paul Bachelor, Charles Husk, Miss Maribel Olds and Lawrence Eberach, while more sedate, but none the less interesting roles, were carried by E. G. Hoffman and Frank M. Hogan.

Then there were the policemen, as funny as professional, disguised so no one ever suspected they were L. E. Eberbach, Maurice Lehman, Herbert L. Miller, Herbert Fox and Victor Miller. And the football squad and their yell leader were so enthusiastic it seemed like a real game. These screamers were Harold Movian, Walter Helmke, Joseph Underhill and William Moellering, leader. Besides these men there was a male quintette that appeared every now and then and sang well. They were Everett Myers, Edward Cranston, Thomas Prince, Earl Selbold and Fred Bloemker, and the audience expressed appreciation of their contributions to the program.

The dancing specialties were lovely all the way through and the principals in this were Miss Grace Romary, Miss Margaret Fry, Miss Lorene Travers, Miss Violet Fowler, Miss Margery Postal and Paul Eichel.

Several who had semi-solo work were Misses Evelyn Plunadore and Helen Stillman and two children that were very sweet were Marion Woebecking and Alice Reall.

A professional "fill" was the singing of Mrs. Betty Wells Fowler, who stirred the audience to a fine height of patriotic expression by her delightful singing.

Attention Is Due to Crowning Glory

BY BETTY BROWN.

Recently a well known fashion writer and designer was asked what she considered the most important detail of the well-dressed woman's appearance and she replied "carefully dressed hair."

Thoughtful observers will agree that the coiffing of "woman's crowning glory" has a remarkable effect upon her appearance. Poorly groomed locks will destroy the charm of the richest and most tasteful costume—but women of good taste are never careless of their hair. One's own energy governs the amount of charm one may acquire by careful grooming and dressing of one's hair.

The coiffure shown today above the collar of an evening wrap is designed for the most formal social functions. The hair is softly knotted near the crown of the head and pulled rather low over the brows where it is confined by a single strand of pearls held beneath a pendant clasp.

on a brief visit, was introduced to the audience. Lieutenant Commander Willson made a plea for more men to join the United States navy as thousands of men are needed in that service to the country. State-ments to the contrary have been part of the general propaganda of misrepresentation in the United States spread by foes. But the fact is that more men are needed and needed at once.

The splendid results that come from the discipline of the naval academy are often not appreciated, but the loss of boats of this country in attacks by the enemy are not un-probably the result of some light in-fringement of rules, such as opening a port hole thus showing light or going on deck with a lighted cigar or striking a match to light one. Obedience is something one learns in the navy. The remarks of Lieutenant Commander Willson made a deep im-pression.

Jumper Blouse Liked By British Cousins

Whatever schemes for economy in clothes may be forthcoming, it is quite certain that the blouse is one of the garments that will emerge tri-umphant from the modest jumble. This will apply to the blouse in its three stages—the practical everyday kind, the softer chifon and afternoon varieties, and last, but not least, the daintily and thereal ones for evening wear.

We can be practical or daintily feminine, just as we choose, and as occasion demands. But let every woman remember that the blouse is emphati-cally one of those garments that should be worn with discretion, and, above all, should be well cut and prop-erly put on.

However simple a blouse is, it must be properly adjusted, otherwise it will degenerate once again into that un-didly, sloppy garment that we remem-ber when the blouse first came into vogue.

There is no doubt that it is essen-tially a compromise between the smart and the comfortable—that is why it fulfills the want of our present social life. For instance, when rush-ing down to visit relatives at a camp and dining in the local inn, one often requires some form of change, yet it would be extremely bad taste to wear regulation evening dress.

Of late we have inclined to the jumper blouse, and now that it has to form a sort of coat blouse it will cer-tainly be generally adapted for the more dressy occasions. For this pur-pose, therefore, georgette, linen and crepe de chine will be the most pop-ular, as they can now be had in such a wonderful variety of colorings that is often denied to other fabrics. Quite elaborate, too, will be some of the new blouses in fine jersey cloth of simple coloring, prettily embroidered in Ori-ental tones of wool work. Then, jersey cloth will be used for many purposes during the coming winter; it is seen patterned as well as plain.—London Daily Telegraph.

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 11

LESSON TEXT—Nehemiah 1.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Whatever we ask,
we receive of him, because we keep his commandments, and do these things that are pleasing in his sight."—1 John 3:22.

Some twelve or fourteen years after the revival of the worship of Jehovah under the administration of Ezra, Nehemiah led a company to Jerusalem to restore the city walls and civil authority. The walls and gates of the city had lain in ruins ever since they were broken down by Nebuchadnezzar. In this condition the remnant of the Jews who had gone back to Jerusalem were exposed to the dangers of assaults from the surrounding enemies. Not only was this exposure detrimental to the peace and comfort of the people, but it was a matter of severe reproach to them (v. 3). Nehemiah was a man of strong character. Though occupying a position of high honor and responsibility in the very center of the great heathen capital, the desire to honor God was uppermost in his heart. He is an example to all young men, demonstrating to them that it is possible to be true to God regardless of the environment in which he may be compelled to live. In order for a man to thus stand, his life must be rooted in Christ, and these roots—our faith—must be watered and kept alive through vital communion with God in prayer and study of His Holy Word.

1. Nehemiah Learns of the Affliction and Reproach of the Returned Remnant in Jerusalem (vv. 1-4).
1. The time (v. 1). It was in a winter month, November or December, in the 20th year of Artaxerxes. He was engaged in the performance of his accustomed duties as cup-bearer to the king, when the news came to him of the deplorable condition of Jerusalem and the remnant who had gone there.

2. The occasion of (vv. 2, 3). The visit of Nehemiah's brother and certain men of Judah made it possible for him to inquire concerning the state of the remnant and the conditions of Jerusalem. They informed him that they were in great affliction and reproach.

3. The effect upon Nehemiah (v. 4). He was greatly moved by the story of the distress of his brethren. Though occupying a position of honor, and enjoying all that heart could desire, he keenly took the misfortune of his brethren to heart. He not only shed tears of sympathy, but took these burdens in prayer to God. This is the proper way to sympathize with the unfortunate. It is mainly to weep with those in distress, and to pray for those who have need. Jesus wept over Jerusalem and prayed for his own. Nehemiah exhibited the spirit of true patriotism. The affliction and shame of his own people went close to his own heart. National and racial solidarity constitutes the real basis of patriotism. The reproach and affliction of a nation is the reproach and affliction of every member thereof.

11. Nehemiah's Prayer for Israel (vv. 5-11). We are taught that in the midst of affliction, we should pray. Nehemiah in this early time practiced this New Testament direction. A study of his prayer is most helpful.

1. It was earnest (v. 4). He fasted and prayed for several days. When men are willing to desist from food and turn aside from their occupations to pray to God, they are unmistakably in earnest. This is true fasting.

2. The ground of (v. 5). He pleaded covenant relationship and the faithfulness of God in keeping his covenant. It is a good thing always in our praying to plead thus with God. He is delighted when we come as children pleading for the things we need on the basis of our relationship to him.

3. Unselfish (v. 6). He has as his supreme object the welfare of Israel. His personal interests were not affected, either for better or for worse, by the condition of the Jews in Jerusalem. Many prayers do not count with God because they are self-centered.

4. Penitent (vv. 6, 7). He acknowledges that the state of Israel was due to disobedience to God's commandments and their corrupt dealings with God. So completely had he identified himself with his people that he included himself with Israel as having sinned.

5. The prayer of faith (vv. 8, 9). He believed the word which God had spoken to Moses touching his willingness to restore and bless his people, though he was obliged to severely judge them. In our praying, we should be able to point to some definite promise in God's word, as we plead with him. Faith takes God at his word, and holds him to it.

6. Definite (vv. 10, 11).
a. He pointed to the specific people, as those redeemed by God's powerful hand.

b. He asked that God would prosper his way and grant him mercy in the sight of the king. This was a part of wisdom on Nehemiah's part. Before going before men for consideration of important interests, we should ask God to prepare their hearts, so that they will listen sympathetically to our plea. This we should do in all things, and we can do it, when our own hearts are right, and we see the good of others and not that of ourselves.

Certain Cure for Croup.
Mrs. Rose Middleton, of Greenville, Ill., has had experience in the treatment of this disease. She says, "When my children were small my son had croup frequently. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy always broke up these attacks immediately, and I was never without it in the house. I have taken it myself for coughs and colds with good results."—Advertisement.

The Greatest Tribute Ever Paid to the Credit System

The United States Government Liberty Bond Sale, to which the people of this country subscribed so generously, was the greatest tribute ever paid to the Credit System. Ten million people in an incredibly short time extended credit to the United States Government to the extent of five billion dollars that we might give to our soldiers and sailors, fighting this war for democracy, the munitions and material of war.

If this great nation sees fit to operate this mighty government on credit certainly there can be no argument against the principle of credit business. The credit furniture business of today is as dignified and substantial as any other, and more so than many. If you are one of those who think that only cheap furniture of poor design and construction is sold on credit, then you should investigate the furniture credit system.

If not, just price rugs and you will then be convinced. We would relish a comparison on any of our prices, but on these particular prices we are decidedly anxious for it. Come, see the quality of these rugs, and then you will realize the truth of what we have said about them.

MARCH OF THE BRITISH THROUGH MESOPOTAMIA

One of the Expedition Gives Interesting Account of It.

London, Oct. 18.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The occupation of Ramadiah has carried the British mesopotamian army some thirty miles upstream from its previous outpost at Eclufa. This is the distance measured as the crow flies, but it is nearly double that distance by the winding Euphrates. The British convoys, though moving by day, pass each other in the darkness of a London fog, and the white dust which covers the faces of the Arabian porters gives

On the right bank of the Euphrates the flat alluvial soil of the delta is left behind and one comes to the first low dunes and pebbly ridges, while the roads are better and easier. It was on ground of this nature that the battle of Ramadiah was fought.

The British troops showed themselves in excellent condition, after their long march, being put through a two-days' manoeuvre battle after a night march. The heat, however, was no longer oppressive. The nights are now fresh and cold and the health of the force is excellent.

When the British forces entered Ramadiah, they found many signs of the confusion and surprise of the Turkish forces. The British eye witness, writing from Ramadiah, says:

"A deep gully west of the town was strewn with miscellaneous litter for half a mile, including pack-saddles, furniture, books, suit cases and office paraphernalia. Forty horses and baggage animals have been collected and some thirty camels.

Sergeant Guy Empey, who fought in the trenches "Somewhere in France" and whose book, "Over the Top," is composed of material first published in the Daily Sentinel and associate members of The Newspaper Enterprise association, is here pictured making a buy-a-bond speech at a Liberty Loan rally held in Madison Square park, New York.

MANY DEALERS REFUSE TO ADVANCE THE PRICE

Situation Serious for Those Who Have Nothing to Sell But Tobacco.

Fort Wayne tobacco dealers are finding it difficult to put into effect the advanced prices in order that they may be able to meet the added cost, as well as the government war tax.

The trouble lies with many of the drug stores and saloons, where the old prices prevail. Many of them positively refuse to raise, not that the advance prices are not justified, but they are willing to sell tobacco and cigars without much profit with the hope of selling such customers their other wares.

However, the dealer who has nothing else to sell but tobacco and cigars is hard hit. He is unable to cope with such competition. Wholesale dealers are also helpless to remedy the situation. Even if they refuse to sell their tobacco and cigars to dealers who refuse to increase the price, it is very easy for them to buy their goods through an out of town dealer, which in a number of cases is being done.

FRANCE'S BUILDING LOSSES.

Paris, Nov. 9.—More than 50,000 buildings had been demolished in France, and more than 100,000 more or less damaged by bombardments and incendiary fires during the war, according to statistics completed up to the end of May. Sixty-three buildings classed as historical monuments had been destroyed. The total number of communes that had suffered from the invasion was 1,223.

CORRESPONDENT LYON ENTERS HOLE IN GROUND AT VERDUN WHERE GERMAN'S HOPE IS BURIED

Editor's Note.—C. C. Lyon, staff correspondent of the Daily Sentinel is now spending some time with the French army, through the courtesy of the French military authorities. After observing operations in and about Verdun, he has been promised the chance to go into the first line French trenches. "If I come out with a whole skin I ought to have something very interesting to write about," says Lyon, in a letter to the editor of the Daily Sentinel.

C. C. LYON.

With the French Troops at Verdun, Oct. 15.—I have just come from spending a wonderful evening in the impregnable citadel of Verdun, a guest of Colonel ( ), its commander.

All day long a violent artillery duel had been on between the French and Germans, and every time our small party of American observers had tried to get near enough to the German lines beyond Forts Vaux and Douaumont to watch infantry operations a German shell would playfully fall in our vicinity and scare us all stiff.

Even the safety of Fort Souville hardly reassured us. There we had all taken turns sitting in a chair that had been occupied a few days before by the king of Italy and signing our names in the "guest book."

Incidentally, Victor Emmanuel gave his occupation as "king of Italy." I wrote "newspaper reporter" after my name. They're both on the same page.

Shortly before the dinner hour we reached the Verdun citadel. Outside, the night was inky black and, adding to a dismal exterior picture, a cold, drizzling rain was falling, chilling to the marrow the gray-overcoated sentinels who silently trudged their posts along the river Meuse.

But inside the fortress everything was warm and bright and cheerful.

The long, narrow, concrete-built corridors that stretched for hundreds of yards were studded with a thousand electric bulbs; and every room and compartment opening off them held a group of laughing, chatting, poling, enjoying their evening meal and talking over events of the day.

In a little dining room in the heart of the fortress, a hundred feet below the earth's surface, Colonel ( ), arose and, with uplifted glass, faced his American guests.

For a long time, around a table that had contained many good things to eat, he had been discussing the war situation and America's part.

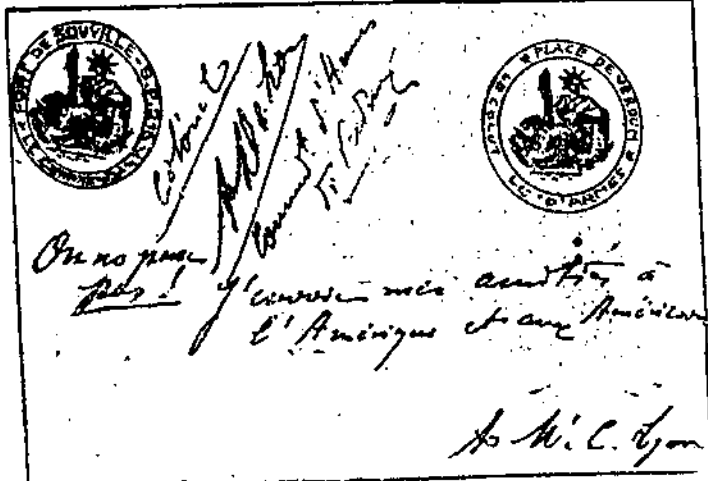

"As he stood there leaning upon the cane (one of his legs had been frozen as he personally led his troops in a mid-winter assault on German positions outside Verdun) ready to propose a toast to the great and powerful ally he was a noble figure.

A large, powerfully-built man of about 60; snow white hair; ruddy complexion; a jovial, kindly face with blue eyes that twinkled with merriment; a "something about him" that would inspire all men to deeds of valor.

On the wall behind him was hung a large bronze tablet—the imperishable motto of Verdun:

"On Ne Passe Pas!"
"They Shall Not Pass!"

There was a hushed silence:

Facsimile of the Message of Colonel ( ), Commander of Verdun, to the American People through Staff Correspondent Lyon and (Below), Colonel ( ), at the Left, and the Still Sturdy Figure and the Stern, Bearded Profile of Former Premier Ribot of France.

"My dear friends from beyond the seas," he said, "I lift my glass to toast the nation that has always been the unfailing friend and ally of our beloved France.

"The bonds of love and sympathy that have always existed between our two countries will become still stronger, now that we are brothers in arms in the cause of world democracy.

"France has given unsparingly of its blood in making good the motto of Verdun. But the brave men who have died will not have died in vain, because, with rich, powerful resources and determined America on our side, it is now impossible to conceive of anything but a complete victory for the allied cause.

"It will be a great pleasure." And on the envelope he wrote under his name, Colonel ( ), commandant of the army of Verdun, "They Shall Not Pass." "I send my kindest regards to America and the American people," "To Mr. C. Lyon."

"I'd better put the official stamp of Verdun on this or somebody might say it was not genuine," he laughed.

We were about to take leave when the Colonel had a happy thought.

"I'd love to hear you sing the 'Star Spangled Banner,'" he said.

In another room was a little old piano that had weathered all the bloody storm.

But not one of us Americans could play a note!

We got through the first verse in fine style, but there was a good deal of humming and "la, la's" toward the end of the second.

The way the Frenchmen then sang their own national hymn made us Americans ashamed of ourselves.

When he went out into the night we hardly noticed that it was still drizzling.

GERMAN SAILOR IS TAKEN AT LIGONIER

J. Rauchbauer Narrates Wild
Tales of Coming to U. S. in a Submarine.

Ligonier, Ind., Nov. 9.—A German sailor who claims to have escaped from a military prison camp at London, Ontario, is now locked in the county jail at Goshen, awaiting action of federal authorities. He was arrested at Ligonier and gave his name as Joseph Rauchbauer.

Rauchbauer arrived in Ligonier several days ago giving the name of Joe Bowers and sought work here. Because of wild tales of war adventure which he told, he was arrested. A New York Central switch key and signal code were found on his person, when he confessed his real name and told a long and interesting story of his career, although it is said it sounded like a fairy tale.

He was returning to Germany, he said, as a sailor on a German ship, when war was declared. After arrival he was put into naval service and later came across the Atlantic in a submarine at the same time the Deutschland arrived. The submarine, however, was caught in a net off the coast of Newfoundland, says the prisoner, and the crew taken prisoners. He was then placed in a Canadian prison camp from which he escaped last January. Since then he has been in America working at various trades.

NO NEW TRIAL ASKED.

Hartford City, Ind., Nov. 9.—Samuel Minekr, Montpelier junk dealer who was convicted here in the last special term of the circuit court by a jury upon two counts—conspiracy to commit burglary and conspiracy to commit larceny—will be arraigned Monday morning before Special Judge Nichols, of Winchester, who presided at the time of the trial, and his petition, which has been circulated by his wife and which contains 95 signatures, will be given consideration. In all probability sentence will be passed upon the defendant, the sentence for such a conviction being from two to twenty-one years in the state prison. Some time ago it was stated that the defendant, through his attorneys, would ask for a new trial, but later on it was stated that Minekr had concluded to accept the sentence of the court, if his petition was ignored.

COURT APPROVES SALE.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 9.—A report of the sale of the Bluffton, Geneva & Celina traction line property by Receiver W. W. Rogers to Thomas Flynn was approved by Judge W. H. Elchhorn, when the report was submitted to him after the departure from the city of Mr. Flynn, Tuesday evening. Mr. Flynn already had deposited the full purchase price. Judge Elchhorn giving his approval and confirmation of the sale, ordered a deed executed and delivered to Mr. Flynn, and the deed has been prepared and approved and is ready for Mr. Flynn. Judge C. E. Sturgis said yesterday afternoon that further confirmation of the sale, by entry at the regular term of court probably was not necessary, but it would be secured in order to be absolutely sure of the complete legality of the procedure.

MANY CANDIDATES ALREADY.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 9.—From all present indications the primary next May is going to be an interesting one with the democrats of Adams county, especially in the case for sheriff. Already more than half a dozen candidates are in the field with fair prospects for a considerable increase before election time. Among those who are already more or less actively engaged in campaigning at this time are City Marshal L. D. Jacobs and John Baker, all of Decatur. It is said that John Anderson, a south end resident, is also looking after his fences.

FALLS DOWN CELLARWAY.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 9.—Mrs. Louisa Hoffman, aged 68, mother of Dr. S. P. Hoffman, of this city, suffered a very bad injury, but miraculously no broken bones, about 6:30 o'clock last night, when she walked into the pantry and fell down a flight of cellar steps at her home in Linn Grove. She fell the entire flight, landing against the opposite wall, and was rendered unconscious, lying about a quarter of an hour before found. Her left shoulder was very severely sprained, her body bruised badly, especially about the back, and ribs and head, where her body struck the steps in the fall.

FROM RILEY BURKE.

Van Wert, Ohio, Nov. 9.—Mrs. S. W. Fleming, of West Crawford street, has a new keepsake, which many other women of the city might treasure. It is a large photograph of Billie Burke and a personal letter from the favorite actress. Mrs. Fleming recently wrote her appreciation of Miss Burke's latest screen play and in return received the happy little note and picture. Miss Burke in private life is Mrs. Florence Ziegfeld.

Old Looks?

(BY DR. L. E. SMITH)

Persons suffering from too much uric acid in the system frequently look older than they should. They age faster and the appearance of gray hair or baldness in early years is, indeed, often a sign of uric acid. The face appears lean and haggard, lines and wrinkles appearing in young men or women.

The best way to combat this premature age and the obstruction to the arteries and faulty circulation is of the simplest. Drink copiously of pure water between meals. This will not make you fat, as it is only the water taken with the meals that fattens. Obtain at a drug store a package of Anuric (double strength), which is to be taken before meals, in order to expel the uric acid from the system. The painful effects of backache, lumbago, rheumatism, gout, due to uric acid in the blood should quickly disappear after treatment with Anuric.

PERFECT HEALTH IS EVERY WOMAN'S BIRTHRIGHT.

South Bend, Ind.—"Some few years ago I began to go down in health, caused by having woman's weakness. I saw Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription advertised and I got it at once. It was just a short space of time until this medicine completely cured me. Then, about two years ago I had severe pain in both kidneys and my limbs were swollen. It was almost impossible for me to rise in the morning. I took medicine but there relief was only temporary. Some time later I learned of Anuric and got it at once. I soon began to feel better. I kept up its use until I was completely cured of this ailment. I have not had any more backache and my kidneys are in fine condition. I feel safe in recommending Dr. Pierce's remedy for I know they are good."—Mrs. MARY E. POWERS, 728 Columbia St.

STRONGER MEN TAKE THE LEAD

They Have Nerves of Iron and Real Red Fighting Blood

Vital force is the material from which leaders in all walks of life are made. It is well worth getting and holding.

The health and nerve of the athlete is what Nature intended every man and woman to have.

The blood of an athlete is pure and red, a strong heart pumps and drives it through his body. No wonder that every inch of his system is filled with energy and health. His nerves like iron, spirits high, hard tasks a pleasure and life one song of joy.

A leading Doctor says, "Everyone should feel this way. That if you are not red blooded, are nervous, all run down and on your last legs, for you to build up your blood and nerves with exercise, fresh air, nourishing food and Nature's great prescription, Phosphated Iron, a real blood and nerve builder."

Then you will be there with vim and push to easily do the work that you now do on your nerves alone.

He also says, "Phosphated Iron feeds the blood cells with iron and nerve force, and that leading specialists are now using it successfully all over the country, that it has sprung into almost instant popularity with the better class of doctors as one of the few remedies they can depend on to produce results."

Special Notice—To insure physicians and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we put up in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to substitute any pills or tablets. For sale in Fort Wayne by Meyer Bros., four stores, also D. & N. Pharmacy—Advertisement

SAYS HOT WATER WASHES POISONS FROM THE LIVER

Everyone should drink hot water with phosphate in it, before breakfast.

To feel as fine as the proverbial addie, we must keep the liver washed clean, almost every morning, to prevent its sponge-like pores from clogging with indigestible material, sour bile and poisonous toxins, says a noted physician.

If you get headaches, it's your liver. If you catch cold easily, it's your liver. If you wake up with a bad taste, furred tongue, nasty breath or stomach becomes rancid, it's your liver. Sallow skin, muddy complexion, watery eyes all denote liver uncleanness. Your liver is the most important, also the most abused and neglected organ of the body. Few know its function or how to release the jammed-up body waste, bile and toxins. Most folks resort to violent calomel, which is a dangerous, salivating chemical which can only be used occasionally because it accumulates in the tissues, also attacks the bones.

Every man and woman, sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, to wash from the liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, the poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Limestone phosphate does not restrict the diet like calomel, because it can not salivate, for it is harmless and you can eat anything afterwards. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, and any pharmacist will sell you a quarter pound, which is sufficient for a demonstration of how hot water and limestone phosphate cleans, stimulates and freshens the liver, keeping you feeling fit day in and day out.—Advertisement.

TURKISH ARMY IN FULL ROUT

British Are Driving the Crescent Flag From Palestine.

Hindenburg Order to Retake Passchendaele is Still in Abyeance.

London, Nov. 9.—The entire Turkish army in Palestine is retreating towards the north. British airplanes are following up the retreating Turks and bombing them.

ON THE WEST FRONT.

London, Nov. 9.—An official statement issued today by the British war office regarding military operations in France and Belgium, says:

"We made a successful raid last night to the eastward of Hargicourt. There was nothing of special interest to report."

HINDENBURG ORDER IGNORED.

Canadian Headquarters in France, Via London, Nov. 8.—(By the Canadian Press, Ltd.)—Hindenburg's orders to his troops to retake Passchendaele at all costs has not yet resulted in any enemy infantry activity before Passchendaele. Both yesterday and today have been exceptionally quiet, except for our artillery, which has been maintaining a harassing fire on all the routes of approach to the centers of activity in the enemy area.

Reports of an eastward movement of enemy batteries possibly indicate that he may be preparing new gun positions to support an attack upon the ridge, but in the meantime the Canadians are strengthening their new positions and preparing for all emergencies.

Two battalion commanders with their staffs were captured in the last engagement, a striking indication of the rapidity with which our troops maintained their attack.

"With such men I could go anywhere, do anything," is one captured officer's comment on the Canadians. Indeed, the officers are loud in admiration of our troops, especially their physique. They are loud also in amazed comments on the treatment they are receiving. The prisoners state that they received special lectures on the ferocity of the British troops, being told to take no prisoners.

Recent captures confirm the reports of heavy enemy losses. Our troops went over so rapidly and followed the barrage so closely that numerous cases are reported where the enemy had no chance to fire his machine guns before our infantry was on top of him. Our counter battery work and artillery concentrations have also been so effective recently that enemy battery positions have been constantly changed.

The class will meet again this evening at 8:15, and all Business Girls who desire to help in this work are urged to be present.

Bible study class will meet at 7:30 with Miss Cole as leader. Class discussions are growing more and more interesting, and those unable to be present will miss a rare treat. Study period will be limited so as to not interfere in any way with the Red Cross work immediately following.

FINE SKILL IN RETREAT

Retirement of Italians Conducted With Much Brilliancy.

Heroic Examples of Self-Sacrifice and Personal Bravery.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Official cablegrams received here today from the Italian battle front say the retreat is being conducted with skill. It is characterized by many brilliant examples of self-sacrifice and personal bravery and that the new lines, which it is hoped will be permanent, have been most carefully prepared. The statement follows:

"The retirement of the Italian armies to the Livorno was conducted in strict conformity with the plans already laid and has been successfully accomplished. While the Tagliamento river, which line was abandoned, formed a considerable obstacle to the enemy advance, this is true only in time of floodwater. When the rains stopped and the waters of the river receded the river was no longer any considerable natural obstacle to the enemy's advance."

"The army corps commanded by Gen. Di Giorgio and some parts of the third army corps retreated on the extreme left to the hills above Pinzano and by a wonderful maneuver succeeded in greatly retarding the enemy's crossing of the Tagliamento river, presenting a serious menace to the Austro-German right wing and threatening his communications in the direction of Codroipo. Meanwhile the retirement of the main body of the Italian army to the Livorno was greatly aided by the configuration of the ground and the streams which delayed the pursuit of the Austro-Germans."

"The Livorno river is deep and swift with a number of bridges but the Italian general staff regards it as only a temporary line capable of favoring rear guard actions and delaying the enemy's advance while the Italian army is finding a stronger position in the rear. In these rear guard engagements the territorialists have given an admirable account of themselves in machine gun work. The Bersaglieri and mounted bicycle troops, the Third division cavalry, the Fourth brigade of grenadiers and other contingents have distinguished themselves in furious counter attacks, showing high courage."

"Great valor also was displayed above all by the army corps under General Di Giorgio, which sustained the heaviest enemy onslaughts and succeeded in checking them, thereby giving time to the remainder of the Italian army to straighten its lines. Most important also were the operations of the corps of the Cornia, which, while retreating, never ceased to counter attack the enemy."

DESPOUDENT WOMAN COMMITS SUICIDE

Mrs. Sadie L. Sloman Ends Life After Suffering From Several Years' Illness.

Mrs. Sadie L. Sloman, aged 37, wife of Samuel Sloman, made good her threat to end her own life when she fired a bullet from a 38-caliber revolver into her breast. Ill health of the past few years was the cause. She had become very despondent and had frequently deplored her fate.

The affair occurred Thursday afternoon shortly after 5 o'clock in the rooms above her husband's saloon at the corner of Harrison and Pearl streets. Shortly before the fatal shooting Mrs. Sloman called her husband from his place of business, but she did not tell him anything about her intended plans. On his way downstairs he heard the shot that caused her death. The revolver had been about the house for some time. Wednesday the deceased had told the doctor that she had nothing to live for and wanted to die. She had told her husband the same thing and had asked to have an auto funeral when she died.

Surviving besides the husband is a step-mother, Mrs. Henry Barnhart, of Butler. Mrs. Sloman was born on October 20, 1880.

NEW HEADS OF ITALIAN ARMY

General Diaz Succeeds Cadorna as First in Command.

WARRIORS NAMED TO LOWER PLACES

General Foch, France and General Wilson, England, to Aid.

Italian Headquarters, Nov. 8.—New heads of the Italian army have been named. General Diaz has been appointed first in command, with General Badoglio, second, and General Grandino, third.

General Foch, chief of staff of the French war ministry and General Wilson, sub-chief of the British general staff, will serve on the inter-allied committee with General Cadorna.

Among military officers the decision of the allies to create a permanent military committee has caused great satisfaction. It is accepted as evidence that the allies have awakened to the necessity of the closest union of the whole length of the western front for the political and military conduct of the war.

Gen. Diaz is rated as one of the ablest Italian military leaders. For years he was connected with the general staff. He took part in the Libyan war, serving as a colonel and was wounded so severely that he asked to be wrapped in a flag, feeling that death was at hand. He has rendered distinguished service in the present campaign. He is from southern Italy. Gen. Badoglio is a northerner. In the war he has been in command of a brigade of bersaglieri, whose heroic deeds have done much to decrease the gravity of the disaster.

Gen. Grandino was minister of war in the cabinet of Premier Boselli. He was one of the leading generals of the second army.

Battle of Winter Palace in Petrograd Was Not Sanguinary.

All Art Objects Had Been Removed from Historic Building.

Petrograd, Nov. 9.—It is impossible at this hour to ascertain what the casualties were in the winter palace battle, although they are reported not to have been many. The fighting proceeded with the rival forces alternately in possession of the huge piles of wood stored in the plaza, a part of the city's winter fuel supply. The glare of an arc light illuminated the positions of the forces in the plaza while the rest of the city was in almost total darkness, this condition increasing the visibility of the flashes from the guns of the cruisers on the horizon, which gave warning of the speedy bursting of shells. The palace, which already had been stripped of most of its historic art objects, was completely denuded this afternoon of its tapestries and paintings. This was while the provisional government was still in control of the palace. The art treasures were taken to places of its selection.

The correspondent who was with a party of reserve soldiers and workmen's forces a short distance from the great archway leading into the plaza did not see any of the shells take effect upon the palace. In it, as also in the admiralty and foreign office buildings on the other side of the square, lights were still shining from the windows at midnight. Occasional crashes as if falling walls indicated that perhaps other structures had been hit. The populace for the most part remained indoors. A few of the curious peered around the corners, while thousands of the Maximist troops and sailors from Kronstadt gathered around the fuel piles at advantageous spots awaiting their turn in the battle.

BOYS ARRESTED FOR STEALING FROM AUTO

Fort Wayne Lads Take Casing Tube and Tools from Machine at Nine Mile.

Five Fort Wayne youngsters ranging in age from 17 to 20 years were given the fright of their young lives when arrested Wednesday at Huntington, charged with stealing a casing, inner tube and tools from the automobile of John Buflink at Nine Mile. They were released on their own recognizance and Friday morning were taken before Justice of the Peace Henry J. Grabner.

The fact that the boys have never been in trouble before and their promise never to do anything of the kind again caused the court to be lenient with the result that after paying for the damage done, amounting to $75, they were released.

The youngsters were Bernard Horn, Second street; Howard Brooks, 1413 Wall street; Herman Smith, 621 Hoffmann street; Joe Schmidt, 1622 Short street, and Frank Maley.

On the evening of November 6 the young men started to Huntington in Horn's automobile. They had a blow-out. Buflink's car was standing in front of the grocery store at Nine Mile and the boys proceeded to take the casing, inner tube and a number of tools and after repairing their own car continued their trip to Huntington.

On the following evening they made another trip to Huntington and as they passed through Nine Mile they were recognized. The Huntington police were notified and upon their arrival in that city were placed under arrest. They were later turned over to Sheriff Gillie, who permitted them to go home on their own recognizance. An affidavit was later filed by Buflink.

The boys were warned that a repetition of such conduct would result in more serious punishment.

Members of the various teams working in the interest of food conservation will partake of a meatless and wheatless dinner at the Elks' temple this evening at 6 o'clock. The public is invited.

The above menu will be served and is recommended by the food committee for other dinners on wheatless and meatless days.

The purpose of the meeting is to receive reports of the food pledge drive that has been conducted by the various teams of patriotic women. While some opposition has been encountered splendid progress has been made and as a result of the campaign there will be greater conservation of food in Fort Wayne than ever before in the history of the city.

One of the features of the meeting following the banquet will be an address by Prof. Mary Matthews, of Purdue university. Carlton Morrill also will sing.

An Important Work.

It is a very serious and important work that these women have been doing for food conservation and will do much toward helping the United States win the war. Frank Hilgmann, chairman of the food conservation committee, was very enthusiastic in his praise of the splendid work that the women have done.

"We are not asking people to starve," said Mrs. Franklin B. Meade, general chairman of the women's committee and director of the teams of women workers. "All we ask is that they help in the nation's movement to conserve the food supply."

Members of the various teams that have been canvassing the city for the distribution of food pledge cards in some instances have been victims of unjust accusations, when, as a matter of fact, they are engaged in a most patriotic movement. The members know that in many homes the housewives are already protecting the interests of those homes by frugality and the saving of food. They are already doing their bit to keep hunger away. All that they are asked to do is to sign the food pledge card which indicates their official enrollment in the work they are already carrying out, and to place one of the food card slogans in the window of their home to encourage someone else to do likewise."

cruiser Aurora and the cannon of the St. Peter and St. Paul fortress across the Neva river.

At 2 o'clock this morning the women's battalion which had been defending the Winter palace surrendered.

The workmen's and soldiers' delegates are in complete control of the city. The congress of soldiers and workmen, which assembled here last night, is expected to make immediate proposals for a "democratic peace."

Premier Kerensky was reported last night at Luga, eighty-five miles southwest of Petrograd.

Battle Lasts Four Hours.
Late yesterday evening after the government forces had been driven into the Winter palace the palace was besieged and a lively fight of machine guns and rifles began. The cruiser Aurora which was moored at the Nicola bridge, moved up within range, firing shrapnel. Meanwhile the guns of the St. Peter and St. Paul fortress opened fire.

The palace stood out under the glare of the searchlights of the cruiser and offered a good target for the guns. The defenders held out for four hours, replying as best they could with machine guns and rifles.

There was spasmodic firing in other parts of the city, but the workmen's and soldiers' troops took every means to protect quarters, who were ordered to their quarters. The bridges and the Nevsky Prospekt, which early in the afternoon were in the hands of the government forces, were captured and held during the night by the workmen's and soldiers' troops.

Armed Cars Used.
The battle at the palace, which began shortly after 6 o'clock, was a spectacular one, armed cars of the revolutionaries swinging into action in front of the palace gates, while flashes from the Neva were followed by explosions of shells from the guns of the Aurora.

Convoked Rebel Congress.
The general congress of workmen's and soldiers' delegates of all Russia was convened here last night, with 550 delegates in attendance. The chairman declared that the time was not propitious for political speeches, and the order of business of the congress approved was as follows:

First—Organization of power.
Second—Peace and war.
Third—A constituent assembly.

The officers elected comprise fourteen Maximists including Nikolai Lenin, the radical socialist and pro-German leader, and M. Zinovief, an associate of Lenin, and Leon Trotsky, president of the central executive committee of Petrograd council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates. In addition, seven revolutionary socialists were appointed.

A delegation was named to initiate peace negotiations with the other revolutionary and democratic organizations "with a view of taking steps to stop bloodshed."

Helmet to Protect War Photographers

The steel helmets that have been almost universally adopted by the armies on the battlefields of Europe are now to be used by the photographers. They are slightly different from the ones in general use, being conical in shape and coming down far over the eyes, but they serve the same purpose protecting the head of the wearer from bullets and shell splinters.

Fun and Money trapping muskrats

FUR is getting more and more valuable. Yet some farmers are content to have lots of fur walking around the farm loose on the backs of skunks and muskrats.

Follow the example of those farmers and their boys who set a dozen Victor traps in likely spots every evening through Fall and Winter and collect two or three hundred dollars in cash for the fur before Spring. And it's a spare time job at that!

The Victor grabs the animals by the leg and holds them tight. Start with a half dozen Victor. (We make a specialty of Victor traps.) They will pay for themselves—and a good profit besides—in your first week of trapping.

WHAT SHALL SOLDIERS DO OUTSIDE THE CAMPS? EFFORT UNDER WAY TO ANSWER THAT QUESTION*"WHY, FRED! IT'S JUST LIKE HOME!" SAMMIES FROM U. S. CAMP RENEWING THEIR CONTACT WITH THE WORLD OF HOME AND GIRLS AT A COMMUNITY DANCE.

(Special Dispatch from Harry B. Hunt, of our Washington Bureau.)

Washington, Nov. 9.—The spirit of the American army, even more than its numerical strength or its skill, is counted upon to smash through the German lines to victory.

To develop this spirit a nation wide campaign is being launched to enlist the support of every man and woman in war camp community recreation work. Those in cities and towns near cantonments may help personally. Those farther away may help with their dollars.

Upon this volunteer community service the government must depend, principally for the wholesome recreation necessary for the soldiers when outside the camps.

The vast majority of them came from healthy home and community environment, which must be replaced by one equally wholesome. If they were church members at home, they must have opportunity to attend church near the camps.

If they played ball at home facilities must be provided for continuing their games. If they sing or dance or write or speak, outlets must be provided for these natural interests.

The churches, clubs, places of amusement and the social and home life of the camp communities cannot of themselves meet the overwhelming demands. There must be help from the nation at large. Enough already has been done to prove the efficacy of the plans worked out by the camp community committee.

But about $4,000,000 will be necessary to provide for a million and a quarter men. This is sought by voluntary contribution. Three dollars will provide for one man.

Of the necessity for this work Secretary of War Baker says:

"If we can do for the American boy in the training camp what the American college has done for the boy in college, and what the American high school has done for the boy in high school; that is to say, if we can work his mind and body, and surround his recreation with such wholesome opportunities as will keep him from being turned to unwholesome things, we will have solved the social problem of our army."

"The soldiers on their days and hours off are going to scatter through all the cities and towns nearby. In all these we must make the inducements to wholesome thinking and living as numerous as we can."

"And to do that, we must organize every social activity in those towns. We must have the Y. M. C. A.'s, the Y. W. C. A.'s, the Masonic orders, the Elks, the Eagles, the churches and even our homes. Invite in the boys occasionally and give them contact with a normal domestic life."

"These boys are going to France. They are going to heroic enterprises. I want them adequately armed and clothed by their government; but I want them also to take with them an invisible armor made up of a set of social habits for their protection overseas."

"If they go with this esprit de corps, the more quickly and more surely will they come back to us. And the rest of us will have gotten a greater start toward a realization of the community's responsibility for the lives of the people who live in it."

Among the things the $4,000,000 community fund will do are:

Build clubhouses outside the camps with facilities for athletic contests, pool and billiard playing, reading and writing, etc.

Provide the services of trained workers who will organize the social forces of the communities for the benefit of the men in camp.

Provide moving picture and theatrical entertainments.

Arrange entertainments by volunteer artists at which the men from camp may also do their bit.

Dances, socials and appropriate holiday parties.

Arrange sightseeing and recreation trips.

Organize for outdoor and indoor athletic sports of all sorts, including baseball, tennis and skating.

Organize home hospitality, with its Sunday dinners, music, pleasant friendships.

This work should not be confused with recreation and entertainment inside the camps. This is provided so far as possible by the army itself and by the Y. M. C. A. and K. of C.

WANT ENROLLMENTS AS RADIO OPERATORS*Local School Gets Urgent Appeal for Help by Government.

The Fort Wayne vocational school has received an appeal from the federal board for vocational education at Washington in regard to radio operators. The letter is directed to Walter E. Gordon and is as follows:

"My Dear Sir: The federal board of vocational education appeals to you to come to the assistance of the United States government in a grave emergency. The emergency is this: Fifteen thousand radio or buzzer operators must be secured at the earliest possible date for service in the army. The federal board is making this appeal at the request of the United States signal corps, which is confronted with a serious shortage of men equipped to perform this essential service on the battlefield. Those operators must come from the ranks of conscripted men of the second and following drafts, whose instruction should begin before they are called to cantonments. For their training the government must largely depend on the schools of the nation."

"Enclosed with this letter is a memorandum giving information with regard to the work we are asking you to undertake. When you have read this, your attention is called to the blank which is also enclosed. This we urge that you fill out and send to the federal board at Washington as quickly as possible, saying that you will do your part in the program which we are launching."

There was never a better opportunity for schools giving practical education of all grades to demonstrate the value of this kind of education and to show their capacity to respond to an actual emergency in a time of national crisis.

It is made clear that the Y. M. C. A. will care for the men within the camp. Rotary is back of Secretary Baker's appeal to clean out the hell holes in the towns, beyond the reach of the camp Y. M. C. ### SYMPATHY FOR PARENTS OF DEAD SAILOR BOY

Patriotic Council of Fort Wayne Acts on Death of Joseph Schultz.

The first fatality of the war that has come to Fort Wayne moves the Patriotic Council of this city to take appropriate action in recognition of it and the following memorial has been adopted:

To the Parents and Kinsmen of Joseph Schultz:
The Fort Wayne Council for Patriotic Service has learned of the death while in the service of his country of Joseph Schultz, who lost his life on October 30th, 1917, while on picket duty upon the Atlantic ocean, and who was one of Fort Wayne's citizens.
Fort Wayne has for the past months been making one sacrifice after another in our country's cause, and the cause of civilization, and is preparing to make still further sacrifices, but it remained for you to make for this community the first supreme sacrifice of the war in this common cause.

The cause is worthy, the country that demanded the service supreme among the worth-while nations of earth, the flag he followed rich in the memories of hallowed deeds and of the noble men which it has shrouded; still, notwithstanding all the glory that attends and the honor due you for having made such a noble sacrifice, sadness needs must come and bitterness attend the loss.

This council perhaps can do little to make the way easy and the burden light to you, but it can not do less than to express to you the sympathy of every citizen worthy of the name in this community and to have you know that they are with you in kindly thought in this supreme sorrow.

May the God of Heaven who has power to comfort and who is an ever present help in time of trouble be with you and sustain you.

(Signed)

Ray Schutt, of Kendallville, Fears He Will Have Web Feet.

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 9.—Friends here are in receipt of an interesting letter from Ray Schutt, who is with the United States expeditionary forces in France. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Schutt, of Defiance, Ohio. Mrs. Schutt will be remembered here as Miss Agnes Sawyer, and was a former Kendallville girl, while Mr. Schutt was a former resident of Avilla. Excerpts from the young man's letter follow:

"I am somewhere in France. It is some wet country and no joke. Plenty of mud. If it lasts six months long, or I fear I will have web feet and be a duck instead of a man.

"You might be interested in knowing what kind of a bed I sleep in. It is a work of art and is made like this: Four rough posts are set upright and a frame of poles, on these some thin boards covered with card board are placed; then a layer of evergreen boughs, and on top of this a tick full of hay.

"Our Y. M. C. A. is a great help, and adds wonderfully to our comforts. On Sunday we have a morning service, which answers to our church in the States. It does a fellow good, and I always picture the old church at home and the kindly faces of old. In connection with the Y. M. C. A. reading room we have books and magazines as well as American newspapers that are several months old.

"Wednesday night is stunt night here and each fellow has to entertain the others in the line in which he is best adapted, clog dancing, singing, story telling, etc. We also have boxing and wrestling matches."

LOCAL OFFICER ON ILL-FATED ALCEDO

Thought That Com. Frederick M. Freeman Was Saved if He Was Aboard Ship.

The Alcedo, which torpedoed by a German U-boat and was sunk, while on duty in European water, on Nov. 6, was used as the flag boat of a small squadron of submarine chasers.

FREDERICK M. FREEMAN.

commanded by Commander Frederick M. Freeman, U. S. N., brother of Henry R. Freeman and Mrs. William Hahn, of Fort Wayne. In the casualty list, which consisted of twenty-one names, one officer and twenty sailors losing their lives, the name of the local officer did not appear. The duties of the commanding officer were such he might have been on shore duty. Friends are anxiously awaiting news of his safety.

Frederick M. Freeman, the Fort

Wayne officer of the ill-fated ship was born in this city in 1875 and was educated in the Fort Wayne schools. He entered the United States navy academy at Annapolis in 1891 and graduated four years later. During the Spanish-American war he saw active duty aboard the U. S. S. Connecticut. Promotion came quickly to the young officer and last summer he was made a commander and was assigned to service in foreign waters during the great world war. He is rated as a first-class officer and on his visit to Fort Wayne last July hinted at his dangerous duties aboard his fleet of "sub chasers."

FORMER FORT WAYNE ATTORNEY MAKES GOOD

Ira Snouffer May be Transferred to Judge Advocate's Department.

Ira M. Snouffer, one of Fort Wayne's successful young attorneys who entered the second officers' training camp is making good.

Reports from Fort Harrison are to the effect that Attorney Snouffer has been recommended for a commission in the judge advocate's department. This is taken to mean that

IRA M. SNOUFFER.

Mr. Snouffer will not enter active service at once, but will be held in reserve to fill vacancies that may occur by the enlargement of that department which will be required as the army is enlarged.

While in this city on a thirty-six-hour furlough, he stated to his many friends that he likes army life first rate and that the treatment received at the camp was of the best.

WITH CAVALRY POLICE PATROL

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 9.—Les Plattner, son of Jacob Plattner of this city, is now with the United States cavalry police patrol at Fort Sill, Okla. He says: "We feel at home here; even though we are in tents. We've installed floors and the tents are boarded up five feet high, with the tent over that, and a stove in the center. It is sure warm and cozy. Eight men occupy each tent, which measures 26x20 feet. My first duty was to keep order among the soldiers from camp, who attended a picture show in town. About 10,000 soldiers go to town every evening." Mr. Plattner was formerly on the ranch of his brother, Irvin Plattner, of Ford, Kan.

FIRST CLASS GUNNERS.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 9.—Ward Merriam writes from Fort Dupont that he has passed his first and second examinations and has now attained the rank of first-class gunner with an accompanying raise in pay. He writes that he expects to be at Fort Dupont all winter.—Miss Jessie Sack received a letter from her brother, Donald, who is in the army at Fort Mott, saying that he has passed his first and second class gunner's examination and he thought that all the rest of the Bluffton boys had passed also.

PECK EXPLAINS THE COAL SITUATION

Lake Ports Must Have Three Million Tons More Says Pennsy Officials.

George L. Peck, fourth vice president of the committee on lake and ore transportation, writes Fairfax Harrison, of the railroad war board as follows:

"For the week ended at 7:00 a. m., Sunday, November 4, the railroads report a total of 322,613 tons of coal delivered to boats at Lake Erie ports, and 798,971 tons of ore moved from these ports for the interior furnaces.

"The tonnage of coal loaded was an increase of 8,500 tons, or 1.04 per cent, over the preceding week. Of the total estimate of 29,000,000 tons of coal to be delivered to boats this season, there has been loaded to date 21,179,713 tons, which is an increase of 710,127 tons, or 3.33 per cent, as compared with the same date last year, and leaves for loading in the four weeks, more or less, remaining of lake navigation, 4,829,287 tons of coal if the original estimates are to be met.

"The ore moved from lake ports this week shows an increase of 23,141 tons, or 2.58 per cent, over the preceding week. Of the 30,000,000 tons of ore which it was estimated would have to be taken from these lower lake ports in cars during the season of navigation, 26,544,047 tons have been moved since the opening of navigation, leaving 3,455,953 tons to be moved during the probable remaining four weeks of navigation. Warmer weather in the northwest has thawed the frozen ore, and loading has now resumed.

"Most of the furnaces are now receiving their full allotment for the season. Shipments for these concerns have been stopped at the head of the lakes, and it will now be possible to concentrate on those having an insufficient supply to run them through the winter.

"Through the operation of the voluntary pool arranged by the ore shippers and furnace people, it thus becomes possible to utilize much needed facilities for the transportation of essentials, while under normal circumstances these facilities would have been absorbed by the continuance of shipments to all furnaces to the close of navigation.

"The pooling of lake coal has also proven very efficacious, the saving in detention having amounted thus far to about $26,000 per day.

"The greatest benefit of all, though, has resulted from the harmonious working of all interests to a common end, and one of the most hopeful signs for the future is the growing disposition among loyal men of all classes to co-operate and sink their differences in the common cause. This is growing more apparent among the employees every day.

"The last circular of the commission on car service, on embargoes, explaining their use and purpose and advising their prompt and vigorous use whenever necessary, is most timely. A good simile is that of a traffic policeman at the corner of the roads in the industrial district that special emergency movements tend to retard the general flow of traffic and thus restrict the capacity of the plant. Better results can be accomplished by the existing facilities by utilizing them and the forces in the manner designed for handling the traffic in normal times, and leaving to the judgment of the men on the ground, the question of changing routes or co-ordinating facilities when emergency demands, always assuming that everyone will be informed as to the necessity for priority. This Pittsburgh sub-committee has this matter well in hand, and the emergency situation now assumed will be able to at least get out of the existing facilities the maximum movement possible under present conditions.

"The local steel committee has not yet reported on the situation as to government orders, but leading authorities in the steel trade say that no one is at present in a position to say what the total requirements of the government for steel will amount to. It would seem reasonable to say, however, that if any considerable portion of the productive capacity of the industry is now employed on non-essentials, that this capacity should be directed toward the relief of the railroads, who are badly in need of steel for equipment and new work absolutely essential to the winning of the war. Normally the railroads are supposed to take more than half the output of steel, while during the past year they have taken hardly any."

METER DEPARTMENT ORGANIZED

Ben O'Brien Is Chairman and E. S. Gerig, Secretary.

P. C. Morganthaler, manufacturing engineer of the meter department, delivered the opening address last night to the employees of the meter department, this being the first of a series of twelve lectures to be given by various official members of the department. Considerable interest was manifested which was evidenced by the large number in attendance, several of the girls being present. As this was the opening meeting, the address devolved on general principles of the department, emphasizing especially, co-operation, conservation of material, and cleanliness. J. L. Bireley will deliver the next address on meters and instruments, November 22.

Steps were taken to make this a permanent organization, and broaden out in various fields of welfare work. With this end in view, Ben O'Brien, foreman of the testing department, was elected chairman, and E. S. Gerig, of the engineering department, secretary. A committee, has been appointed to draw up a set of by-laws, those appointed being William Nieman, Fred H. Owen and J. L. Bireley. The organization will be named at the next meeting.

X. J. DIVENS THE RECIPIENT OF HONORS

Receives President's Cup as Best Marksman at Rifle and Revolver Contest.

In the presence of the judges, the executive officers, the captains of the teams of the Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver club, in the office of President E. A. Wagner, at 11 o'clock this morning, President Wagner formally presented the president's trophy, a handsome silver cup, to X. J. Divens, the winner of the contest for that trophy several weeks ago. Addressing the assemblage and Mr. Divens, Mr. Wagner said:

"Gentlemen: At the present time the most important subject in the minds of American people is the question of the successful prosecution of the war. Among numerous other things it requires that a great many of our men know how to properly handle and use the service rifle. Anything which can be done to encourage better performance in the use of the service rifle in any way, shape or manner, either by encouraging greater efforts on the part of other men by demonstration of personal prowess, or teaching others to attain this prowess, is of benefit to our own people and our own government.

"We have recently had a competition for a silver cup which was presented for the purpose of encouraging the club members to strive for better performance. One among several of the members who have been exceptionally industrious in perfecting themselves in the use of the service rifle demonstrated in an actual competition that he is capable, by making a better record than the other men who entered this contest. It would be a great pleasure to have each and every one of you to attain the distinction of winning such a prize. However, there being only one winner in this contest, it is with great pleasure that I present this cup to Mr. X. J. Divens, the winner of this contest, and I trust he will consider it of greater value than represented intrinsically, because it shows he is encouraging, by deeds of his own, one of those things which all of our citizens, young and old, should learn to do thoroughly and carefully."

Mr. Divens responded appropriately, expressing thanks for the trophy and a determination to keep up his interest in the rifle club, and following his remarks came a general discussion of the rifle club question. President Wagner remarked that every conscientious man should be able to shoot well and that a member of the Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver club who had participated in any of the target practices was better fitted for service in the army than one who had not that experience. This sentiment seemed to be held by all present and acting upon it the men present decided to at once inaugurate a membership campaign which would not be allowed to end until the roll of the club had reached the 1,000 mark.

The presentation of the president's cup this morning was the third event of the kind since the organization of the Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver club. The first was presented by Dr. H. M. Leslie, the second by Supt. E. A. Wagner and the third by E. A. Wagner. The next event of this character will be the presentation to H. A. Hartmann by Mr. Wood of the James J. Wood trophy, also a silver cup, which will take place either this afternoon or tomorrow.

E. W. URBANUS PROMOTED

A Fond du Lac paper of a recent date prints the following notice of the promotion of a former resident of Fort Wayne, who left the city eight years ago:

"E. W. Urbanus, assistant superintendent for the Soo Line at Chicago, has been appointed acting superintendent of the Chicago-Minneapolis division, taking the place of Supt. C. M. Winter during the latter's absence in the Russian railway service."

"The adjustment by Soo Line officials to provide for Mr. Winter's satisfaction on the part of friends and patrons of the Soo Line, since Mr. Urbanus returns to be among friends of long standing. His wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. McLean of this city.

"Mr. Urbanus joined the Soo Line in 1907 and for several years was chief train dispatcher at the North Fond du Lac headquarters, where he became greatly liked, and greatly admired for his ability. His transfer to Chicago amounted to a well-earned promotion.

"W. W. Wade, who has been trainmaster at Stevens Point, goes to Chicago to fill Mr. Urbanus' place while he is here acting for Mr. Winter. The appointments are immediately effective."

SMALLPOX EPIDEMIC

IS GREATLY LESSENED

But One New Case is Reported at Board of Health Office Friday.

For the first time since the starting of the smallpox epidemic two weeks ago does the health board feel confident that it has the spreading of the disease in check. Practically all of the people subject to exposure have been vaccinated and with the co-operation which the big firms of the city have agreed to give them the board feels confident that no more cases will be heard from within a short time.

But one case was reported up to late Friday, that of Glen Potts, 1707 Grand avenue. Another case of diphtheria, however, was reported in the Kruse home, 1240 Summit street.

The taking up of vaccination work by the factories of Fort Wayne will prove a big factor in stamping out the epidemic. The Walbash shops have already vaccinated a number of their employees and the General Electric works is considering taking up the project.

MOONLIGHT SCHEDULE

Will Go Into Effect at Once to Save Coal.

Fort Wayne is to once more have its moonlight lighting schedule. This action as adopted by the board of works Thursday evening is in compliance with a letter received from Henry Readell, Fort Wayne's fuel regulator. Superintendent Frank Dix, of the lighting plant, stated that as the foliage from the trees was practically all gone the plan would be adaptable on moonlight nights.

The regulations for the widening of Dayton avenue, the paving of Woodview avenue, the excavation of an alley and the laying of a sewer were all adopted. The Wayne Oil Tank and Pump works presented a petition to improve Cochran street and to vacate that part of Canal street north of the New York, Chicago & St. Louis railroad. The petition was filed.

City Hall Items

The board of works has approved a plan for a new addition in the old Centlivre park grounds.

The brick pavement between College and Phenic streets on Wall street has been completed by the Moellering Construction company.

Once in the store he gave up the ghost and lying down in the corner passed in. The city pound wagon performed the final ceremonies to the only dog that has ever held up traffic for three minutes in Fort Wayne.

BELGIUM'S BLOODIEST RIVAL AS "COCKPIT OF EUROPE" IS FRIULI REGION IN NORTHERN ITALY.

Piazza Vittorio Emanuele, at Udine, Italy, showing some of the beautiful buildings that have fallen into von Mackensen's hands and may be pillaged and destroyed by the German invaders. At the left is the town hall, built in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. The statue beneath the clocktower is that of Victor Emmanuel I., the first king of reunited Italy.

"The cockpit," Belgium, has but one rival as a battlefield of the nations. This misfortune belongs to Friuli, or the province of Udine, in northern Italy, where the Italian and Teutonic armies are now operating.

Friuli, like Flanders, is a great frontier plain, which has been soaked with human blood from the beginning of history.

Cividale, burned by the Germans October 23, was founded by Julius Caesar as an outpost for Rome, and with all the other towns of Friuli it has been put to the torch by successive hordes of barbarians and would-be world conquerors as they swept through the Alpine passes toward Rome.

At the close of the Visigoths ravaged the plain, 403 A. D.

What he did then has come down through the centuries as a synonym for war at its worst—but it was doubtless child's sport compared to what the modern Hun does.

Theodor, the Ostrogoth, came next, and won one of the decisive bat-ties of the world. Charlemagne, Emperor, Napoleon, have camped on this field of Mars. Franks and Lombards, Patriarchs and Doges, have ruled over Friuli, and two or three times in every century the Isanzo and the Tagliamento have run red.

In 1797 Friuli was divided, by the fortunes of war, between Venice and Austria, and in 1866 the Venetian territory was shanded over to Italy.

Friuli, like Belgium, has beautiful historic architectural monuments. The Palazzo Comunale, or town hall of Udine, erected in 1457, is in the style of the famous dual palace in Venice. Built of rose and white marble, it is one of the loveliest things in all Italy. It will hardly escape the tragic fate of the art treasures of northern France and Flanders.

Udine is but 10 miles from the wall of the Alps, the Austrian frontier, and 54 miles by rail northeast of Venice. Until the present disaster, it has been the base of Italian military operations. It is important strategically because it is backed by the mountains and is situated at the junction of two railways, one leading to Trieste, one to Venice.

The Tagliamento rises with extraordinary rapidity in floodtime. Formerly it spread itself out over the plain, but modern engineers have confined it between mighty dikes. The river brings down tons of sand and stones in its short, swift run from the mountains to the sea, and since it can no longer spread them in a thin layer over a large area, it fills up its bed with deep deposits every year. The walls of its dikes have therefore to be raised at regular intervals, so that now the town of Cividale, on the left bank of the river, lies some 40 feet below the stream. In the season of the great spring floods watchmen are stationed day and night, upon the Tagliamento's dikes.

The Plave, where Cadorna must establish his defense, used to cover a bed a mile wide. In olden days it checked many an invading host of barbarians. Now its old bed is a stony stretch of sand, bordering the stony walls which confine its waters.

Stock Markets Recoil Under Discouraging News from Abroad.

New York, Nov. 9.—Investment shares were in demand at the opening of today's stock market, although the list as a whole showed further hesitation.

United States Steel opened at a slight gain which was soon increased to 1 1/2 points and Bethlehem steel rose 2 points. Ralls were irregular, Pacifics and coals showing underlying firmness.

Inactive specialties and utilities were again reactionary.

Further discouraging advices from abroad and new minimums for British, French and Russian bonds, also Russian and Italian exchange, caused a general setback in the first hour.

United States steel reacted to 90¢ and other stocks fell 1 to 2 points under their best. Rallies in marines, rails and steel hardened prices again at noon.

Liberty 4s held at par, but the 5 1/2s made a new low record on the decline from 99.38 to 99.23.

ORGANIZING

Team captains and team members will all be on hand at the "get ready" dinner at the Elks' temple next Tuesday noon, and they will start the big three-day drive on Wednesday morning.

Volunteer teams already lined up include the Friars with E. F. Brinkman as captain; the Kiwanis, with F. W. Fowler as chief; the University club, headed by E. M. Hulse; the Hundred Per Cent club, in command of David Vesey and the Men's club with Art Smith directing their efforts.

Messrs. E. F. Yarnelle, E. E. Greist, E. W. Pierce, E. J. Little and others who are in charge of departmental work of the campaign express every confidence that the work will be quickly swept forward to a notable victory in Allen county, and that other counties of the district will exceed their quota of subscriptions. The headquarters on East Berry street is now marked by a big sign and campaign details are being worked out there.

Business Interests Help.

Announcement received today from the headquarters of the S. S. Kresge stores, at Detroit, by F. H. Lewis, manager of the Fort Wayne store, shows the deep interest in the Y. M. C. A. campaign on the part of the largest business interests. One-half of the gross receipts of each store next Tuesday, November 13, will be given to the local campaign committee. In order to increase the sales, the following arrangement is made: To the store showing the greatest percentage of increase Tuesday over the previous Tuesday, the company will give each saleslady in that store, during the week an extra dollar. If the same store has the greatest percentage of increase for the week, the amount will be doubled. Mr. Lewis states that the arrangement will be entered into here with enthusiasm and the entire sales force is looking forward to a record-breaking sales day, with the hope of making the campaign contribution an immense one.

Employees of the Fort Wayne store will hold a meeting Monday morning to prepare for the work here.

More Enthusiastic Words.

B. J. Griswold, at publicity headquarters, reports many new statements of endorsement of next week's campaign.

In a statement concerning the Y. M. C. A. campaign, William E. Mossman says: "I am heartily in favor of the Y. M. C. A. war work campaign. I believe this Y. M. C. A. work to be an absolute necessity among our soldiers, and next to the Red Cross and the regular demands of the government, should have our most hearty support. The boys abroad are sure to get lonesome and discouraged at times, and that is where the Y. M. C. A. comes in to make them feel at home, to give them a little something of the United States on foreign soil. If those boys are willing to sacrifice their time and the comforts of home, and even their lives, we who stay at home should certainly support them with our dollars."

Says W. H. Shambaugh: "From the evidence at hand we are justified in concluding that the war will continue for at least a year or more. That the allies will win is a foregone conclusion, but to do it men and money must be provided. The men who are called upon to risk their lives and endure the hardships of war are entitled not alone to the sympathy and admiration of the stay-at-home, but to all the necessities and comforts that money can provide and opportunity will permit. The Young Men's Christian association is an organization that can furnish and efficiently distribute these essentials if money is provided. The cause is a righteous one and deserving of the moral and financial support of everyone. Therefore, the campaign for the purposes announced by the association should be enthusiastically supported. Those that cannot give should at least encourage those that can."

William H. Scheiman says: "The American Y. M. C. A. will be the most important institution on the European battlefields. Ministering, as it does, to the spiritual, mental and bodily welfare of the soldier, its presence is bound to improve the morale of our own and our allies' armies."

D. W. McMillan, president of the McMillan company, says: "One of the greatest forces at work in the great world war, both at home and abroad, is the Y. M. C. A. No man doubts this who is informed. Every man owes it to his country and his God to be informed. Men with 'ice shush' trickling through their veins must fall to respond. Men with red blood must and will pay. May the God of our fathers witness the unselfish service of thousands in Fort Wayne, in this great campaign."

Says E. A. Crane: "On my return from South Bend a few days ago I had the opportunity to talk to three officers of the United States army who were on their way from Fort Funston to report at New York and from there they did not know where the Y. M. C. A. work in the cantonments. I told them we were going to put on a campaign in the near future. These officers told me it meant a great deal to the private in the army, and that the buildings at Fort Funston were crowded every night. They said that if the American people who did not have to serve in the army realized what it meant to these men they would make sacrifices to raise the money necessary to carry on the work. One of these men was a major, and he explained to me that he thought it was more important that the man be made strong in mind and body than it was to train him in war tactics. It seems to me the smallest thing that we can do is to be liberal with our money and try to make the soldiers' lives as pleasant as possible when he is willing to give up his life so that those who remain at home may enjoy the privileges and comforts this country affords."

Says Frank E. Bohn: "There are very grave and serious problems before us just now, but that gravity and seriousness is nothing to my mind, with what we may expect if the war continues, and in the best judgment of many who are in a position to predict with some degree of accuracy, it will of necessity continue for several years. Let us, therefore, awaken to our responsibilities. Let us discard all semblance of apathy and insensibility to the seriousness of our present and future situation. Let us realize today our weighty responsibilities. Let us set forth to discharge them as Americans. The work of the Y. M. C. A. in the camps and at the front is surely of utmost importance and it should not be necessary to go into detail as to the good to be accomplished. Let us, therefore, give to this cause gladly and liberally, considering it a duty as well as a pleasure. There are not and will not be any American slackers at the front. Those boys have offered their lives to protect us here at home and it seems that we are doing but little by contributing to their welfare through the Y. M. C. A. Red Cross, Liberty Loan, Camp Community fund, etc. Who is the 'slacker'? The man of military age who hesitates about offering his very life to the cause or the despicable 'rightward' exempt from service, who keeps his hand on his pocketbook in these days. Think it over! Let's not only 'do our bit'—let's 'go the limit' in these things. Let's give freely and gladly, and rejoice that we can give and make it possible to win this war in the least possible time."

Says E. W. Puckett: "I am certainly in hearty accord with the Y. M. C. A. war-work campaign. Will be glad to do anything I can to further this great work and feel that everyone should support it to the limit."

Says E. J. Little: "It is my honest opinion that if the men and women of Fort Wayne could really know the good that is being done by the Y. M. C. A. war department and the great necessity for it, they could rather than see that work stop, give every dollar they possess and then mortgage their earnings for the rest of their lives. Fortunately, this is not necessary. Just a few thousand dollars from this favored and wealthy community is all that is needed at this time. How thankful we should be for our safety and for the privilege of taking part in this ennobling work!"

Dr. L. P. Drayer thus states his views: "The demand for every possible force to be enlisted against the contraction and spread of venereal disease in the United States and every other army, is so apparent that it needs no further comment. The Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus, in their fight for the comfort and entertainment of the men in camps and at the front, should be supported as heartily as the Red Cross and the Liberty Loan movements. To have a boy leave home in perfect health and to return with a disease to be transmitted through two or three generations is worse than death a thousand times. With all my might I will support your efforts."

B. Paul-Mossman gives this expression of his views: "I believe the needs of the Y. M. C. A. work both in the cantonments at home and in the camps abroad for our soldiers, is most urgent. In fact, I have agreed with myself to limit my contributions during this war to three objects, all of which are under the control of the government. First, the government itself, in the way of Liberty Bonds, and taxes, and second, to the Red Cross, for its work among the sick and wounded in the hospitals. Third, the Y. M. C. A. work which cares for the morale of the soldiers, providing them with home comforts, amusement in the way of moving pictures, victrolas, music, entertainments, athletic sports, etc. It seems to me that these three objects ought to cover all of the necessities for the soldiers both at home and abroad. There certainly is no more important work than this work of the Y. M. C. A., which cares for the spiritual and physical welfare of our boys abroad. The government recognizes the necessity of this work and has asked for the help of the people in America, not only for this work among our soldiers, but also urged the work of the Y. M. C. A. among the French, the Italian and Russian armies. These appeals for the Y. M. C. A. work have come direct from the French, Italian and Russian governments. I sincerely hope this campaign in Fort Wayne and Allen county for our share in this great work, will be most successful."

SUMMARY OF THE DAY'S WAR NEWS

Petrograd is under control of the Maximalists, while Premier has fled the Russian capital.

The downfall of the provisional government's authority, in Petrograd at least, came suddenly and without great bloodshed and several ministers of Kerensky's cabinet are in prison.

Unofficial opinion in allied capitals seems to be that the Maximalist attempt to guide the destinies of troubled Russia will be short lived. Civil war with the more conservative elements of Russia opposed to the extremists of Petrograd is not unlooked for, and in some quarters, it is thought that even now Kerensky at the head of loyal troops may be marching against the Bolsheviks.

Dispatches received from Petrograd are subject to the censorship of the Maximalists and probably portray only one side of the situation, but the present outbreak of the radicals appears to have been more successful than the abortive effort of last July. Nicolai Lenine, who fled leading the Maximalists, who were aided by most of the Petrograd garrison and sailors from the Baltic fleet.

The action of the Maximalists had been approved by the all-Russian congress of workmen's and soldiers' council.

A proclamation has been issued by the revolutionary government declaring that in purposes to negotiate an "immediate democratic peace." It also plans to turn over all the land to the peasantry and to summon the constituent assembly.

Little serious fighting attended the revolt, the most important being the bombardment of the winter palace, the seat of the provisional government by the warship Aurora and the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul.

The palace held out for four hours, answering the bigger guns of the warship and fortress with machine guns and rifles before its defenders surrendered.

In northern Italy the Austro-Germans have forced a crossing of the Livorno river and the Italians are retreating toward the Piave, the last strong natural line before Venice. General Cadorna's troops are making a more spirited resistance to the forward movement of the invaders, especially on the upper Tagliamento and the upper Piave.

The large units of the Italian army are retreating without molestation from the Austro-Germans but strong rear guard action giving the Teutons battle at several points. An Italian attempt to hold out on the middle Tagliamento resulted in the force being cut off and 17,000 Italians, including a general, being taken by the Austro-Germans, increasing their captures, according to Berlin, to 250,000.

Along the Livorno General Cadorna's soldiers apparently were more successful. The invaders crossed the Livorno only after a vigorous attack and in the region of Vittorio the Italians were able to delay the advance. The Livorno is but a scant ten miles from

of extraordinary animation. There is a perpetual coming and going of representatives from the provinces participating in the congress, delegates on the way to convey orders to the soldiers, sailors and militia and the red guard. A strong armed guard occupied the interior and surrounded the building while several armored motor cars bearing anti-aircraft guns are stationed in adjacent streets to insure the protection to the headquarters.

"The gardens around the institute are filled with motor cars with which to carry the delegates around town. Nicolai Lenine, accompanied by his lieutenant, Zinovieff, received an enthusiastic reception on his arrival. They were scarcely recognized, Lenine having shaved off his mustache and Zinovieff having grown a beard.

"From the institute the revolutionary committee is issuing orders for the occupation of the railroad stations and government institutions. The orders are promptly obeyed by the troops and the red guard. Detachments of sailors are arriving from Kronstadt, while a cruiser and two torpedo boats are anchored in the river near the Nicholas bridge."

WOMEN DID NOT FIGHT.

Petrograd, Nov. 8.—The women's battalion which was among the defenders of the winter palace surrendered yesterday before the battle began.

A despatch received from Petrograd last night said the women's battalion and the other government forces holding the palace were compelled to capitulate under the fire of the cruiser Aurora and the cannon of the St. Peter and St. Paul fortress. The Maximalist account of the uprising said there had been no bloodshed.

IN BEST OF SPIRITS
Will Be Held in Allen County Jail Until Chicago Men Arrive.

Louis Pfeiffer, held at the police station on a charge of shooting his wife, is in the same good spirits that he has been since his arrest. He appeared in police court Friday morning and was ordered held. Officers from Chicago are expected to arrive the first of next week to take the man back to city where the shooting occurred, for a hearing.

Pfeiffer still insists that he is glad that he shot his wife, but that he hopes she will recover. In the meanwhile the victim of the affair is in a critical condition in a Chicago hospital. Pfeiffer states that his wife refused to go back to their home in Houston, Texas, with him, but insisted in living in a disreputable house with her daughter in Chicago. This and the refusal to talk to him led to the shooting.

Mrs. Pfeiffer's former husband, John Heffelfinger, talked with Pfeiffer a short time before he shot the woman. Pfeiffer told him his troubles and threatened to kill his wife. Up to this time the accused man has made no plans for defense and it is probable that he will not see an attorney before returning to Chicago.

GERMAN ADMIRALTY STATES EXCEPTION

Doesn't Agree With British Summary of Tonnage Loss by Submarines.

Amsterdam, Nov. 9.—The German admiralty has issued a lengthy statement to the speech made recently in the house of commons by Sir Eric Geddes, first lord of the admiralty. In reference to the losses of British ships, the statement asks why Sir Eric omitted sinkings in the Mediterranean and contends that allowing for this omission and for the assumption that Sir Eric gave net tonnage, while German figures gross tonnage, the British and German figures nearly correspond. In regard to the losses of submarines the statement says:

"Sir Eric Geddes attempted with inadequate means to reduce the German success by half and correspondingly increase submarine losses. With occasional fluctuations, which are inevitable in connection with this new method of warfare, the submarine war goes unswervingly forward and becomes more effective every day. Despite all British official attempts at denial, it assuredly will attain the goal aimed at."

The statement refers to length to Sir Eric's explanation of why the British fleet did not enter the Baltic. It taunts the British with remaining safely behind mine and net defenses and says it was fear of being beaten by the German high seas fleet when it emerged from the great belt that induced the British grand fleet not to go to Russia's aid.

In his address in the house on Nov. 8, Sir Eric Geddes did not give attention to the fact that the British figures on British or allied merchant losses. He said, however, that the reduction of British tonnage since the beginning of the war in ships of more than 1,000 tons was under 2,500,000 tons gross, of 14 per cent. Sir Eric declared that between 40 and 50 per cent of the German submarines operating in the North sea, the Arctic and the Atlantic since the beginning of the war had been sunk.

IS A GOOD THIEF WHEN HE IS DRUNK

James Martin Claims He Did Not Know That He Was Stealing.

The stealing while drunk plea did not work in police court Friday morning. James Martin, an employee of the Gas company, made this excuse when charged with larceny. It developed, however, that Martin planned his theft with more skill than usually accredited to a drunken man. He obtained a list of supplies from the National Mill Supply company stating that it was for the Gas company. When questioned for his order he used the telephone and then gave the clerk a requisition number. The goods amounted to almost $24. Judge Kerr assessed a fine of $10 and costs and sixty days on the county roads.

EARNED FIFTY CENTS.

Frank Knapp, a Lansing, Mich., product, stole a bicycle and tried to sell it for three dollars at a pawn shop. In court he testified that he stole because he did not have any money, earning but fifty cents per day at a local lunch room. The court decided that this was no excuse with the present number of good jobs open and gave him $10 and costs and thirty days on Allen county roads.

THREE TRAIN CLIMBERS.

John Murphy, James Hayes and Ed Jordan, three vagrants arrested for train climbing, were on the docket Friday morning. Hayes and Jordan were let go, while Murphy was put into the custody of the sheriff to be handed over to the federal authorities. He gave his age as 20 years but looks decidedly of draft age.

GET CONTINUANCE.

But two drunks appeared in court and both drew continuances. Jim Henly's case was continued to November 12 while George Weber will appear again on November 13.

MARVELOUS ADVANCE OF SURGERY IN WAR

Situation as to Tetanus is Altered Almost Beyond Recognition.

Behind British Lines in France, Oct. 18.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The American doctors who are now at work in various parts of the British front, find that army surgery has advanced just as rapidly since the beginning of the war as any other branch of war's activities. In the early days of the war, wounds were of an average gravity far beyond that expected from the experience of previous wars, while tetanus, gas-gangrene and severe suppuration, were general and hundreds died of comparatively trivial injuries for lack of early and adequate treatment.

This situation has now been altered almost beyond recognition. Serum treatment has almost done away with tetanus, while earlier and more energetic surgical treatment has largely defeated gas-gangrene. More and more of the major surgical work is being carried out in the casualty clearing stations, and some of the most famous of the American surgeons have spent most of their time since their arrival, in advanced hospitals within sound of the German guns.

The key to the whole improvement in surgical results has been the pushing of the surgeon nearer and nearer to the fighting lines. The enemy has endeavored to counter this by persistent bombing of the advanced hospitals, but the saving of life is more than worth the loss of life, and suitable defensive measures are being taken.

The doctor, as distinguished from the surgeon, has also accomplished wonders in this war. The small mortality from disease in the British and French armies is due to his constant vigilance. His two great weapons have been sanitation and prophylactic inoculation. In a scene of unparalleled confusion and in an area of quite primitive sanitation, his exertions have resulted in an astonishing degree of sanitary efficiency. Refuse is destroyed or deeply buried; battlefields in many cases are cleaned up within a few days; pure water supplies are provided. Everywhere behind the immediate front, order and cleanliness are the rule.

The rule of the army medical officer is not always welcomed by the inhabitants, but it works with magnificent success, until camps and towns, which in previous wars would have been death traps, have a mortality as low as the most approved health resort. The routine work of these medical officers has probably saved more lives than all the other medical work of the war.

Preventive inoculation has robbed typhoid and dysentery of their terrors, although in all previous wars, these two causes were responsible for far more deaths than shells and bullets.

IRISH HARVEST SAFE.

Dublin, Nov. 9.—According to the department of agriculture, the Irish harvest is now all safe and has proved very good. Potatoes have been a splendid crop, and oats, wheat and barley show good results. Nearly three-quarters of a million additional acres were brought under tillage during the year. There was no shortage of labor anywhere and Ireland will have plenty of food for herself and for export.

MUCH INTEREST IN OHIO-WISCONSIN GAME

Defeat for the Buckeyes May Mean Elimination from 1917 Race.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 9.—An important contest between Ohio State and Wisconsin, the intersectional struggle involving Michigan and Cornell top the Western Conference football schedule Saturday (Nov. 10). Neither Chicago nor Illinois, which remain undefeated in the championship race, will go into action, these eleven, as well as Minnesota, Indiana and Purdue, having an "off day."

Interest centers in the Ohio State-Wisconsin game, which is to be decided at Madison, as defeat for Ohio, the present conference champion, may mean its elimination from the 1917 race. Although the Buckeyes rule a slight favorite, critics agree that either eleven has a chance. Wisconsin displayed a reversal of form in triumphing over Minnesota 10 to 7 last Saturday and the victory has instilled in the Badgers a new fighting spirit.

The game probably will furnish an individual battle between "Chick" Harley, All-American halfback of the Buckeyes, and Eber Simpson, the spectacular quarterback of the Wisconsin eleven. Both throw forward passes and do the kicking for their teams. Simpson demonstrated his ability as a kicker when he booted a drop kick goal from the thirty-yard line that started Wisconsin's victory against Minnesota. He also accounted for touchdowns in hurling forward passes. In three periods, Simpson got away with ten out of twenty-five such attempts, for gains totaling 133 yards. Frequently shot passes for twenty to forty yards.

Preparations are being made to handle a huge crowd at the Michigan-Cornell game in Ann Arbor. It will be "home-coming" day at the Wolverine institution and thousands of alumni are planning on making the trip. A crowd of 35,000 is anticipated.

Michigan will go into the game as favorite, as Cornell is not regarded as formidable as in former years. The men of Yost have not been defeated for over a year and have shown improvement in each game. Reports from the camp of the Wolverines indicate that Coach Yost is confident of victory.

Outside the Ohio State-Wisconsin game and the clash between Michigan and Cornell, few games of importance are on Saturday's schedule. The Michigan-Aggies Northwestern contest at Evanston will be the only attraction for Chicagoans. Iowa will take on South Dakota at Iowa City and Notre Dame will face Morningside at Sioux City. Wabash and DePauw will lock horns at Indianapolis.

Coach Murphy of the Northwestern squad has little fear of the Michigan Aggies, who, in previous years, have cut considerable figure in western football. The eleven this season failed to live up to its standard. The Aggies, however, are coming to Evanston determined to make amends for early season reverses. The team will be accompanied by a cadet band and a parade will precede the game. A section of the stands has been reserved for Chicago, Milwaukee and Fort Sheridan alumni of the college.

Although Notre Dame is an overwhelming favorite over morningside, Coach Harper of the Indiana institution, is taking no chances. After returning home from his victory over the Army last Saturday, Harper gave his players one day of rest and then began to drive them through hard scrimmage and signal practice. Pearson, the halfback, who was injured in the South Dakota game three weeks ago is rounding into form and may be in the game.

Iowa, which appears to have one of the weakest teams in the conference this season, hopes to break into the winning side of the column Saturday at the expense of South Dakota. The Hawkeyes made a creditable showing against the Great Lakes Naval Training Station eleven, a team composed of former collegians, last Saturday, although defeat was chalked up against them.

For the third consecutive year Indianapolis will be the battle ground of the annual game between Wabash and DePauw, with a team which lost to Purdue by one point, and which has won three other contests without being scored on, is a slight favorite. Wabash started the season with a team largely composed of fresh material, having lost fourteen members of last year's squad to the military service.

WABASH AND DEPAUW READY FOR SATURDAY

Eleven at Greencastle University is Picked a Favorite to Win.

Indianapolis, Nov. 9.—Wabash and DePauw will meet in football at Washington park here Nov. 10 for the third consecutive year. For the first time in several seasons, the eleven of the Greencastle university is picked a favorite to win over the Little Giants from Crawfordsville. Impartial observers, however, regard the edge as small and one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a class between the two institutions is expected to be present. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

The Old Gold has one of the best teams in the state, having been scored on only once in the five games that it has played this season. This was when it was defeated by Purdue, 7 to 6, the margin of a goal from touchdown giving the Boilermakers a victory. DePauw has won the other four contests it has played.

With fourteen men of last year's squad in military service and with the declining ineligible of Pullback Bacon and Stonebraker, Coach Wabash has been compelled to build an almost entirely new eleven. The Little Giants, however, have come forward rapidly in the last three weeks and Coach Townsend and his assistants are expected to present a smoothly working machine in the annual clash with their old rivals.

How equally the two institutions have been matched in the gridiron sport since they began meeting more than a quarter of a century ago may be judged from the fact that Wabash has won only two more victories than DePauw. Wabash has won both the contests played in Indianapolis, the score last year being 26 to 13 and in 1915, 34 to 0.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT EXTENDS PRIVILEGES

Indianapolis, Nov. 8.—For the first time in ten years the three local high schools will be permitted to engage in intercollegiate athletic contests, other than in a state-wide tournament. The right to play among themselves, however, is withheld as is also the right to engage in intercollegiate football contests. The decision was reached by the school board on recommendations made by E. U. Grant, the new superintendent of schools. It is believed the privileges will be extended before long to permit the three local high schools to schedule basketball and base ball games among themselves and will lead later to permission to play football.

Football has been eliminated from many high schools of the state and according to alumni of the various colleges and universities in the state has made it harder for the colleges to obtain proper material for winning athletic teams.

Basketball at present holds the center of the stage and efforts are being made to book full schedules by the three schools.

SEMINOLES VS. BOY SCOUTS.

The Seminole Basketball team will oppose the Boy Scouts at the scout's gym tonight. Both are putting up an excellent game and a good game is looked for. The Seminoles will line up as follows: Ankenbruck and Kohlbacher, forwards; Haffner, center; Weber, Johann and Kahler, guards.

NO DUCKS? THEN TRY MUDHENS—NOT HARD TO SHOOT AND THEY MAKE MIGHTY GOOD MEAL

BY MORRIS ACKERMAN.
Fish and Game Expert.

Mudhens are good to eat! Consequently they are worth getting though they don't offer the sport that is provided in duck hunting.

Like any other line of hunting, either for game animals or game birds, there is always the "poorest sport" of the bunch—in the case of mudhens we have agreed in our own mind that for real "bird shooting" the little slate-colored mudhens ain't much to brag about.

But they are not half bad as food and always offer "something" to the duck hunter who finds conditions of weather so nice that the ducks are conspicuous by being somewhere else.

The mudhen is in reality nothing more than a water chicken, a vegetable feeder, that sticks around on the lakes and ponds until either he becomes a fit subject for the hunter's table, or the water freezes up and he wings slowly southward to open water.

Mudhens should be hunted in lakes and ponds from a boat with the stern of the boat going forward and an oarsman (punter) quietly "pushing" you ahead that you may get your shooting as the birds fly out from the little coves and bays along the line of the shore.

They are slow of wing and for that reason you want to aim at them rather than to lead them, as is the case with ducks. Use a light load and a gun that scatters pretty well for best results.

After you get ready to prepare them for the fable skin them out, cut off the heads and legs (at first joint), parboil, adding a little vinegar, then fry in butter or bacon grease. Or you can stew them the same as with domestic chickens.

A hunter, who by the way is usually hungry, can devour from three to five mudhens at a crack and from a standpoint of "eats" the muddy makes a pretty fair substitute for a real wild duck.

Fans, take council and attend Sunday's battle with Racine. Every indication points to the best game of the season.

With Helvie, Bauman, Berghoff and Huntington on the ends; Jones, Robbins, Bashaw, Dennison, Feeney and Lockwood on the line; with Dorals and Ambrose at quarter; and Speck, Pliska, Smith, Chambers and Young in the backfield things look mighty good to the Friar fans.

The big intersectional battle between Michigan and Cornell will be watched with interest by pigskin fol-

SPORT CRITICS PICK NEBRASKA TO WIN

Missour Valley Conference Championship is Still in Great Doubt.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 9.—Entering upon the last lap of the Missouri Valley conference championship contest with the wire at Thanksgiving in sight, the representatives of the Valley schools have changed places in the averages. Ames after a flash of what seemed to be possible championship form in their first conference game against Missouri, lost their chance in the race and gave their place to the Kansas Jayhawkers, when the latter team defeated them by a 7 to 0 count at Lawrynce.

The defeat, however, was largely a turn of luck for the Kansas score came in the fourth quarter after the two elevens had battled consistently at a 0 to 0 tie with the ball in the Kansas territory during the greater part of the first three periods. A second game might possibly bring a different score, but regardless of predictions and post-mortems upon the part of the Valley followers, the Jayhawkers jumped into a place of prominence next to their fellow citizens, the Kansas Aggies, at the top of the conference averages.

The Kansas team was able to score by means of a long forward pass, Nielsen to Lindsborg, thus breaking up the Valley hopes of the Iowa aggregation, unless there should be a further upset in the Valley averages by the games in November.

Despite the 20 to 0 defeat by Michigan, the Nebraska eleven stands the choice of the sport critics of the conference for the Valley title. The better Michigan team gave the Cornhuskers stage fright by scoring in the first period. However, unless the Cornhuskers are badly battered they will be in fighting trim for Missouri at their Lincoln meeting next Saturday and the possibilities are, according to the followers of the gridiron sport in the conference, that the Missourians will find difficulty in keeping the representatives of Nebraska.

The Kansas Aggies are picked for one of the three high places at the top of the conference final averages with Ames, Missouri, Washington and Drake permanently eliminated as far as a clean slate for the season is concerned. The Kansas farmers are biding their time and undoubtedly have the fastest aggregation they have been able to place on the gridiron in many years despite the general interference of the war with the sport in general.

Drake is fighting a hopeless battle and the victory of the Missourians over them by a 48 to 0 tally only served to enhance that weakness. The school has been making an uphill fight all season with the majority of its veterans in the army and the sickness of its coach also slackening its pace. Equally hopeless as the prospect of the Washington eleven, though apparently it is no fault of Coach Rutherford, but one rather to a dearth of material. The eleven last year under Coach Edmunds played a half hearted game and experienced many shakoups during the season, an experiment Rutherford is again attempting this year without any apparent results.

Wisconsin will keep Ohio busy watching Simpson, the Badger star.

A local sport writer serves notice that there will be no stopping of the Friars in the future. We give him credit for good judgment and sincere hope he is right.

ADVANCE SALE SHOWS RECORD ATTENDANCE

Friar-Racine Clash Promises to Be Hard Fought Battle All the Way.

The advance sale for the Friar-Racine battle opened Friday morning at the Meyer Bros. Co. drug store, Wayne and Calhoun streets, and as the number of reservations have already surpassed all previous records the largest crowd of the year is expected.

The Friars are expecting the hardest game of the year from all advance "dope," but are still just as confident of victory as ever. A win in this game will give the Friars an undisputed claim to the state championship as Hammond has already fallen before Racine's furious charges. The Racine team cancelled last Sunday's game with the Friars because several of their best men were injured in a previous game and their lineup was weakened. The Racine manager would not meet the local team unless he had his best lineup, which shows the rating the Badger team gives the Friars.

The Wisconsin team is composed of a number of army officers from neighboring training camps and the players are always in the best of condition. The Friars, the giant right fielder of the Fort Wayne Central legions last season, is playing on the Racine eleven and from his showing is playing a whole of a game. Glockson weighs 205 and is very proficient as a kicker.

The Friars will go in Sunday's game with about the same team that piled up a big score on the Toledo Maroons last Sunday. Helvie, the little end who made such a good showing in his first game, will be back again and Bauman, his teammate, will come along and may get into the fray before the final whistle. It is expected that Speck and Pliska will start at halves with Chambers at full. This is the Friars' most powerful offensive machine, generated by Dorals, one of the best thinkers in the game. Huntington, Ambrose, Smith and Young will be held ready to start at any time and can certainly give a good account of themselves all the way.

First Woman Architect to
Has New Ideas.

Special Dispatch From Frederick M.
Korby, of Our New York Bureau.

New York, Nov. 9.—For the first time in history woman, whose place is said to be in the home, is to have a full and free opportunity to say how the home shall be built.

A woman architect, Miss Marcia Mead, first woman architect to graduate from Columbia university, and whose firm has already achieved fame

MARCIA MEAD

In designing model homes, is in consultation with government committees studying the big problems of how to house the workers crowding the industrial centers where Uncle Sam's munitions and supplies must be made.

Miss Mead believes women will have to take hold of the housing question if houses are ever to be made into "homes."

"If woman's place is in the home, then a house has to be made a home and not a place," she told me.

Miss Mead has already proved she can design houses housewives will bless. She designed the model homes the Bridgeport Housing company is erecting now.

"I went into architecture, because I was interested in city planning and community housing. I believe it is the principal business of the world's governments to see that people have comfortable and beautiful places to live—even if they are cheap. I have never found a house without something the matter with it from the woman's point of view. So I decided women ought to take a hand in house planning."

Miss Mead has uprooted the most sacred ideas of men architects and builders in her plans for Bridgeport's

Bevo is a great favorite in the Army Canteens, where none but pure, soft drinks may be sold. After drill or march, you are sure to see a long line of hot and dusty-throated soldier boys making a bee-line for Bevo. They know that there lies complete satisfaction, full refreshment and pure wholesomeness.

At home or abroad—at work or play—between meals or with meals, you will appreciate what we have done for you in making this triumph in soft drinks.

You will find Bevo at inns, restaurants, groceries, department and drug stores, picnic grounds, baseball parks, soda fountains, dining cars, in the navy, at canteens, at mobilization camps and other places where refreshing beverages are sold.

new houses. The sinks in the kitchens are actually 38 inches from the floor, instead of the usual back-breaking 34 inches. There are two washtubs in all these houses, instead of one that the mere man builders insisted was enough.

"From time immemorial men have built kitchen sinks and wash trays too low. In consequence hundreds of thousands of women have bent their backs and shortened their lives needlessly," declared Miss Mead. "I had a terrible time inducing the Bridgeport Housing company to put in high sinks. And imagine a woman trying to do the washing in one tub!"

"The men working with me would not hear of raising the washtubs to the proper height," she said. "I had to take a piece of board to represent a washboard and show how I would have to bend over to do the washing to make my point."

Miss Mead shattered other time-worn man-made institutions. The houses she designed have no inner courts. Every room—even the bathroom, must have an outside window.

Window sills of the second-story windows are much higher than ordinary.

So many children fall out of second-story windows," said Miss Mead. "Women too, fall out and are accused of suicide when the builder really ought to be indicted for manslaughter. All our apartment house sills are too low. A child will climb a low window sill."

"There is another thing every house, even the smallest, should have—a backyard marked off from all the other backyards. Every family should have a piece of ground that is its own. Low fences or hedge will do. I never have known a family which did not want its own front door and its own backyard."

"The federal government will undoubtedly have to go into the business of housing the hundreds of thousands of workers and their families crowding our industrial cities to produce the things the government must have in winning the war. But this housing effort—a billion dollars is little enough to start it—shall be carefully carried out. The house that will do for New England is not the kind for the middle west. People, city climate, everything must be studied.

"And women, who have to live in houses more than men—ought to be consulted."

SUFFRAGISTS HISS PRESIDENT'S NAME

New York, Nov. 9.—President Wilson was hissed at a meeting held here under the auspices of the National Woman's party in celebration of the suffrage victory Tuesday in New York state. Several of the women who had served as pickets at the white house and who were arrested because of their activities, appeared in workhouse garb. It was when Dudley Field Malone was speaking that the president was hissed and Mr. Malone rebuked the outburst.

"Don't, don't, do that," he said; "you must not blame the president. He is isolated, away from the stream of things, surrounded by groups of advisers, and he hasn't got the truth about suffrage. He will get it."

Miss Mary Garrett-Hay, New York city, chairman of the woman suffrage party, which has attributed its success at the polls to President Wilson's endorsement, announced last night that the party organization would be continued to arouse women to their political responsibilities. One of the tasks to be undertaken will be to induce women whose husbands are not citizens, to become naturalized.

An Old Man's Stomach.

As we grow older and less active, less and less food is required to meet the demands of our bodies. If too much is habitually taken, the stomach will rebel. When a man reaches the advanced age of 55 or 60, you will find that he is a light eater. Be as careful as you will, however, you will occasionally eat more than you should and will feel the need of Chamberlain's Tablets to correct the disorder. These tablets do not contain poison, but strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. They also cause a gentle movement of the bowels.—Advertisement.

AMERICAN HELLFIRE TO OUTBATTLE GAS

(Special Dispatch from Our Washington Bureau.)

Washington, Nov. 9.—Although approximately 20,000 German patents are now open for exploitation by American business men, no great industrial changes may be looked for. The German patents cover nothing fundamental. Most of them protect minor industries, or details of larger ones.

The most valuable relate to chemical formulas for drugs and dyes; next in order are the patents for oil engines and electrical devices.

While German patents have been taken out right along during the war, no patents for military inventions have been applied for.

None of the much-heralded processes for manufacturing substitute cloth out of wood pulp, synthetic rubber, or the other "war inventions" have been protected by patent applications in the United States.

While the patent office records disclose that the Germans were inventing all sorts of war devices before the war, including liquid flame projectors and other devices barred by the Geneva and Hague treaties, none of the patents on record here are of any value now.

As to the gas and flame devices, it is well known that the American army is not copying the German devices, but has perfected a number of secret "hell fire" devices of its own, which will probably make the Germans regret they ever resorted to such things.

The Bureau of Mines for many months has been working on the production of new poison gases, gas projectors, and new kinds of flame and inflammable shells.

Washington's stray dog and cat population has suffered much from the experiments of the bureau's inventors. These things are guarded and not patented.

The bulk of the German patented chemical processes are "jokers" in that they do not reveal, as required by law, enough to enable anyone to copy the processes by reading the patent specifications.

Usually the conditions of temperature and pressure under which certain combinations take place are concealed. It requires long experiments in laboratories to find out how to make a German patented dye or drug, but for two years American chemists have been at work and have unraveled nearly all of them.

Issuing of licenses to manufacture German patented articles by the Trade Commission will be on the basis of public interest. The commission may fix whatever terms it pleases, and may even regulate prices. This will be done in the case of certain medicines.

All American manufacturers who wish to make German patented articles have available to them the records at the patent office, and most of them know already exactly what the Germans have in their line and what they want.

The number of items to be licensed and all such matters are at the discretion of the Trade Commission, and one of the first requirements of a licensee is that he must be able to manufacture the article in question and have financial and material equipment.

As the licenses are to be issued in the public interest, few exclusive licenses will be granted; but the number will be limited, to prevent wasteful competition and duplication of effort in wartime.

The licenses are issued for the life of the patent, and if peace came tomorrow the licensees would lose nothing.

Each licensee must pay to the Trade Commission a royalty, which will be adjusted to each case, but which will amount roughly to 5 per cent. of the value of the use of the patent. These funds will be kept by the commission to reimburse the German patentees after the war.

If the Germans are dissatisfied, they have a right, after the war, to bring suit in the federal courts for more money, and if they can prove higher values for the use of their patents, the licensees will have to reimburse them.

One of the most important German patented drugs, salvarsan, used for the cure of syphilis, will be made under licenses issued by the Trade Commission.

The patent on aspirin has expired, and is now free to any manufacturer.

Boulevards extend to the entrance. See Saturday's Sentinel.

THE FINNISH ELECTIONS.

To Get Rid of Wrinkles and Bad Complexions

It is more important now than during the period of profuse perspiration, to keep the pores clean. All cosmetics clog the pores. In cool weather this interferes greatly with elimination of waste material, causing not only a bad complexion, but an offensive odor. Minute particles of acid skin come off day by day, causing not the least discomfort. Gradually the healthy, younger skin beneath peels out, and in less than a fortnight you have a lovelier complexion than you ever dreamed of acquiring. Mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is spread on a nightly like cold cream and washed off mornings. (One ounce usually suffices.)

For removing wrinkles, without stopping the pores with fatty stuff, here's a never-fading formula: One ounce of powdered exfolite, dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Rub the face in this daily for awhile, every evening. It vanishes completely. Even the first application gives surprising results.—Advertisement.

AMERICA TO FEED WORLD.

Among the obligations now laid on farmers none is more inexorable than that to increase the supply of fats and meats. Grain supply abroad is merely a matter of shipping. If the ocean were freed of menace we could not supply the required quantity of fats and meats. It means breeding and feeding. The opening of the seas would flood markets with grain. Only the persistence and skill of farm breeders of world stocks will feed the starving world with the essentials of subsistence. It can not come in a day, in a year, but wide-spread, determined, united effort must be immediately set in motion. The food administration has designated the international live Stock exposition a "food training camp." It is well named. The farmer can there study breeding and feeding. Never was it so wasteful to feed high-priced grain to ill-bred stock. Lessons of breed improvement, of grading up common stock, and of economical feeding can be learned at the "international" as in no other place. The American farmer has heard the call of the nation, of the world. He will heed. The instinct for live stock embraces sympathy for humanity. The significance of the food administration's recognition of the international as an educational agency should sink deep into the mind of the farmer. It should bring him to Chicago the first week in December to study meat production.

AN ENGLISH SOLDIER SHEDS BIT OF LIGHT

Tommy's Inside View of War, Right from the Ranks, Uncensored.

Special Dispatch from L. Harper Leech, of Our Washington Bureau. Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—We have all heard a good deal about what visiting French and British experts and officers think of the war. However, what the British or French enlisted man—the private or non-com—has to say about it is another matter. As a rule they are not interviewed in this country, and when they are interviewed in France little of woolen khaki colored uniform was seen.

Here, however, is an uncensored and informal bit of war gossip from a British corporal now in this country as an instructor at an American camp. I met Corporal Smith—which isn't his name—on a Georgetown car in Washington five days after he had landed here. He was already at work with 200 of his fellow English non-coms instructing American sergeants and corporals of future liquid flame companies at Ft. Meyer.

Smith was a new type. His woolen khaki colored uniform was nothing unusual, but the British army shoe—a replica of the old-time "brogan" of the American farmer boy of a generation back—was distinctive, and led to the opening of a street car conversation entirely uncensored.

There was nothing of the "Tommy" in the corporal, and as for accent or dialect less difference between us than between a Texan and a down Easter. If he had stepped out of a mid-western high school a few years back, and then worked as a bank clerk for a few years, the result would have been about the same sort of young fellow.

"Of course you hear more about the 'Colonials' in the dispatches," he said, "because the conscription forbids mentioning the English county regiments. This may have started in sheer stupidity, but has probably been kept up because of a foolish fear of taking the people into confidence. Many of these regiments got cut up so badly and so often, they don't feel like mentioning them."

"Anyhow, the casualty lists show that whether the English do anything else or not they manage to die at the rate of 77 per cent. of the total killed. 'We are over here for instruction purposes. We are still under British orders and can be recalled at any time and are still drawing British pay—35 cents a day'—a grin. 'The French officers and men sent over here are entirely at the disposal of your government and draw your pay.'"

"The American army? Well I would like to break a way into it, or buy a way into it if I had the tin. You say some of the men kick at the feed. They ought to be put to extra fatigue duty until they learn some sense. You would have a hard time buying as good meals as we get at Ft. Meyer at the swiftest hotels in London. Nothing like it in the British army. Plenty of everything, where we are skimped. Coal, all you want. Over there, a bucket now and then and you've got to make it last."

"Finest material for an army I ever saw in that camp. Yes, the show will last plenty long for them to get into it, and when they do they'll have no superiors. We are about all in for now; couldn't raise another 100,000 without stretching the age limit to 45. The French, of course, are worse off, but are in to the hilt."

"The main thing that strikes a man over here is the men he sees everywhere. In England you simply don't see them except in uniform; the women are doing the work."

"We are taking men for service now of the Class C-3, which practically means any fellow who can stand on two legs and could have held an office job in these times."

"Of course there go for back of the lines work. Our total in France? Well, the Germans know it's over 3,000,000."

"The last German prisoners I saw were a mixed lot. Some divisions still yield fine men, well kept; others gave up nothing but boys, mostly runts. Certainly they have lost millions, but they were good breeders in peace times, and in the first part of the war we lost more men and horses than we had to make good with rifles."

"Now it's the other way and we send over fourteen shells to their one, but they are still desperate and still clever; they make 'em no cleverer."

"They had the start, but we and the French have used all our brains and have put some good tricks over on them, too. But they are not out yet. If Russia had stayed, it would be winding up now, but nobody can call the end at this time."

"General Haig is the best general that ever led an army, and all the men think so."

All of which we have heard more or less from the scribbles and the experts, but I know that Corporal Smith means what he says.
